FLOOD ENGULFS JOHNSTOWN

OZARKS' SPRING MAGIC BEGUILES BUS TRAVELER

Farm Villages Wake to Mellow Call.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fayetteville, Ark., March 17.—[Special.]—The lady from Boston was swallowing quantities of Arkansas red dust and talking about how her feet were swelling with the heat and how she would like to get into a bathtub for a week. She didn't know whether she would last through to the coast. The ragged pine tree landscape flitted by with hardly a glance from her.

"And where are you from?" she asked a mouselike girl in the adjacent bus seat.

"I'm from Arkansas," said the girl, laughing. "I've learned to laugh first," she added, with a touch of bitterness.

They Look "Comical," She Says.

There is an early morning cheerfulness in bus life, after the breakfast hour, which lapses later into a bored endurance. Toward the middle of the day all towns look alike and all the people "comical," as the lady from Boston remarks.

The time has now come to follow Al Smith's advice and "take a walk." Here the peculiar advantage of modern bus travel appears. One simply gets off and walks until the next bus comes along, a matter of three or four hours. By that time the bus looks like a haven of rest and comfort. And what is more important, you have seen many things that the lady from Boston has missed.

There are 96 bus companies operating in the southwest. One may take a choice of the big double-decked sleeper that speeds through the painted desert to Los Angeles in a couple of days, or one of the smaller buses that have become an institution on every country road, and arrive late after wayside adventures.

Villages Awaken to Spring.

South of Kansas City the bus turns aside from the highway to visit all the farming villages, now awakening to the call of another spring.

At Harrisonville it is discovered that the horse and buggy age is still with us. A team driven by a whiskered farmer wielding a willow switch comes into view. The first sound of larks is heard from the roadside. Roosters are vociferous. Farmers are looking at fences and women are raking leaves, sun and wind bringing roses into winter paled cheeks.

A farmer reports that things are booming. The storekeeper in one town sold 12 tractors in a week, taking in hay, grain, or horses for payment. The scars of the drouth years are visible only to expert eyes. Nature is a great healer. Chinch bugs and drouth are forgotten as spring smiles again. Sheep with their nuzzling lambs in the meadows, which show a hint of green. A covered wagon has camped in a creek bottom, horses tethered, camp fire going.

Knows Every One on Route.

Out of Joplin in a small, rattling bus, with a driver who says he is "always late." He skips over the hills like a jackrabbit and knows all the folks on his route. A bus doesn't get "oiled up," he says, until it has gone 100,000 miles.

More names ahead. Ginger Blue, Blue Eye, Elk River, Noel. This is the beginning of the hill country. Antiques, caves, flashes of blue water, melody from woods. It is time to go afoot. The oaks still are whispering the secrets of last summer, but there is an authentic touch of new life everywhere.

Up the hillside scrubby pines cling to rocky bluffs. A workman is asleep by the roadside. On the shoulder of the road green grass appears through the brown. The turf is soft under foot and the road winds along a stream of clear water.

And a Bible College.

At Sulphur Springs, five miles farther, daffodils are blooming, lilacs coming out. There is a big stone house with turrets on a hill. This proves to be the John E. Brown college. Children come here from as far away as California and China to

RISING WATERS MAROON 70,000, FOIL RESCUERS

Floods Sweep East

JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—Flood waters which had marooned 70,000 citizens in upper floors ceased to rise, but the fierce current of the Conemaugh river still balked rescue efforts. One known dead.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Sections of business area under water. Entire city threatened by highest flood stage in thirty years. All steel plants closed. Rain causes landslides. Seven are reported dead in western Pennsylvania.

CUMBERLAND, Md.—Potomac flows through streets in worst flood in town's history. Fear many deaths in nearby settlements.

RICHMOND, Va.—Rain, snow, flood, landslides and tornado rake whole state of Virginia. Scores injured.

RAILROADS — Pennsylvania's main line out near Johnstown. Plan to reroute part of trains over New York Central via Buffalo, if trafic stays open in snow, and part over Lehigh tracks. Broadway Limited was rerouted at Harrisburg over the Lehigh Valley and Erie roads to Mansfield, O., thence by Pennsylvania to Chicago.

BULLETIN.

Station WLTA of the 124th field artillery of the Illinois National Guard—official army radio relay station—received a report at 12:15 a. m. from Johnstown that the known flood dead were 10, with the "eventual toll probably much higher." Water in the main street was 20 feet deep and rising steadily.

Johnstown, Pa., March 18 [Wednesday.]—[Special.]—A lull in the steady rain that caused an inrushing flood to leave about 70,000 persons stranded on the upper floors of their homes and in public buildings brought hope of relief early today to this inundated city.

Before the rain ceased muddy waters had risen to a height of fourteen feet in Johnstown and some of its suburbs. Damage to property, impossible to estimate accurately because of conditions, was believed to be in excess of $1,000,000. Because nearly all communication had failed it was not possible to estimate the casualties, but a survey early today indicated only one man was drowned.

Flood Foils Rescue Boats.

At 1:30 a. m. the waters apparently had ceased rising, but swirling brown currents raced through the streets with such swiftness that rescue work, even by the few persons equipped with boats, was a virtual impossibility. The rain ceased shortly after midnight and was followed immediately by a drop in temperature which brought the thermometer down to freezing.

Virtually the entire city was without lights, electric current having failed completely yesterday afternoon. Most of the stranded persons were unable to procure kerosene or candles.

In the hills surrounding the city thousands of householders who had had warning in time to flee from their homes passed the night in anxious vigil, some of them finding refuge in the homes of residents of areas on high ground.

Phones Drowned Out.

Many of these tried to communicate by telephone with relatives, but were unable to do so because most of the telephone instruments on the ground floor had been rendered useless by water. Eleven girl operators and four men, marooned on the second floor of the telephone exchange, served what lines were still undamaged.

Calls from the downtown business area brought a report that 5,000 persons had been trapped in the upper floors of the Penn Traffic department store on Washington street. Efforts to verify this proved futile, however, since there was no communication with the store.

The telephone operators reported they were working by candlelight, a supply of candles having been sal-

BY PARKE BROWN.

Nearly half a million Chicagoans registered yesterday, raising the number of names on the poll books above the 2 million mark for the first time in the history of the city.

Police returns placed the day's additions at 489,166. This jumped the book total to 2,002,757. The previous high was 1,800,658, recorded on March 13, 1934. The subsequent revision—the erasure of duplicate names resulting from removals, the names of voters who had died, etc.—struck off 404,507 names. But even if a similar slash is made by revision this week the final total will still be a record for figures of that kind.

Suburb Figures Incomplete.

The unofficial returns from the nine suburbs in which the poll books also were opened for the day were incomplete, but they apparently raised the registration in the suburban area to approximately 270,000. In those suburbs outside the jurisdiction of the Chicago election board there was no registration this spring, but in those areas qualified but unregistered voters will be permitted to vote by affidavit on April 14.

Glass Rolls Up Like Rag Rug, Testers Claim

New York, March 17.—(AP)—A new safety glass which stretched like a rubber band and rolled up like a rug was demonstrated here today.

A mule kicked a panel of it out of its frame, all in one piece.

Jim Mandry, Fordham university football player, bucked a sheet of it, 40 by 60 inches, to show how it would bulge six inches and then spring back into place.

A Fordham pitcher threw baseballs against it to show that when it cracks no dangerous chips are knocked off.

A strong woman from the show Jumbo hung to a shattered piece so that it stretched like elastic, and then slowly regained its shape when she let go.

Violent Contact, but No Cuts.

The "man with the iron head" from Jumbo butted it to prove there is not serious danger of cuts for a person thrown against the glass.

The material is a sandwich—two sheets of real glass, with a plastic between them. It is a refinement of present familiar shatterproof glass. The rosin which binds the glass almost like iron, even after it is broken to bits, and which stretches several times its own length, is vinyl, a product of the Mellon institute.

The glass used today was composed of two sheets, each just under an eighth of an inch thick, with a five-hundredths of an inch thickness of plastic between. For commercial use it is planned to use half this thickness of plastic.

Two Firms to Manufacture.

This glass was developed in the laboratories of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company and the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals corporation. It was announced that it will be manufactured both by Pittsburgh Plate and the Libby-Owens-Ford company.

After the glass surfaces have been thoroughly smashed the material will roll up like a carpet.

The introductory announcement states that at 10 below zero the material "is approximately 10 times as resistant to breaks as other types of safety glass." Brittleness at low temperature has been one of the problems in making safety glass.

The glass can be cut without heating. The ordinary cutting method is used on the glass, which then is stretched so a razor blade can be inserted to cut the plastic.

Venizelos, of Greece, Dead in Paris at 72

PARIS, March 18 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Eleutherios Venizelos, 72 year old former premier of Greece and veteran Greek statesman, died today in self-imposed exile. Venizelos suffered what was first believed to be a minor attack of grippe recently, but his condition became worse four days ago and was aggravated, a physicians' bulletin said, by a "weakening heart."

His sons, Kiriados and Sophocles, were at his side and many Greek republican emigres called at the Paris home of the former premier, seat of his exile.

ACTIVE FOR FOUR DECADES.

Eleutherios Venizelos, champion of democracy and foe of kings, was closely tied for four decades with the history of Greece.

He saw his country go from monarchy to republic and back again. The late King Constantine from his exile in Switzerland decried Venizelos as a "dictator worse than Lenin."

Venizelos many times was the object of murder plots. In 1920 would-be assassins seriously wounded him in Paris and gunmen wounded his wife in an attempt on his life in June, 1933.

He was said to be the only statesman at the Paris peace conference after the world war who got everything he wanted. [The war gave Greece eight islands of the Aegean sea, all of Thrace and sovereignty over Smyrna.]

Powerful in Exile.

Venizelos spent years in enforced or self-imposed exile and died in self-exile, though King George II. had granted him amnesty. His influence during those periods of exile was not removed from Greek politics.

The man who became premier of Greece seven times was born Aug. 23, 1864, at Murniaes, Crete, when the island was under Turkish rule. He was educated at Canea, Crete, and Athens. He was admitted to the bar in 1887 and entered practice of law and politics in Canea.

Ten years later he came into prominence as a leader of the Cretan revolt against Turkish rule and was commander of a camp at Akrotiri. As a result of the uprising Russia, Great Britain, Italy, and France made Prince George, brother of King Constantine, governor general of the island, though it was still under Turkish sovereignty.

George appointed Venizelos head of the island's department of justice, but two years later they quarreled and it led to Venizelos' lasting feud with Greek kings. Venizelos accused George of trying to set up an island kingdom of his own. Venizelos was dismissed.

Called to Athens.

Venizelos became head of the Cretan council, but was defeated in the election of 1904. Prince George left the island in 1905, then Venizelos was alternately head of the executive and head of the opposition.

He entered Greek national politics in 1909, when the Military League of Athens called him to the capital as an adviser. His popularity grew rapidly. In 1910 he was high man in the elections, and became premier.

Before the outbreak of the world war Venizelos succeeded in revising the Greek constitution, reorganizing the public services and initiating a defensive Balkan alliance against Turkey. In 1913 the Balkan wars began, resulting in Greece's gaining considerable territory.

Venizelos opposed King Constantine, who wanted to aid Germany in the world war. Venizelos while out of office in 1915 raised an army of 60,000 on his own and set out to battle the Turks and Bulgars. Meanwhile he set up a provisional government in Saloniki.

King Forced Out.

King Constantine's opposition to the allies resulted in June, 1917, in their forcing him to abdicate in favor of his second son, Alexander. Venizelos immediately returned to his third premiership and soon after Greece declared war on Germany.

King Constantine was restored to the throne upon Alexander's death Oct. 25, 1920, and Venizelos went into exile until Constantine abdicated Sept. 27, 1922. He sat for Greece in the Lausanne conference in 1923 when peace was formally made between Turkey and Greece.

There was growing sentiment for a republic and on Dec. 18, 1923, King George II., who had succeeded Alexander, was forced from the country. Responding to a plea from all parties, Venizelos returned to the premiership. A plebiscite on April 13, 1924, established the Greek republic. Venizelos resigned the premiership in June due to ill health. For four years he recuperated in various countries of Europe.

LITVINOV FLAYS HITLER; CHARGES NAZIS PLAN WAR

Sees German Plot to Split Europe.

New Deadlock Looms

The "big four" Locarno powers, meeting in London, reached new obstacles last night when France and Great Britain clashed on what action against Germany to recommend to the league of nations council. France demanded that the league formally declare Germany had committed a treaty infringement and that Germany withdraw some troops from the Rhineland before negotiations begin on Hitler's seven point peace program. Britain urged immediate negotiations, with new league guarantees of French and Belgian security. Hitler, meanwhile, accepted the league's invitation to send a delegation to the London conferences.

LONDON, March 17.—(AP)—A bristling attack by Maxim Litvinov, foreign minister of soviet Russia, in which he charged that Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany is preparing for aggression on the continent, fell today in the midst of Great Britain's efforts to develop an atmosphere of greater friendliness toward Germany.

Condemning Germany for other major instances of treaty scrapping within the past 18 months, Litvinov told the council of the league of nations:

"We consider that one cannot struggle for peace without, at the same time, defending the integrity of international obligations, particularly such as have a direct bearing on the maintenance of existing frontiers, armaments, and political or military aggression.

Quotes from Hitler's Book.

"One cannot struggle for collective security without adopting collective measures against the breaches of international obligations. Such a league will never be taken seriously by any one. Resolutions of such a league will only become a laughing stock."

Litvinov quoted from Hitler's autobiography, "My Struggle," in which he said the Fuehrer declared:

"A political testament to the German nation for its external activity will and must always proclaim: Never permit two continental powers to arise in Europe. In every attempt to organize a second military power on the German frontier you must see an attack on Germany and you must consider it not only your right but your duty to prevent such a state from coming into existence by all possible means, including the use of force of arms."

Denies Aggressive Aims.

This passage, Litvinov said, explains "the purposes for which Germany required remilitarization of the Rhineland zone bordering France. It is a question of setting up a hegemony of Germany over the whole European continent and I ask you, shall the league condone promotion of this objective?"

Swinging his arms and shouting, Litvinov said:

"The whole world knows that neither the soviet union nor France has any claims to German territory, and are not striving to change the frontiers of Germany."

"Hitler's peace proposals," he continued, "give me the impression we are faced with a new attempt to divide Europe into two or more parts with the object of guaranteeing non-aggression for one part of Europe in order to acquire a free hand for dealing in other parts.

Sees League in Peril.

"We cannot preserve the league of nations, founded on the sanctity of international treaties, if we turn a blind eye to those treaties or confine ourselves to verbal protests and take no more effective measures for the defense of international undertakings.

"We cannot preserve the league if it does not carry out its own decisions, but to the contrary accustoms the aggressor to ignore its recommendations, its admonitions, and its warnings.

"I know there are people who really see a particular expression of Germany's love for peace in the offer to France and Belgium of a pact of non-aggression for 25 years, guaranteed by Britain and Italy.

"These people forget that the Locarno treaty, which Germany has just torn up, represented just such a pact of nonaggression with the same guarantees and its validity was not for 25 years, but for an indefinite period."

Recalls Past Pact Scrapping.

Litvinov described Hitler's offer to sign bilateral pacts of nonaggression with Germany's eastern neighbors as a system aimed at strengthening "the principle of localization of war which is preached by Mr. Hitler. Every state which has signed such a pact with Germany is immediately mobilized by her in the event of Germany attacking a third state."

The diplomat declared "we shall welcome a return to the league of Germany if and when we are convinced she has recognized those fundamental principles on which the league rests. Unfortunately, we have still too fresh in our memory cases of unilateral infringement by Germany of her international obligations, her refusal to submit to methods for settling disputes provided by international treaties.

"We have not forgotten that until quite lately Hitler combatted most categorically the idea of collective security. He still preaches the principle of inequality, not only of races but of nations. He points without ambiguity to those lands which must be taken by violence from other people to be colonized by Germans.

Sees Offers Blow to Peace.

"Analyzing the sum total of Mr. Hitler's proposals, I come to the conclusion that they not only would represent no compensation for the harm done to the organization of peace by a condonation of his breach of international treaties, but would themselves strike a blow at the organization of peace and in the first instance of the league of nations.

"I have permitted myself to express my views, gentlemen, with complete frankness. It was easier for me to do so than for my colleagues, because the manner in which Mr. Hitler allows himself to speak in public of the state I represent liberates me from resorting to circumlocution and diplomatic niceties."

Litvinov warned against hasty decisions dictated by fear or other emotions.

"We object," he said, "to the idea that withdrawal from the league, brutal infringement of international treaties, and saber rattling should confer upon a state the privilege of dictating to the whole of Europe its conditions for negotiations, imposing its own scheme for agreement.

Cites Rights of Others.

"We are against negotiations proceeding on a basis which disorganizes the ranks of sincere partisans of peace, which must inevitably lead to destruction of the only interstate political organization—the league of nations.

"We are of the opinion that sincere partisans of peace are no less entitled than breakers of treaties to propose their scheme for organization of European peace.

"We are for the creation of security for all nations of Europe and against half peace, which is not peace at all but war. The council must declare its attitude toward unilateral infringements of such agreements.

"I declare in the name of my government its readiness to take part in all measures which may be proposed to the council by the Locarno powers acceptable to other members of the council."

FRENCH, BRITISH CLASH AS HITLER ENTERS PARLEY

Locarno Powers Split on Action Against Nazis.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 17.—A German delegation, thirty strong, and headed by Joachim von Ribbentrop, Reichsfuehrer Hitler's ambassador at large and adviser on foreign affairs, will reach London tomorrow to participate in the league of nations council's deliberations over Germany's violation of the Locarno treaty by remilitarizing the Rhineland.

The decision of Hitler to send delegates to the council was unconditional, it was believed in council circles, and for a few minutes it looked as if the Rhineland dispute had reached the stage of peaceful negotiations, with the risk of any conflict farther receded into the dim regions of diplomacy.

New Storms Broke.

Then a new series of storms broke: Great Britain and France, at a meeting of the "big four" Locarno powers tonight, clashed on the procedure to be followed by the council in handling Germany. The former is fighting to prevent a vote of condemnation against the Hitler government, while the latter, even threatening to quit the conference, insists upon adopting a strong program.

The French asserted they insist, first, that the council must formally declare Germany has committed a treaty infringement and, second, that "the rule of international law" must be restored before any negotiations with Germany on Hitler's seven point peace program become possible.

By restoration of international law the French mean that Germany should appeal to the world court at The Hague for a ruling on whether the Franco-Russian mutual assistance pact was a violation of the Locarno treaty, and agree to accept The Hague ruling. Meanwhile, Germany should move some troops from the Rhineland and promise not to fortify the area. Also, Britain should negotiate a new treaty redefining its Locarno obligations. After all this, negotiations with Hitler could begin.

British Plan Outlined.

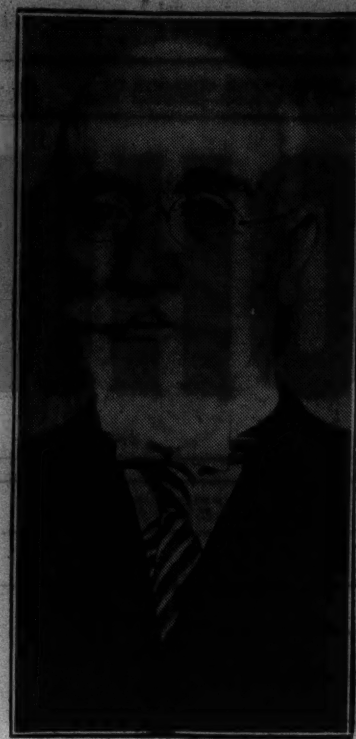
French circles declared the fundamental difference between the French and British views is that Britain wants to act as mediator and umpire, while France wants Britain to carry out its obligations as a guarantor of the Locarno treaty.

The British project, after specifying that the powers enter negotiations with Hitler immediately, provides:

FIRST—A proposal to create a demilitarized zone with a depth of thirty miles on both sides of the Franco-German and Belgian-German frontiers, this area to be policed by some form of international force. This force presumably would act in behalf of the league of nations and provide a permanent symbol of the guarantees embodied in the Locarno treaty.

SECOND—A proposal that France maintain the existing fortifications—the Maginot line—but not improve

Greek Leader Dies



Eleutherios Venizelos, 72 years old, former premier of Greece, who died this morning in Paris. He had long been a prominent figure in Greece's political battles.

them, while Germany would not be entitled to build fortifications on its side of the frontier.

THIRD—A suggestion that should Germany decline to refer the Franco-soviet treaty to the world court France could do so on its own initiative.

It was also suggested that in the course of the general negotiations provisions could be introduced to give reciprocal guarantees of security.

These proposals were interpreted as moving away from any increase in specific British guarantees of mutual assistance. Instead, Britain is seeking to intrust the league of nations with the task of providing such additional safeguards for peace as may be considered necessary by France.

Hoping to reach some agreement for a united front before the German delegation arrives the Locarno powers will meet again at noon tomorrow.

The stiffening of the French stand followed a bitter attack upon Hitler and his peace proposals by Maxim Litvinov, foreign minister of Russia, before the council. Discarding diplomatic niceties, Litvinov administered one of the worst tongue lashings made by any European statesman in recent years.

The commissar charged that Hitler is a menace to European peace and declared his [Litvinov's] government would support all the measures proposed by the Locarno powers to enforce Germany's observance of treaties. Hitler's proposals, Litvinov shouted, were nothing but a "smoke screen for aggression."

One other notable speech was made at the council meeting. Agustin Edwards of Chile proposed that the council should ask a consultative opinion from the world court as to whether Germany had violated the treaties or whether France did so by signing the Russian pact. If this procedure was not followed, he said, Chile would refrain from voting on the question of Germany's violation.

Britain Reassures Hitler.

Hitler's decision to send a delegation to London followed much negotiation by telephone between London and Berlin. The fuehrer, before agreeing, asked Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador in Berlin, for further guarantees that his representatives would be treated as equals and also that his peace proposals would be discussed by the powers. Eden, after a consultation with Prime Minister Baldwin, handed Leopold von Hoesch, the German ambassador, the following reply:

"His majesty's government is doing and will continue to do their utmost to find means of bringing about a peaceful and satisfactory settlement of the present difficulties. It is clear to his majesty's government that the proposals of the German chancellor, as well as any proposals made by other parties concerned, must be discussed at the proper time. The German government will appreciate, however, that it is not possible for his majesty's government to give any more explicit assurance at this state."

Shortly afterward Hitler's unqualified acceptance was received.

Ex-Convict Confesses 50 Burglaries in Year

Louis Czekala, 39 years old, 1028 North California avenue, an ex-convict, confessed to the West North avenue police yesterday that he had committed fifty burglaries of houses and apartments in the past year. Czekala's record showed that he was sent to Pontiac reformatory when he was 15 years old and was paroled in 1917. He was discharged from parole four months later. In 1920 and 1927 he served terms in the Bridewell for larceny.

sis to become premier again. This incumbency lasted until May 21, 1932. His last two terms in that office were June to November, 1932, and January to March, 1933.

The ageing statesman's last major entrance into Greek affairs was a fiasco. It was the short lived army and navy revolt which began March 1, 1935. Venizelos was in his home in Crete at the time, and from there announced his support of the rebels. Boarding a rebel warship, he was headed for the battle zone in northeastern Greece. But in ten days the revolt was crushed.

Venizelos took refuge on the Island of Rhodes. A court martial which tried both him and Gen. Nicholas Plastiras, former Greek dictator, in absentia condemned both to death.

The restoration of King George II., following a royalist coup d'état last October, found Venizelos in Paris. Later George rescinded the death sentence.

Venizelos was married in 1891, his wife dying four years later. They had two sons. His second wife, whom he married Sept. 15, 1921, was Miss Helena Schilizzi, heiress of a Greek family in England. During their honeymoon through North and South America they stopped in Chicago.

FRENCH CONSUL HURT IN CRASH ON MICHIGAN AV.

Jean Jacques Rene Weiller, French consul in Chicago, is under treatment at the Passavant hospital for a brain hemorrhage that developed from an injury suffered last Friday in a taxicab.

Mr. Weiller said he was returning from the Union League club to his office in the Palmolive building when, in Michigan avenue, the cab crashed into another vehicle, throwing him against the partition behind the driver. He felt no serious injury at the time, but bleeding started around his eyes on Monday and he was taken to the hospital.

Dr. Frank Smithies and Dr. Louis Pollock, attending the consul, said that X-ray pictures showed a small tear of the brain covering. According to Dr. Smithies, Mr. Weiller's condition is good and the brain itself apparently was not injured.

"The French government has replied that it will do the same."

BRITISH PROMISE TO HELP HITLER PUSH PEACE PLAN

Secret Negotiations in Berlin Revealed.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 17.—Relying on the promise of the British government that it would exert its influence to bring about speedily a discussion of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's peace proposals, Germany announced today that it will send a delegation to London to discuss questions raised by this country's remilitarization of the Rhineland and the scrapping of the Locarno treaty.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's personal friend and counselor on foreign affairs, will head the delegation, which will leave tomorrow in two airplanes. He will be assisted by veteran diplomats who have represented Germany at international conferences since the end of the world war. They will include Dr. Hans Heinrich Diekhoff, ministerial counselor; Dr. Oskar Wingen, economic expert; Dr. Boettiger, Von Ribbentrop's own press chief; Dr. Thorner, his personal adjutant; Dr. Ernst Woermann, legal expert, and a staf of about twenty secretaries, interpreters, and personal aids.

Britain Persuades Hitler.

The appointment of the German delegation was preceded by secret negotiations in Berlin. On Sunday, it was revealed, Sir Eric Phipps, the British ambassador, had a long private conference with Hitler.

In previous conferences it was the fuehrer who was noted for doing most of the talking. This time, however, the small, blond, monocled ambassador took the lead. Talking in the name of the Locarno powers, he succeeded in partially convincing Hitler that Germany must agree to a compromise.

At noon Sunday Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, called in Phipps and informed him the fuehrer had decided German representatives would go to London if the British government gave private assurance it would attempt to bring about a discussion of Hitler's plans. This promise was given in London today by Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary.

Pope Makes Peace Effort.

It was also revealed today that Pope Pius XI. had intervened in the cause of peace. He sent Cesare Orsenigo, papal nuncio in Berlin, to the German foreign office with an offer to help bring about a conference between Germany and the Locarno powers in a manner "which could save the feelings of everybody involved as much as possible."

Since Germany recently released Dr. Banasch, head of the press department in the office of the Roman Catholic bishop in Berlin, and a group of other Catholics who had been arrested, relations between the Vatican and the Wilhelmstrasse have become much friendlier.

The nuncio's "peace action" was said to have been inspired indirectly by Premier Mussolini, who is profiting by the improved relationship between the Catholic church and the Nazis. The bulk of the funds which the church had accumulated as Peter's pence in Germany, and which could not be transferred to Rome because of German restrictions, is now being used to pay the bills of the Italian government to German industry, it is claimed.

Goering Defies Powers.

Gen. Herman Wilhelm Goering, minister of air, defied Germany's enemies in an election speech at Dortmund tonight.

"We know our power," he cried to a cheering audience. "Not the number of weapons but the will of the nation constitutes its strength. We have an army filled with determination to protect Germany to the utmost. Foreigners would have to pay for every inch of German soil with thousands of dead."

Goering declared Germany never will be forced to its knees by sanctions.

"We would call up our last reserves to meet them," he said. "If we try harder we can become self-supporting. We will make sport of not allowing ourselves to submit to compulsion through sanctions and lack of raw materials."

Troops to Remain on Rhine.

Referring contemptuously to French demands that Germany withdraw five battalions of troops from the Rhineland as a gesture, Goering continued:

"The troops in the zone will remain. If other countries can prove the Rhineland is not a German province we will talk about it, but as long as it is then we maintain our sovereignty over it."

Goering bitterly attacked soviet Russia. He advised France to remember that if and when Germany has been smashed Russia would want to smash France to make way for world bolshevism.

The government continues to grind out propaganda for the "election campaign." The director of the German press association issued instructions to the German press today that not only political reporters, but sports and financial editors must strive to show in all their reports the "great progress achieved by Germany, thanks to the fuehrer."

The Evangelical National church committee ordered that all confirmation services arranged for election day, Sunday, March 29, must be postponed.

NAZIS CALL OFF ELECTION OF NEW LABOR COUNCILS

BERLIN, March 17.—(AP)—Elections for members of councils of confidence in all industrial undertakings, scheduled for April 3 and 4, were suddenly called off today "because of the reichstag elections" to take place March 29. A decree issued by the ministry of labor automatically lengthened by one year the term of office of present council members.

Three opinions were current in labor circles in an attempt to explain this action. One version was that the expected reichstag majority for Hitler would be so overwhelming that it would automatically carry with it, by implication, the indorsement of the present councils of confidence. Another explanation was that the reichstag elections would so absorb the energies of Nazi speakers that they could not properly prepare for the industrial elections. The third view was that advance feelers put out by Nazi canvassers revealed there was so much dissatisfaction with economic conditions that the elections would prove a failure for the government.

[Councils of confidence were established in Germany to represent employés of various industrial organizations after the abolition of trade unions. The councils, elected by the workers, represent the workers before employers and the government.]

TRAP EX-CONVICT GANG; THEY TELL OF 60 ROBBERIES

One Shot as Police Balk Last of Holdups.

Four former convicts, emigrants to Illinois after they had been graduated from the Leavenworth federal penitentiary, stood unabashed in a detective bureau showup last night and snarled their confessions that they had held up more than 60 liquor stores in the last three months.

The bandits, who owned only one pistol for the gang, were seized yesterday by the police in a series of lively episodes. One was shot and slightly wounded in an attempt to hold up the Economical liquor store at 3401 North Paulina street. The other three were taken in a basement flat at 42 East Superior street on information furnished by the wounded prisoner.

Three Girls Also Seized.

In this place also, the raiding policemen found three girls who had been playing at keeping house for the robbers. They were arrested, but it was indicated that they would be freed, as they had no direct connection with the holdups.

First to be seized was Alfred Pscherer, 28 years old, 2053 Evergreen avenue, who claims Omaha as his home town. He was fired on and wounded in the Economical store by Policemen John Douglas and Joseph Kowall. The policemen had been stationed there by Capt. Daniel Lynch of the North Damen avenue station in the expectation that the "liquor store gang" would soon choose the place for a holdup.

Gang Pistol Is Silent.

Pscherer, who was unarmed, made no resistance. The confederate who accompanied him, Edward Barron, 25 years old, a product of Bellingham, Wash., had the community pistol, but made no effort to use it. Instead he fled to the street and joined the other pair, who were waiting in a car at the curb. They are James P. Kelly, 35 years old, a native of Rochester, N. Y., and David Brennan, 30 years old, formerly of Dunkirk, N. Y.

For the time they escaped. But Pscherer, merely grazed in the arm, was taken to the detective bureau and persuaded to talk about his companions. They would be found, he said, either at 65 West Maple street or in the hideout basement flat at 42 East Superior street.

Rest of Gang Seized.

A raid and a quick search netted Barron, Kelly and the girls, who gave the names Barbara Leder, 19 years old, Irene Carlson, 19 years old, and Anita Lawrence, 20 years old.

The police were told that Brennan had fled on their approach. This was doubted and a guard was established on all sides of the building. After several hours a more thorough search was organized and Brennan was found cowering in a cramped space in the attic.

He and Kelly and Barron were bitter against Pscherer.

"We hoped he had got off with a light wound," said the dour Kelly. "None of us ever thought he'd turn into a squealer. It would have been better if he'd been killed—the lug."

Barron Willing to Talk.

"That's right," said Barron. "We talked about getting together outside while we were in Leavenworth. Nobody would think Pscherer would give us that sort of a deal. But now we're in here and hung with it I don't mind talking.

"If you want to know why we stuck up liquor stores, it was because they were easy. You just went in, scared a fellow or two, tied him up in his back room and took the dough from the cash register.

"We turned into robbers because we needed the money. It wasn't a very good racket at that; we only got expense and eating money out of it. We figured the world owed us a living, but we had to work mighty hard to collect."

When the ex-convicts were lined up by Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan at the showup more than 30 store owners were present. Any of them who were hesitant about their identifications were helped out by the robbers.

"Yes, we held up that joint," Kelly or Brennan would say.

"How many places in all did you raid?" demanded the chief.

"Three dozen," declared Brennan.

"Four dozen," guessed Barron.

"Sixty to seventy," was Kelly's estimate.

"Aw, it was more than 80," growled Pscherer. "And all over town, from the far south side to Rogers Park. We might as well tell the whole truth."

Complaints Signed Against All.

Before midnight the 30 liquor store owners had signed complaints against the four men.

Chief Sullivan said all police stations had been warned of the gang's methods and told to keep a sharp watch for them.

The Leavenworth stay by no means completed the prison experience of the gang. Pscherer served a term in Nebraska before going there. Barron has been an inmate of Mansfield, O.; Welfare Island, N. Y., and Pennsylvania prisons. Kelly served time in the Auburn and Elmira, N. Y., penitentiaries.

Barron was sent to Leavenworth as a counterfeiter and the others as violators of the federal law prohibiting the removal of stolen automobiles from one state to another.

BARBARA BASTIEN ARMSTRONG ASKS DIVORCE DECREE

Wedding Last Year an Event in Society.

Mrs. Barbara Bastien Armstrong, 19 years old, 900 North Michigan avenue, filed suit for divorce in the Superior court yesterday against Frank H. Armstrong II., 26 years old, son of Horace White Armstrong, head of Reid, Murdoch & Co., wholesale grocers. The bill, drawn by Attorney Robert E. Cantwell Jr., charged cruelty.

Mrs. Armstrong is the daughter of Alvin E. Bastien, president of A. Starr Best, clothing concern.

Her husband was graduated from Yale in 1932 and now is a student at the University of Michigan law school at Ann Arbor, Mich. The Armstrong home is at 365 Sheridan road, Winnetka.

The wedding of Armstrong and Miss Bastien a year ago was a social event. The bride, who attended the University School for Girls in Chicago and the Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., finishing school, made her debut in 1933.

The bill alleged that Armstrong struck his wife last Oct. 10, seven months after their marriage. He struck her again on Jan. 24 and on Feb. 10, the day they separated, according to the bill.

Mrs. Armstrong asks alimony and attorney fees and permission to resume her maiden name. Cantwell said that the suit would not be contested.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., FLOODED AGAIN; 70,000 CAUGHT

vaged from a hardware store near their exchange before the rising flood made this impossible. All were wearing their wraps to combat the cold. None of them had eaten since early yesterday.

Youth Swept to Death.

Early reports were that seven were drowned in this city, but investigation revealed only one known death, that of Russell Belasdi, 18 years old, who was swept away. Police had a report that a woman lost her life at Hooversville, twelve miles away. Another unconfirmed report was that an elderly woman was drowned on Vine street in Johnstown.

Fears that the flood might lead to another disaster such as that of 1889, when a bursting dam above the city caused more than 2,000 persons to be swept to their deaths, gripped many inhabitants. Two dams are above the city at present, and many persons feared that one or the other would give way, causing a wall of water to rush downstream.

Dam Breaks Without Harm.

One of the dams, at Wilmore, about nine miles from Johnstown, was reported to have broken at 10 o'clock last night. Telephone operators could not verify it, but reassured excited callers by telling them that if the dam had broken its consequences would have been felt in the city by the time the calls were received. Later it was learned that both the Wilmore and the Big Quemahoning dams were safe.

A Pennsylvania train from Pittsburgh, loaded with boats and other rescue equipment, was reported en route to the city, according to a message sent by telephone authorities from Pittsburgh. It had not reached Johnstown, so far as could be learned, by 1:30 a. m., but it was believed it would be able to approach near enough to the city to allow the rescuers to put their boats into action.

Five Killed at Coal Camp.

Great havoc was wrought by flood waters throughout all western Pennsylvania, and it is feared the loss of life will be high. Five persons were killed at Rossiter, a coal camp, when a dam burst on a small rain choked river. Communication failed before their identity could be learned.

The raging river swept through Huff, a hamlet of 300 persons ten miles west, demolished almost every building, and drove the inhabitants into the hills.

Three men, bent on rescuing another family, were thrown into the water when their boat capsized. Late last night they were still reported clinging to the branches of a tree.

Autos Tossed by Flood.

The eight foot wall of water that trapped most of Johnstown swept through the business district yesterday afternoon, carrying telephone poles and automobiles before it. It was such a mass of water, caused by a bursting dam, that caused the high death toll in 1889.

The water in the streets this morning was 20 feet deep in many places. It reached to the second floor of department stores and other business houses. There was no communication with police or firemen.

Power plants failed late yesterday, and the darkness added to the terror after nightfall. Many who started for their homes in the suburbs may have been caught in the torrent.

All those marooned in the downtown section are without food. Many grocers thought to remove their stores to upper floors, but with the water rising rapidly even these may be destroyed.

From New York came word that the Red Cross had mobilized its national forces and was sending a rescue train. But last night the Pennsylvania railroad was washed out ten miles east of town. It was reported that the Red Cross will try to break through by airplane later today.

Two details of National Guard were on the move tonight from Greensburg bringing cots and blankets for the sufferers. Details of state police were also reported nearing the city with truckloads of boats to aid in removing the marooned inhabitants.

Mrs. D. P. Barbour, whose husband and son were marooned in a department store last night, described the situation thus:

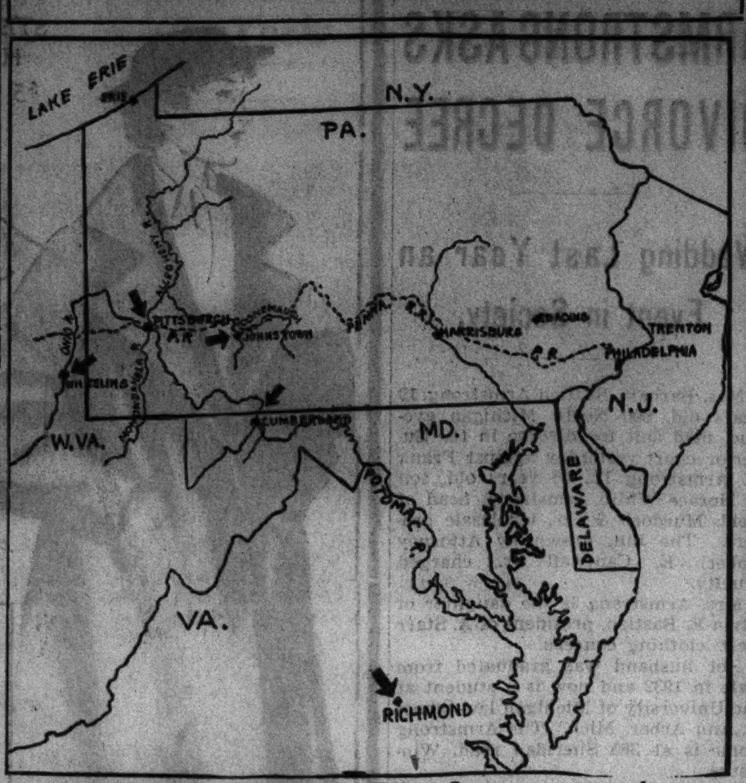
Reports from other sections of this part of the state told of floods driving several hundred persons from Bedford, Connelsvile, Greensburg, Uniontown, and Punxsutawney.

Floods Peril Eastern States



When the eastern part of the United States was swept by storms yesterday several cities (indicated by arrows) faced rising rivers and the danger of disastrous floods. Johnstown, Pa., and Cumberland, Md., were hit hardest. The Pennsylvania railroad's main line, indicated by dotted line, was washed out near Johnstown.

MAIN RAIL LINES CUT

New York, Wednesday, March 18.—[Special.]—At two points between Philadelphia and Johnstown, rising flood waters covered the four track system of the Pennsylvania railroad, requiring the rerouting of many trains and the cancelling of four scheduled trains on the route between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

The flood made east and west service on the main line impossible. Trains for the west out of New York were rerouted over the tracks of the Lehigh Valley and New York Central railroads. St. Louis bound trains out of New York used Pennsylvania railroad tracks to Washington, D. C., where they were shunted to the tracks of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad.

The Baltimore and Ohio's Chicago trains were switched at Marlinsburg to the Western Maryland tracks.

Trains out of Washington were sent on Pennsylvania railroad tracks to Elmira, N. Y., where they were rerouted to Erie railroad tracks as far as Mansfield, N. Y., and then shunted back to the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad leading to New York.

NEAR 30 YEAR MARK

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 17.—[Special.]—Sections of the business district were under water tonight as the weather bureau issued a warning that by morning the highest flood stage in thirty years may threaten the entire city. In 1905 a stage of 38.07 feet was reached.

The waters of the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers, which join to make the Ohio, boiled over their banks along the lowlands. At 5:30 p. m., with the river rising six inches an hour, a level of 30.5 feet had been reached, five feet above flood stage.

Hundreds of families fled to higher ground. Property damage is expected to reach into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Highways, streets, and trolley tracks were washed out, and many homes inundated.

The flood forced every steel plant to close down. Firemen waded up to their waists in a fruitless effort to put out a fire that destroyed the warehouse and offices of the Labelle works of the Crucible Steel company at Woods Run on the Ohio near here. The loss was $75,000.

Coal mines in the western part of the state have also suspended operation. The steady downpour of rain, accompanied today by snow, weakened hillsides near the city, resulting in numerous landslides.

These may have caused several deaths or serious injuries, but nothing will be known until tomorrow at least, for lack of communication with outlying hamlets.

The main line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is reported closed to the east, marooning a passenger train in Bedford county.

Altoona Is Inundated.

In Altoona, on the road to Johnstown, river water covered the business section and extended through Mansion Park, exclusive residential district.

The 6,000 residents of Bellwood, a town near there, were warned to flee to the hills. A reservoir above the town is reported to be ready to "burst any minute."

Three hundred miners waded through waist deep water to safety when their workings were flooded near McClellandtown in Fayette county.

ONE DEAD IN WHEELING

Wheeling, W. Va., March 17.—[Special.]—At least one life was claimed tonight in the worst flood since 1913 through the Wheeling industrial area where thousands are threatened with unemployment. John Phish, 8 years old, drowned when he fell in a creek near Martins Ferry, O.

Rivermen along the Ohio river predict a stage of 45 feet by Thursday morning, almost 10 feet above flood level. Tonight the water stood at 31.6 feet, rising 6 inches an hour. By daylight all major highways are expected to be flooded with the possibility of complete suspension of all railway service to Parkerburg.

Steel mills will close tomorrow, throwing 10,000 persons out of work. Schools in the northern panhandle region are shut down.

CUMBERLAND'S WORST

Cumberland, Md., March 18 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Transformed into swollen, raging torrents by incessant rain, rivers and streams in western Maryland and northern Virginia swept rampant over a wide, flood stricken area today. Homes and highways were inundated, hundreds marooned, and communication and transportation facilities desperately crippled. At 3 a. m. the waters began to recede.

Property damage as a result of the high water was estimated in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. No casualties were reported here.

Of the scores of cities and towns in both states which felt the effects of the disastrous floods, Cumberland was the hardest hit. The business district here was under 10 feet or more of water, while officials said a five mile section of the city was covered by lesser depths.

National Guardsmen, called out last night when the Potomac river and Wills creek poured into the city streets, and police and firemen remained on duty throughout the night to prevent looting and attempt repeated hazardous rescues of victims.

Gov. Harry W. Nice of Maryland announced early today he would ask the state legislature to declare a state of emergency in western Maryland and permit him to call a legal holiday of two days.

DISASTERS RAKE STATE

Richmond, Va., March 17.—[Special.]—Thunderstorms, deep snow, heavy rains, floods, landslides, and a tornado flayed the state from one end to the other today.

Virtually isolated by washouts and landslides during the heaviest rainfall in twelve years, Harrisonburg was completely flooded and without electric power. Several bridges and a section of track on the Chesapeake and Western, and southern branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroads were washed away. A locomotive of the Baltimore and Ohio was wrecked when a freight ran into a landslide north of town.

NEW FLOODS FEARED

Boston, Mass., March 17.—[Special.]—Forecasts of heavy rain shifted the flood menace back to New Hampshire and Vermont tonight. Most of the larger rivers were dropping, after unseasonably high temperatures broke ice locks. But at Montpelier, Vt., farmers are using dynamite to blast an ice jam which has backed up water in the north branch of the Winooski river.

HEAVY SNOW IN BUFFALO

Buffalo, N. Y., March 17.—[Special.]—The season's worst storm crippled trafic here today and the snow is still falling at the rate of one foot an hour.

It crushed the roof of the International hockey arena at Fort Erie, Ont., across the Niagara river. All trolley cars are stopped and plows are having difficulty keeping main highways partially clear. Schools were closed at Niagara Falls and Jamestown, for fear that children would be marooned.

RED CROSS MOBILIZES

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—For the first time since the Mississippi floods of 1927 and 1929 the entire disaster staf of the national Red Cross was thrown tonight across the east from Portland, Me., to North Carolina and back into Pennsylvania.

Milkman Is Shot Twice as He Runs from Bandit

Sam Brownstein, 35 years old, 1012 South Springfield avenue, a milkman, was seriously wounded early this morning when he was shot by a colored bandit who attempted to hold him up a block from his home on Springfield avenue as he was going to work. Brownstein was shot in the back and leg when he ran.

IT'S SPRING HERE AS ODD STORM AFFLICTS EAST

Distinct Line Divides Bad Weather from Good.

While the entire east from Ohio to the seaboard was swept by violent storms and blizzards, which occasioned floods of serious proportions, Chicago and the central and western states enjoyed yesterday for the most part ideal spring weather.

The storm was centered yesterday morning between Charlotte and Greensboro, N. C., the middle of a marked low pressure area. It was moving easterly and last night at 8 o'clock the lowest barometer reading was at Raleigh, 29.24 inches.

Aircraft Seriously Hampered.

For some days this storm has been causing aircraft considerable difficulty and last night rain and snow stopped aerial trafic altogether between Cleveland and Newark. Snow was heavy near Pittsburgh.

Eastern Air Lines reported that the storm's eastward shift had improved the conditions somewhat on the Chicago-Louisville-Atlanta route, but planes were finding the going bad from the southeast to New York, though there were no flights canceled. On Monday Eastern Air had a number of cancelations on these routes.

Tells of Cornfield Landing.

Pilot Maurice Marrs of United Air Lines explained last night why he landed with nine passengers on Monday in a soggy corn patch near West Clarksfield, O., 60 miles west of Cleveland. Marrs' twin motored craft was the second ship in a two section flight from Newark to Chicago.

He was about five minutes behind the first ship as they approached the Cleveland stopping point, he said. When they were 85 miles from the Ohio metropolis, he related, the control tower there radioed that the ceiling was 7,000 feet up and that flying conditions were perfect.

In the short time that it took them to reach Cleveland, he declared, a freak snowstorm suddenly blew up and the ceiling dropped to 1,000 feet by the time the first ship of the pair had circled the field and was ready to land.

Enveloped As He Prepares to Land.

Marrs said he feared to descend when he reached the spot until he was sure that the leading plane had been taxied off the field. As he circled the field the ceiling fell to zero and visibility to 100 feet, he related, and he realized that a landing there was impossible.

He proceeded eastward to West Clarksfield, tossed over a flare and went down. When daylight came he took his nine passengers to Cleveland by automobile.

MEXICO'S SECOND CITY CRIPPLED BY STRIKE; TROOPS PUT ON GUARD

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, March 17.—(AP)—Troops tonight patroled the streets of this city, Mexico's second largest, after a 24 hour general strike had suspended all business and industry. Workers were protesting the killing of two men in a dairy strike conflict.

No trafic was allowed to move; water and electricity were shut off; no food could be bought. This caused considerable suffering as the movement was decided upon without previous notice and residents had no opportunity to buy provisions.

Milk trucks entering the city were stopped and their contents dumped. There were several minor disorders before troops were called out. The shutdown is scheduled to be lifted tomorrow.

JAFSIE RETURNS; WILLING TO HAVE HOFFMAN SEE HIM

But Won't Go to New Jersey to Be Quizzed.

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" of the ransom negotiations in the Lindbergh kidnap-murder case, came back to the United States today, the central figure in an eleventh hour effort by defense counsel to save Bruno Richard Hauptmann from the chair.

Condon is prepared to defend his identification of Hauptmann as the person who received the $50,000 ransom and to answer any other question about the case, his friends say, but has no intention of going to New Jersey to be subjected to questioning.

The elderly Bronx educator, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Myra Hacker, landed from the Grace liner Santa Inez early today after a two months' vacation in Panama.

Met by Relatives.

Dr. Condon, met by relatives at quarantine, refused to answer questions about the Lindbergh case or to say whether he would go to New Jersey, but his attitude on the latter point was revealed from another source.

The Rev. Henry Beets, director of Presbyterian missions in South America and one of the forty-four passengers aboard the Santa Inez, revealed that he had talked with Dr. Condon about the Lindbergh case. Beets asked him during the voyage whether he would accede to Gov. Hoffman's request for an interview at Trenton, N. J. Beets quoted Dr. Condon as replying:

"I will be very glad to receive Gov. Hoffman at my home in the Bronx, but I don't see any reason why I should go to New Jersey."

An authoritative source revealed Gov. Hoffman's intention to write to Condon at once inviting him to the New Jersey statehouse at Condon's convenience.

Condon's return will mean swift developments in the case and dramatic moves by Hauptmann's attorneys to appeal again to the New Jersey Court of Pardons for clemency or ask another trial for Hauptmann, who is sentenced to die during the week of March 30.

Article Discusses Ladder.

As Condon returned, a popular magazine, in an article by its editor in chief, declared that a Bronx cabinetmaker, Abraham Samuelson, had told Dr. Condon he made a ladder for Hauptmann several months before the Lindbergh baby was kidnaped and murdered.

The magazine said that Samuelson informed Dr. Condon on Nov. 16, 1935, that three men, one of whom was Hauptmann, and a young woman, came to his shop and gave him specifications for the ladder. At the trial the state contended Hauptmann made the ladder from wood taken from his attic.

Freed in Mothers' Death; Natural Causes Blamed

Philip Sherlock, 38 years, 510 West 46th street, was freed yesterday by Judge Edward S. Scheffler in the Stockyards court, when police said they were convinced he had nothing to do with the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary Sherlock, 80 years old. Before her death in the County hospital last Saturday she said her son struck her. Her death was due to suffocation from a throat swelling, according to Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's physician.

President's Yacht Ready for Cruise

The presidential yacht Potomoc (right) as it docked yesterday in Miami, Fla., beside the destroyer Dickerson, which will serve as a contact vessel when President Roosevelt embarks on forthcoming fishing trip on the Potomac. Exclusive Party

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—Only an intimate party of his closest associates will accompany President Roosevelt on his scheduled fishing cruise in the South Atlantic, he announced today. The cruise will be made aboard the Potomac, a coast guard cutter converted recently into a presidential yacht, but the President smilingly remarked to newspaper correspondents at a press conference that if the weather should become too rough, he might transfer to one of the two destroyers which will escort him.

His party will be made up of a Frederick A. Delano, uncle of the President; James Roosevelt, his eldest son; Col. Edwin A. Watson and Capt. Wilson Brown, White House military and naval aids, respectively, and Capt. Ross T. McIntire, White House physician.

The President's staf will transact official business during his voyage off the Florida coast through temporary White House offices at Miami, which will maintain daily contact with his yacht.

Mr. Roosevelt will leave for his cruise by train on Thursday afternoon, stopping en route to Florida for one day at Warm Springs, Ga., and also to visit Rollins college at Winter Park, Fla., where he will receive a degree.

He said today that he expected to return to Washington within three weeks.

DISAGREE WITH CHECK OF OUTER DRIVE SPEEDERS

Park district officials yesterday disagreed with a statement of Z. A. Faulkner, engineer employed by the Chicago Motor club, that 94 per cent of motorists violated the posted speed limits on thoroughfares under park jurisdiction.

Mr. Faulkner on Monday said he counted twelve automobiles traveling at a speed of between 70 and 80 miles per hour during an hour test on each of two days on Leif Ericson drive north of Oakwood boulevard, where the posted notice limits speed to 40 miles per hour. George Donohue, superintendent of the Chicago Park district, Michael C. Hayes, chief of the park police, and Otto Jelinek, trafic engineer for the park district, said they doubted that statement.

George Barton, chief engineer for the motor club, said the Faulkner tests were made accurately with the aid of an assistant, one of them pushing a button that started a stop watch when a car passed a given point, and the other stopping the watch at a point 132 feet up the road.

EXPECT STATE'S RELIEF STAF CAN BE CUT UNDER 50

The Springfield office of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission yesterday estimated that fewer than 50 employés would be needed for the work of allocating state funds to the counties, which would be the sole function of the IERC under the Sinnett-Green bill pending in the recessed second special session of the legislature.

The pay roll for allocation work, it was estimated, would be less than $5,000 a month, compared with February wages of $532,961 to IERC employés. However, the counties would need case workers, of which the IERC now has about 1,500. The entire number of employés who could be eliminated under the change could not be dropped as a group, because a portion would be needed to clean up old business, according to A. D. Hovey, assistant field representative.

ROBBERS HOLD UP POSTAL STATION AT LA CROSSE

The Chicago police were asked early today to watch for two men riding in a tan sedan who drove southward after holding up a postal substation at La Crosse, Wis., and fled with $1,500 after terrorizing six persons.

According to Chief of Police Weber of La Crosse, the robbers entered the substation, at 810 Market street, at about 10 p. m. and forced the victims into a washroom, the door of which was locked. The money was taken from a safe in the place. One of the robbers, who carried a shotgun, was described as tall and handsome.

LEADERS OF FOX VALLEY INDORSE SUPERHIGHWAYS

Call on City and State to Elevate Roads.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Fox Valley federation, representing the towns and cities on the banks of the river forty miles west of the loop, at a meeting in St. Charles yesterday indorsed a proposal for the construction of an elevated highway system in Chicago.

Sixteen public officials and civic leaders of the valley unanimously adopted a resolution to this effect, addressed to the governor and legislature of Illinois and to the mayor and council of Chicago.

Lester J. Norris, president of the federation and chairman of the meeting, called attention to the fact that the future of this periphery of the metropolitan area is vitally affected by its motoring proximity to the center of the urban district.

Twice as Easy to Reach City.

"Elevated highways," said Mr. Norris, "will cut in half the problem of getting from the heart of Chicago to the Fox valley. It's a problem that confronts valley residents who visit Chicago on business and social errands as much as it is a problem of those Chicago residents with business and recreational errands in the valley.

"We could be getting such trafic facilities today were it not that Illinois and Chicago have diverted millions of dollars of gasoline tax revenues from the road building funds."

Ald. John A. Massen, chairman of the Chicago city council trafic committee, agreed that the interests of residents within driving distance of the city are the same as the interests of city residents in facilities for rapid automobile travel.

Finds Saving of Many Lives.

"One hundred sixty miles of elevated highway costing 100 million dollars, such as could be financed from gasoline taxes without any increase in the rate, would carry 60 per cent of all Chicago trafic," said Ald. Massen.

"With a design that would physically eliminate the causes of 98.5 per cent of our deaths and injuries in trafic on grade streets, such a system would reduce the motor toll about 60 per cent. Such a system would have saved 1,603 lives and would have avoided 32,064 personal injuries in the last three years."

"We have this trafic hazard problem in Elgin," said Mayor Myron H. Lehman of Elgin.

"For a city the size of Elgin, a bypass can be built. For a city the size of Chicago I can see that elevated highways are the only answer. What can we of the Fox valley and of other sections of Illinois do to help bring about the construction of these elevated highways?"

"Help create a statewide demand that will cause funds to be earmarked for the job," Alderman Massen replied.

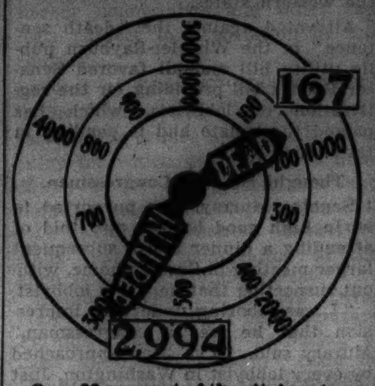
Mayors Speak for Plan.

Mayor Lehman introduced the resolution, as drafted by James E. Bulger, a director of the Chicago Motor club. Mayor C. M. Bjorseth of Aurora spoke in favor of it, as did Mayor J. V. Burton of Batavia and Mayor Harry C. Hanson of Geneva.

Others at the meeting, indicating their concurrence, included Mayor I. J. Langum of St. Charles, State Senator Arnold P. Benson [Rep., Batavia], Dr. C. A. Potter of the St. Charles Chamber of Commerce, Street Commissioner John O. Myers of Elgin, Cadwell H. Mead of Geneva, T. J. Schmitz of the Elgin Motor club, C. E. Collins of the Elgin Association of Commerce, and Superintendent of Public Works Clayton A. Day of Aurora.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1936 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

MOTHER KILLED WHILE WALKING WITH CHILDREN

Mrs. Magdalina Ledolt, 46 years old, 3812 Paris avenue, was killed last night as she was walking with her two children. She was struck in front of 7800 Addison street by an automobile driven by Schuyler Barrett, 3534 Paris avenue.

Mrs. Ledolt's daughter, Marguerite, 15 years old, was knocked down and slightly cut. Her son, Arthur, 10 years old, escaped injury. Barrett was held by the Irving Park police.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 201 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to figures of the coroner's office. In the same period 167 were killed and 2,994 injured within the Chicago city limits.

ASKS DISCHARGE OF FCC FOR AID IN WIRE SEIZURE

Charges That Commission Broke the Law.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.] — A demand for the removal from office of members of the communications commission for exceeding their lawful powers in seizing and delivering to the Black investigating committee the confidential telegrams of citizens was voiced in the house today by Representative Allan T. Treadway [Rep., Mass.].

"Great indignation," said Mr. Treadway, "has been expressed throughout the country at the snooping procedure of a certain committee which, without authority of law, has secured access to millions of private wire messages.

"Practically the entire blame for this situation has been laid at the door of this certain committee. I think the shoe is on the wrong foot. If such a committee desires to exploit itself and gratify its curiosity I am not so much concerned about it as I am at the failure of officials to respect their oaths of office.

Created by Congress.

"The federal communications commission came into being by act of congress, approved June 19, 1934. As was to be expected, the commission has set up a long list of employés and various divisions, always to aggrandize their own jobs and provide patronage positions for deserving Democrats."

Mr. Treadway read from the act creating the communications commission to show that the authority for examination of telegraph messages was for accounting purposes only.

"This is not the first time this matter has come up," Treadway resumed. "The securities exchange commission nearly a year ago asked the communications commission for certain telegrams and Mr. Spearman, the general counsel, denied it. It is a matter of record that the request was denied.

"Then J. Edgar Hoover, in his official position as chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, asked to see or be given copies of various messages and this was denied.

Accommodate Black Committee.

"But with this committee [Black] the commission took all the elegrams and sorted them into two piles. One pile represented those they thought the committee would be interested in and the other comprised messages they wouldn't want.

"I do think that the business of this country has some rights, even with this administration. If this sort of seizure is continued then no man will have any protection.

"The first duty of the commission itself should have been to acquaint itself with its own authority and to know the contents of the law under which it functions. The ignorance which its members have shown is culpable and deserves the severest condemnation, even to the extent of removal from office. I advocate the removal from office of this commission.

No Authority in Law.

"This is another instance of the government meddling in business. I do not hesitate to say there is absolutely no authority for compelling telegraph companies to break confidence with their customers and provide any committee with their entire file of messages The federal communications commission should have known the contents of section 220 of the act which permits inspection and examination only for the purpose of checking accounts. Section 605 refers to unauthorized publication of communications. There is no authority for any committee to demand wholesale delivery of communications.

"This whole affair shows such gross culpability that the commission responsible for this condition should be summarily removed from office. I demand such action on the part of the administration. But I don't think the demand will be complied with."

Answers Borah Resolution.

The communications commission transmitted to the senate its answer to the Borah resolution demanding by what authority it had seized the messages turned over to the Black committee. The commission stated that it had examined the messages in the Western Union office in a search for evidence of the forgery and destruction of telegrams sent by utility lobbyists and for evidence of irregularity in the handling of messages. It contended that such activities are authorized by law.

"The commission's employés," says the answer, "copied approximately 65 telegrams, which were representative of hundreds of telegrams showing on their face either irregularities in handling or the existence of practices which need further study by the commission for the protection of the public and in the interest of an efficient telegraph industry.

"The assertion that has been made that every telegram passing through Washington between the dates covered by the senate committee's subpenaes was read by the commission's employés is without foundation in fact. Such a procedure would have taken the commission personnel assigned to the task many years.

Turned Over to Committee.

"After the commission's employés had completed their inspection the telegrams were examined by the senate committee investigators pursuant to the senate committee's subpenas. The senate committee investigators desired for the use of the senate committee copies of certain telegrams, the originals of which were covered by their subpenas. At the request of the commission's employés copies of these telegrams covered by the senate committee's subpenas were made by the telegraph companies and the copies so made were turned over to the senate committee investigators by the commission's employés."

The answer failed to disprove the charge made by W. R. Heart in his injunction suit that the Western Union had refused to surrender the telegrams under the blanket senate subpena and that the Black committee in order to get the messages induced the communications commission to procure them and furnish them to the inquisitors.

Congressmen Before Committee.

This afternoon Senator Black called a special meeting of his committee to give members of congress who had been named as visitors in the home of a lobbyist, Robert E. Smith, of Portland, Ore., an opportunity to clear their names for the record. Four representatives and one senator, James E. Murray [Dem., Mont.], appeared, but none of the six representatives whom Smith had named as his house mates during the month of August, 1935, was present.

The representatives, Murdock of Utah, Smith and Hill of Washington, and Ford of California, all told similar stories. They had been invited to Smith's house by other congressmen, not knowing that Smith was a lobbyist or even, for that matter, the host. They had discussed nothing more sinister than reclamation projects for the western states.

All voted against the "death sentence" in the Wheeler-Rayburn public utility bill and all favored Senator Black's bill providing for the registration of lobbyists, which has passed the senate and is pending in the house.

Thought He Was Congressman.

Senator Murray, who purported to be in high good humor, also told of attending a dinner and a subsequent larger meeting in Smith's home, without suspecting that he was a lobbyist.

"I was laboring under the impression that he was a congressman," Murary said. "I've been approached by every lobbyist in Washington. Just the other day one caught me on the street and put his arm in mine, bewailing the policies of the administration. He mentioned the Wheeler-Rayburn bill particularly. A woman lobbyist got hold of my private telephone number and proceeded to call me about this neutrality legislation."

Asks $10,000 for Attorney.

Black, this evening introduced in the senate a joint resolution seeking $10,000 for the employment of legal counsel to represent his committee "in legal proceedings relative to the powers of congress." He wants to employ his law partner, Crampton Harris, to defend him in the action brought by Mr. Hearst.

The customary procedure in such cases is to introduce a senate resolution, which would require no action by the house or the President, but under the law appropriations from the contingent funds of either house are limited to $300 a month for the employment of legal counsel. Black's joint resolution seeks $10,000 to be made available immediately, with the provision that the senate audit and control committee make a final adjustment.

NEW YORK HOUSING LAW HELD VALID BY HIGHEST STATE COURT

Albany, N. Y., March 17.—(AP)—The state Court of Appeals upheld the constitutionality of the New York housing law today.

The case reached the high court on an appeal by Andrew Muller and his wife, Rosa, and the Metropolitan Savings bank of New York from a Supreme court order granting an application of the New York City housing authority, which sought to condemn premises in Third avenue, Manhattan.

The statute which was under attack provides that whenever a housing board finds congested and unsanitary housing conditions, it may approve the construction of buildings by limited dividend corporations. The housing board is empowered to delegate to the limited dividend corporation power to condemn and acquire property.

WARNS OF PERIL TO HEART FROM 'GROWING PAINS'

Parents would do well to heed their children's complaints of "growing pains," for they may indicate a rheumatic heart condition, Dr. H. W. Brown of the Illinois Research dispensary said yesterday.

Speaking under the auspices of the Chicago Heart association, Dr. Brown told a divisional assembly at Flower Technical High school that those slight twinges of pain, "especially when over the heart," should be given immediate attention.

Among childhood diseases which may cause cardiac disorders Dr. Brown listed tonsilitis, whooping cough, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, pneumonia, infected teeth and certain types of goiter. Goiter, he said, should be taken care of at once.

THIS innocent-looking object you see pictured above is the gas treadle on the sensational new Buick SPECIAL.

It's good-looking as all simple things are; it's right in placement and design for your foot-comfort; but that's the least of the story.

The important fact is, when your toe touches this treadle things happen!—happen just the way you have always hoped they would in the car of your dreams.

Starting—that's the first thing—automatic engine starting that's positive and instantaneous in any weather, hot or cold.

If it's take-off, next, push the treadle down and you're away in a swoop of surging acceleration that can sink you a full inch into the soft wide cushions at your back.

If it's mobility in traffic, the flashing responsiveness of the great valve-in-head straight-eight engine lets you handle this agile car almost as a master fencer handles a faultless rapier.

If it's hill-climbing, or mile-eating straightaway work all day long, just signal what you want through this treadle and the phenomenal Special will pass it out to you in glorious measure.

And every mile of every hour you drive, you'll feel a solid security under you, a road-hugging steadiness of level thrilling flight, an absence of tension and strain in this beautifully poised car, such as you have never known.

We build the spirited Special to be outstandingly nimble and responsive to spur, and then we match that sparkling action with equally quick control through its powerful tiptoe-pressure hydraulics.

You'll never need to be "heavy-footed" with this car—light and easy treadle touch is enough—you don't have to "tramp on it" to get there pronto in a Buick!]

ROOSEVELT WILL ASK OVER BILLION FOR RELIEF WORK

Congress to Get Special Message Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will ask for "more than one billion and less than two billion dollars" to continue works relief in the fiscal year beginning next July 1, in a special message to be transmitted to congress tomorrow. This was disclosed at the White House tonight following a conference with congressional leaders.

None of the leaders would state the specific amount the message will demand. However, Speaker Byrns said it would be safe to guess that the President will ask for more than a billion and less than two billion dollars. It was understood the President read a draft of his message to the delegation.

Senate Majority Leader Robinson, who acted as spokesman for the group, said: "We discussed the President's prospective works relief program with relation to his message. It probably will be sent to the house and senate tomorrow."

Covers Full Fiscal Year.

In answer to a question, Senator Robinson said the message will cover relief needs for the full 1936-'37 fiscal year. Congressional leaders had urged Mr. Roosevelt to make his request for seven months, so that the budget would be less out of balance in the campaign year, but the senator revealed the suggestion has been disregarded.

Mr. Roosevelt spent an hour and a half with the delegation. Others present, in addition to Byrns and Robinson, were Vice President Garner, House Majority Leader Bankhead, House Appropriations Committee Chairman Buchanan and Senators Glass and Byrnes. Acting Budget Director Bell was at the meeting by request of the President.

At his press conference the President refused to discuss the message other than to say it probably would go up to Capitol hill tomorrow. He also refused to discuss the nature of his conference with the delegation. Mr. Roosevelt will leave Washington Thursday afternoon on his annual fishing cruise in the Caribbean sea.

In official circles the President is expected to ask for 1 billion 500 million dollars to continue WPA. It is expected that the New Deal will salvage 1 billion dollars from the 4 billion dollar appropriation of last year and has 500 million dollars available for relief purposes in the RFC.

Full use of available funds, plus the appropriation, would give the administration 3 billion dollars for boondoggling after July 1. This sum would permit operations at the present rate of doling out easy money and might create more jobs in the campaign year as the New Deal is expected to cut down further on Public Works administration projects which, because of permanency, have a high material cost.

William A. Hall to Head Surface Lines Department

WOODEN BUCKLE ARTISAN VICTOR OVER BAD TIMES

Off Relief Forever, Is Carver's Boast.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Leonard Hohlwegler, 40 years old, of 314 Morton avenue, Aurora, yesterday completed his 10,000th hand finished wooden button of his own design, and concluded that he was definitely the winner in his long battle against the depression. Taking the precaution to knock on wood, he told the story of how he removed himself and family from the ranks of persons on relief by turning his ability as a wood carver into useful channels.

As he displayed card after card of originally designed buttons made of fine woods, including 160 different designs, and almost as many styles of wooden buckles, the overall-clad artisan said haltingly, clasping and unclasping thick, powerful hands:

"I work longer hours than ever I did on my father's 1,000 acre farm at Ellendale, N. D., where he was always jawing me for making shavings carving wood, or in the factory here where I operated a punch press and stamped a trademark and punched the lockjoint in elevator equipment.

Recalls Last "Real Job."

"Or in the brush factory—that was the last real job I had. I work harder than I did at the dime store, or washing dishes, or selling flavoring extracts from door to door, or any of the other things I did from time to time to get off relief rolls.

"But I am interested every minute, and I'm independent at least. I've got my self-respect back, and it's good to feel I'm off relief forever."

His red haired wife, Grace, who worked as a telephone operator until shortly after the dial system was installed in Aurora, sat at the dining room table oiling and polishing belts. Last week, with the help of her brother, Dean Bramblett, who recently came from Indiana to live with them, the Hohlweglers made fifty-five wooden belts.

"There's No Stopping Us."

Stopping long enough to dress her baby daughter, who immediately went running for a box of buttons, Mrs. Hohlwegler said:

"On relief, you have nothing to look forward to. This way, we feel that there's no stopping us. True, we aren't getting wealthy. We average $100 a month profit. My husband worked forty-eight hours at a stretch last week to finish an order. He averages eighty hours a week and I work when I can. But we work when we please and punch no time clock."

Hohlwegler was working in a dime store in October, 1932, when a friend of his, remembering Hohlwegler's hobby of carving chains out of blocks of wood, came to him with a request. His girl was having a dress made and could find no wooden buttons of the kind she wanted to ornament it. He asked Hohlwegler if he would make her some.

"I wasn't enthusiastic," said Hohlwegler. "I thought women difficult to please in such matters. But I made the buttons and she liked them. I started making others, and buckles, pins, rings, of walnut, cherry, kingwood, vermilion, and other fine woods."

When he began he had nothing but a jackknife and a hacksaw to work with. It took him an entire day to make a link belt. Now he has $200 worth of machinery and a shop in his basement, and has made 1,700 belts since 1933.

SENATOR BRANDS MISS PERKINS 'A SHIELD FOR REDS'

Harbors Criminal Aliens, Reynolds Charges.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—Secretary of Labor Perkins was accused of harboring hundreds of deportable criminal and radical aliens in the United States by Senator Robert R. Reynolds [Dem., N. C.], when he introduced a senate resolution today calling upon the labor department to furnish information allegedly withheld from congress.

Senator Reynolds' resolution said that request had been made of labor department officials for information concerning "in excess of 2,600 aliens in the United States known to and allowed by the department of labor to remain in the United States, although subject to deportation." The request, the resolution stated, was refused.

"Makes Mockery of Safeguards."

Senator Reynolds said the labor department was holding up the deportation of 2,862 so-called "hardship" deportation cases pending action by congress on the Kerr-Coolidge bill, which would set up an interdepartmental board with discretionary power to overrule the courts in deportation cases. He denounced this measure, saying it would "make a mockery of the limitations which congress has sought to build up against the illegal entry and unlawful presence here of aliens who resort to evasion, fraud, and deceit."

The Kerr-Coolidge bill, which is pending in both houses of congress, has been widely criticized as a subterfuge to permit the New Dealers to harbor communists and other radicals subject to deportation in this country.

Labeled by Senator "The 'If' Bill."

The Kerr-Coolidge bill sets forth the various crimes and conditions of entry for which deportation is mandatory under the present law and then provides for deportation "if the interdepartmental committee finds that the deportation of the alien is in the public interest."

Senator Richard B. Russell [Dem., Ga.] calls it the "if" bill. Secretary Perkins justifies the harboring of 2,862 so-called "hardship" cases on the ground that their families would be inconvenienced. Senator Reynolds declares that Al Capone's family no doubt was inconvenienced when he was sent to the penitentiary.

FORM 'CAMPAIGN CLASS' FOR WIVES OF DEMOCRATS

Washington, D. C., March 17.—(AP)—A weekly "campaign class" for the wives of Democratic senators and representatives was the outcome today of a meeting addressed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Lesson one will be held next Monday morning at 10; its topic, as given by Louise Lazell, teacher: "The New Farm Act and the Background of All the Little Pigs." Mrs. Roosevelt suggested they "prepare questions ahead."

Outlying the main object of the campaign class—to become sufficiently informed on the Democratic administration to answer questions about it—Mrs. Lazell said: "Our great menace lies not in the Liberty league, not in the fulminations of a red-gallused neighbor, not in the opposing political party, but in the indifference of the average citizen."

60,000 INCOME RETURNS IN LAST HOUR MAIL HERE

Sixty thousand additional pieces of mail containing 1935 income tax payments of taxless returns, all postmarked before the Monday midnight deadline, were delivered to the office of the federal collector of revenue yesterday. The new flood of mail came as several hundred employés were busy opening and tabulating 65,000 mail returns delivered Monday. Miss Elizabeth Echart, chief clerk, said it would be several days before the complete tax payment figures for this district would be available.

Several large tax payments were noted yesterday in the returns being compiled. The return of one large corporation was for a total tax of $1,600,000. Another was for $1,000,000, and another for $500,000. One individual tax was $351,000, and another $143,000.

Leaves of New Ashland Bridge Are Put in Place

The two leaves of the Ashland avenue bascule bridge, under construction across the north branch of the river at Webster avenue, were lowered into place yesterday, marking the completion of the first stage in the project. Arthur Engh, engineer for the board of local improvements, said workers will start immediately laying the permanent flooring on the bridge, which, it is expected, will be ready for trafic early in July.

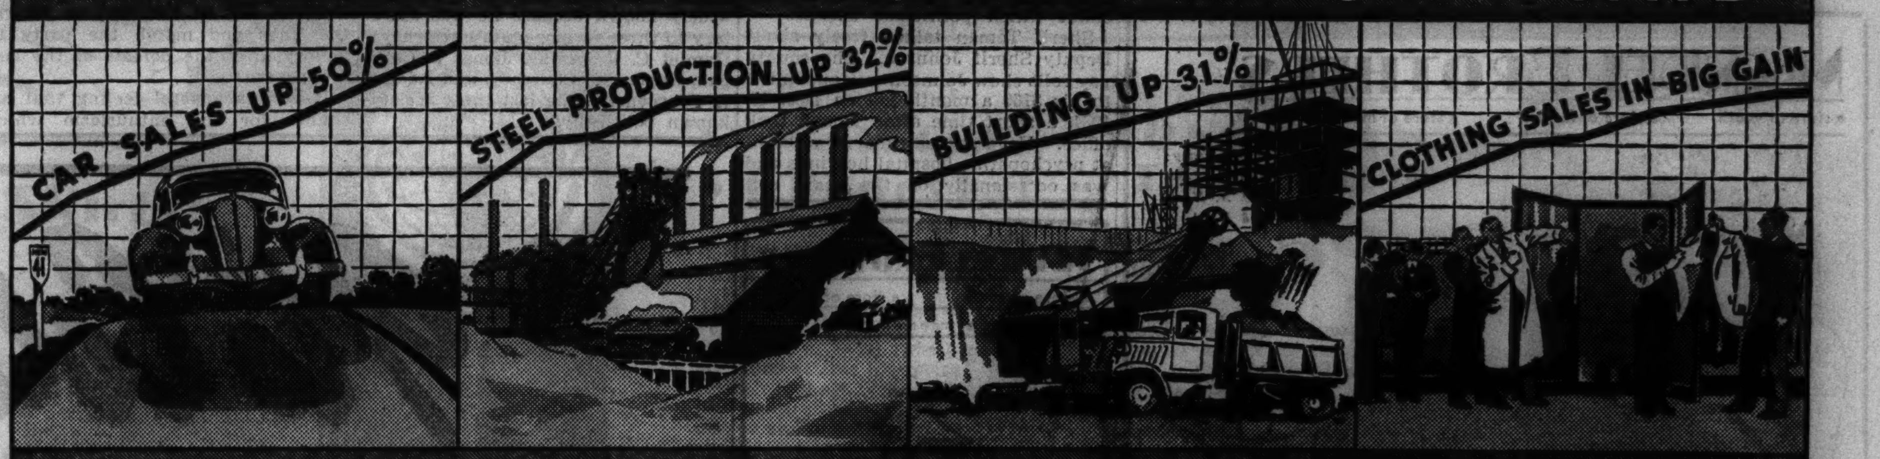
AMERICA IS MOVING FORWARD



AMERICA'S MEN ARE DRESSING UP!

It's inexpensive to be well dressed in Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

TODAY—as you read this newspaper—a faster tempo is sweeping over America. Headlines shout the news! Motor car sales increase! Building boom ahead! Steel production advances! Industry moves forward on every front.

But what, you say, has this to do with men's clothes? The answer is—everything! Consider this seriously—you men who are just "getting by" with a second or third-year suit:

These are no times for shiny seats and elbows. These are no times for shabby, misfit clothes. You've waited a long time for the opportunities that are now close at hand. You can't afford to let personal appearance stand in your way.

Frankly, you're expected to look abreast of the times—as well as think abreast of the times. And clothes—right clothes—can equip you with the self-assurance you need to step along with any company.

Fortunately—you can have the country's finest clothes—without spending a lot of money. Some men don't know this—and make the sad mistake of paying the exact price of a Hart Schaffner & Marx suit for clothes of inferior style and quality. Since you're paying the price—why not get the quality? And speaking of quality—we've never had a finer collection of superior suits in our store than the new 1936 Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes—just received.

Spend fifteen minutes here—browse through the smart spring styles and colors—look at the price tags—and you'll know better than any words of ours can tell you why millions of men who must look right always wear Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes.

Stripes are the most important style development of the season!

Every well-dressed man's wardrobe should contain a striped suit this spring and this is stripe headquarters. Not only are stripes important but double-breasteds are preferred and the broad-shouldered trimness of this coat with the fuller lapels insure perfect smartness at moderate cost!

Backed in Both Instances by Caldwell Men.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Oscar J. Johnson, candidate for Municipal court bailif backed by the Cook county Republican forces supporting H. Wallace Caldwell for the governorship nomination, admitted in reply to questions yesterday that he is holding down a Democratic job as a deputy sherif.

The situation disclosed by the admission was considered a novelty even in Chicago politics, where party lines frequently are ignored in the distribution of patronage. So far as could be learned it was the first instance known of a man's seeking preferment in one party while on a regular pay roll of the other.

The disclosure was considered also as throwing some light on the much discussed question of where the local Democratic influences are at work in the Republican primary. Caldwell, as a candidate for governor, is scheduled to make a radio address this evening on the subject "Bipartisan Deals and Their Effect on the Republican Party."

Sponsored by E. T. Brekke.

According to persons who have seen the records of Sherif John Toman, Democrat, Johnson's appointment was sponsored by Eden T. Brekke, Republican committeeman of the Thirty-sixth ward, who is the Caldwell manager in Cook county. Brekke is accredited with having made the arrangements which landed Caldwell's local candidates, with few exceptions, the first places on the ballot which politicians cherish.

Sherif Toman talked freely about Deputy Sherif Johnson. The county pay rolls show Johnson was appointed to his $166 a month job on Dec. 15, 1934, a short time after Toman took office. He was assigned as a bailif at psychopathic hospital hearings and was occasionally on the death cell watch when electrocutions were impending in the county jail.

"He's one of the best deputies I have," said Sherif Toman. "I've known him for thirty years and know that he is honest and capable."

Johnson said that the facts related were correct.

"Politics had nothing to do with my appointment," he said. "It was the result of a friendship. And I don't see anything improper in my running for a Republican office while I'm holding it.

"I was thinking of getting out when I became a candidate, but Sherif Toman asked me to stay until he could make satisfactory arrangements for some one to take over my work. When he does that I'll get out."

There are seven other candidates for the nomination for bailif. They are William H. Feigenbutz, former alderman; Alfred J. Borah, backed by the Deneen group and Young Republicans Inc.; Christian G. Kiessling, widely known because he was secretary to three former state's attorneys, Hamlet C. Ridgeway, James J. Galligan, Eugene C. Courtney, and Adolph E. Schroeder. The last three are unknown politically.

HORNER SOUND TRUCK CHARGED $22.25 TO ADVERTISE IN JOLIET

Gov. Horner's sound truck, which drums up crowds in advance of Horner meetings by music and announcements, fell afoul of the law in Joliet last night with the result that campaign expenses were increased by $22.25.

Albert Wood, 999 North Water street, Decatur, drove the truck to Joliet late in the afternoon from Aurora, where Mr. Horner and his running mates were making campaign speeches. Entering the city, the vehicle began a slow cruise about the streets while music and announcements boomed forth.

Several citizens complained and a squad car commanded by Sergt. William Kwasnieski promptly found the sound truck and escorted it to the police station, where Driver Wood was informed he was operating it without a license and was fined $5 and $2.25 costs. Furthermore, ruled the police, he must pay $15 for a license. Wood paid the $22.25 and was released, with the truck.

BROOKS BACKED IN 23D DISTRICT AS FALL VICTOR

BY LLOYD WENDT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lawrenceville, Ill., March 17.—[Special.]—The 23d congressional district today acclaimed Wayland Brooks of Chicago the man who can lead the Illinois Republicans to victory in the fall. He spoke here and at Salem in support of his candidacy for Republican nomination for governor in the April 14 primary.

Tonight at Salem more than 2,000 persons, equivalent to nearly half of the population of the town, jammed the armory to welcome Brooks and cheer the leaders who rose to pledge their support to him. Earlier in the day 800 heard Brooks at Lawrenceville.

Brooks chairmen in the ten counties of this district, which embraces the Illinois oil country and a rich farming area, declared flatly that their candidate will carry the primary with a vote that will not only attest to his own popularity but will demonstrate a new Republican strength. This position is supported by a poll of the district, recorded in the various newspapers, which shows Brooks to be a two to one favorite for the nomination.

G. O. P. Revival Gains.

Last week, in southwest Illinois, the Brooks campaign took on the aspect of a crusade for revivified, fighting Republicanism in the state. This attitude strengthens as the tour goes on. Party leaders declare that they not only look upon Brooks as the nominee but as the man to reform the lines and march the party to victory after the defeats of the last few years.

It is this general feeling that accounts for the enthusiasm which marks the Brooks meetings throughout downstate, and it is leaving behind him a solid, fighting organization eyeing not only the primary but the fall election.

This attitude was expressed by L. H. Ford and Dr. Vic Brian, Brooks' leaders in Lawrence county.

Leader in Adversity.

"Old and young Republicans alike agree that Mr. Brooks is the one man to give Illinois a Republican victory in the fall," they said. "He is the man who fought the Republican battle in adversity, and he is the one logical candidate to lead us to success now that the tide is turning.

"That is why 14 of 18 committeemen in this county are definitly pledged to Brooks. If we voted today, 70 per cent of the Republicans in this county would support Brooks. We Republicans see Brooks not only as a candidate but as a real tried leader. He gets our support on both counts."

As was the case last week, Republicans not active in the Brooks campaign and therefore as impartial as politics can be, declare there is a constant swing to Brooks, dooming the aspirations of a former governor.

HADLEY ASSAILS FHA FOR USING NAME AS 'CLACK'

Criticizing officials of the Federal Housing administration for unwaranted use of his name, James M. Hadley, a member of the Paul Reveres, sent a letter yesterday to John H. O'Connor, FHA district director, in which he declined to serve as a sponsor for an "insured mortgage clinic" of the FHA. The alleged purpose of the "clinic" is to "educate present and prospective home owners."

Hadley said he was first notified of his "sponsorship" in a letter from O'Connor dated March 14, in which he was asked to attend a meeting of the "clinic" in the Palmer house today.

"I consider your unauthorized use of my name," Hadley wrote, "not only an unwaranted liberty, but an impertinent and presumptuous invasion of my personal rights. . . . My name has been high-handedly stolen to serve as a cloak or come-on for an enterprise to which I am unalterably opposed . . ."

CHARGES HORNER BALKS BUNDESEN TALK IN ARMORY

Chairman Campbell Tells Aurora Incident.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Gov. Horner was charged last night with refusing to permit his Democratic primary opponent, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, the use of the Aurora National Guard armory—on a rent paid basis—after the governor had made a political speech there himself.

Bruce A. Campbell, Democratic state chairman, made the accusation after he learned that Adjt. Gen. Carlos E. Black of the Illinois National Guard had notified the Democratic committee in Aurora that its permit to use the armory for a Bundesen meeting tomorrow had been revoked. Gov. Horner spoke there yesterday afternoon.

"It is my understanding that no rent was paid on this armory for Gov. Horner's meeting," said Chairman Campbell in Springfield.

Rent Already Paid, He Says.

"Now I learn that Adj. Gen. Black has refused permission for the regular Democratic organization candidates, including Dr. Bundesen, State Treasurer John Stelle, Secretary of State Hughes, Attorney General Kerner, Auditor Barrett, John C. Martin, Lewis M. Long, and E. V. Champion, to use the same armory on Thursday, despite the fact that our organization in Aurora has already paid the rent on the armory and has a receipt for it. Not only that, but four of our candidates are elected state officials, the same as Gov. Horner.

"I also understand that Gen. Black admitted that he had disapproved the use of the armory upon orders. There is only one man who can give the adjutant general orders, and that is the governor. I ask the governor why he refused to rent the armory for one political meeting, when he holds one there without paying for it. Is it because he is afraid to have the voters of Kane county hear the issues of this campaign?'

Governor Continues Attack.

Gov. Horner spoke in Joliet last night, after addressing meetings at Wheaton, Batavia, and Aurora during the day. He continued his attacks upon Mayor Kelly, accusing the mayor of being a boss and declaring that the only issue in the campaign was the mayor's "attempt to become dictator of Illinois."

Speaking of his recent illness, Gov. Horner said: "I think most of the exhaustion was the result of trying to find out just what the opposition stands for in this primary campaign. We haven't been able to find out what they propose to do to better the state government, but we have found out that the only issue in this campaign is the primary voters against Boss Kelly."

The governor said that his week-end in Chicago had been marked by reports from all wards in the city that they "will be under the Horner banner when the primary votes are counted."

Horner Says He'll Win.

"Kelly and his machine may steal votes by the shovelful," he added, "but they won't be able to steal enough in this election to defeat me."

In Chicago Horner headquarters issued a warning that racketeers are attempting to sell tickets for dances and entertainments on the representation that the proceeds will be used in behalf of the governor's campaign. No such affairs have been authorized by the headquarters, the announcement said.

SOLDIERS TO ENTERTAIN VETS.

Soldiers from Fort Sheridan will give twelve acts of amateur entertainment for the patients of the North Chicago Veterans' hospital at 7:30 p. m. today, according to Brig. Gen. Dana T. Merrill, post commander.

Also assisting Mrs. Brown here will be Mrs. Daisy V. Williams of Iowa, formerly associated with the Iowa farm bureau, whose activities will be chiefly among farm wives of the central west.

WARANT ISSUED FOR ASSAULT IN POLITICAL FIGHT

Judge Edgar A. Jonas, a Republican, sitting in the civil branch of the Municipal court, issued a warant yesterday charging assault and battery against Theodore Piasecki, 5007 South Bishop street, a Democratic precinct captain accused of slugging George Buettner, 5020 South Laflin street, a trafic checker employed by the state. Former Ald. Thomas J. O'Grady, acting for Buettner, had sought a warant charging mayhem, but Judge Matthew D. Hartigan of the Felony court refused to issue it.

Buettner, working for Steve Samuel, candidate for Democratic ward committeeman in the Fourteenth ward, said he was assaulted while canvassing the precinct in which he lives.

WPA STRIKERS OPEN NEW WAR ON LA FOLLETTE

"Phil Fools Labor," Says One of Placards.

Madison, Wis., March 17.—[Special.]—Defying the first attempt to move them from the assembly chamber of the state capitol, where they have held undisputed possession for five days, striking workers from WPA projects in the Fox river valley this afternoon renewed their attacks on Gov. Phil LaFollette and began picketing the executive offices.

The first picket squad, including two men and two women, posted itself in front of LaFollette's office at 2 o'clock. Their placards charged the "governor deserts labor," "Phil must choose, labor or bankers," and "Phil fools labor."

Placing of pickets at the executive office followed another session in which the governor, who oddly enough gave the strikers $30 for their first breakfast in Madison, was severely lambasted as "Foxy Phil, the wishy washy liberal."

Wire Federation Head.

Turned back in their demands to the governor, State WPA Administrator Martin W. Torkelson, and Regional Administrator A. R. Shanley, the strikers, seemingly confused as to where to look next for higher wages, today sent the following wire to Henry Ohl, Milwaukee, president of the state federation of labor:

"Fox river valley strikers request statement from you. Appreciate reply immediately."

Strike leaders explained that the Workers' alliance, sponsor of the march on Madison, was not "affiliated but indorsed by" the state and national federations of labor.

During the forenoon the strikers' enthusiasm seemed to wane, but with the arrival of some of their wives, more donations for food, and fresh clothing, their spirits rose again late this afternoon. There seemed to be no immediate change from their repeated determination to stick until promised an increase from $48 to $60 a month for unskilled workers.

Asked Quietly to Leave.

The first request to evacuate the assembly chamber came in a polite note from Dwight Mack, superintendent of the capitol, whose hospitality has been praised by the strikers. He informed them that the state high school debating finals, scheduled for several months, are to be held in the chamber Friday night and requested that they prepare to vacate for several hours.

Unanimously they voted to refuse to leave. Officials were undecided tonight as to what course of action they would follow.

Lyle Olson, strike organizer, today repudiated the statement that he intended to split the progressive federation if Gov. La Follette "didn't come across," but before he had finished he said about the same thing. "It must be clear that unless Gov. LaFollette reverses his position and comes out clearly in support of the demands of WPA strikers, he cannot expect the support of the workers' alliance or any other unemployed organizations for reëlection," Olson concluded.

Henry F. Reilly Is Sworn In as Customs Appraiser

Henry F. Reilly was sworn in yesterday as an appraiser of merchandise by Joseph A. Ziemba, collector of customs in the Chicago area, in the postoffice building. Mr. Reilly, who is 61 years old and lives at 7022 Perry avenue, is a customs service veteran.

ATTEMPTS RESCUE

EDWARD J. ESBROOK.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

While hundreds of persons looked on, members of the crew of the coast guard cutter Rush rescued John Owen, 26 years old, 4922 Superior street, after he leaped into the Chicago river from the lower level of the Michigan avenue bridge yesterday. Edward J. Esbrook, radio operator of the Rush, which is moored just west of the bridge, jumped in after Owen, but a boat crew from the cutter reached Owen first and took him and Esbrook from the water. Owen was taken to the psychopathic hospital.

SOCIAL SECURITY ACT IS BRANDED BRAKE ON JOBS

The social security act was termed a "guarantee of unemployment," and the Van Nuys bill, now pending in congress, was condemned as the most vicious legislation ever passed by the senate, in an address yesterday by George E. Sokolsky, author and lecturer, before the Rotary club in the Hotel Sherman.

Sokolsky said that the social security act, "passed merely to stop the Townsend movement and not to provide social security," will not put men to work nor in any way create more employment.

He pointed out that, in spite of all the administration's measures, unemployment has increased from 11,600,000 on March 4, 1933, to 12,600,000 at the present time, according to figures of the American Federation of Labor.

The social security act will cause unemployment, Sokolsky said, by forcing up prices to the point where there is a reaction from sales resistance.

Sokolsky called a bill written by Senator Frederick Van Nuys [Dem., Ind.] "vicious legislation." This proposed law would penalize any person or corporation for any attempt to influence the vote of any employé in a presidential or congressional election.

"This bill," he said, "would forbid human relations between employers and employés. They can talk about Mae West, but they can't mention politics."

Rob South Side Couple of $3,500 Cash and Gems

Three robbers held up Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pearl early today in the vestibule of the apartment building in which they reside at 1320 Madison park and took from them property valued at $3,500. The loot included a diamond ring valued at $3,000, a wedding ring, a wrist watch and $30. Pearl, who is head of the Empire Hat works at 65 East South Water street, said that the men were hiding in the hallway and he did not see them until after he had come through the outer door.

SHINNERS AND HOAN LEADING IN MAYOR RACE

Blow to Radicals Is Seen by Nonpartisans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., March 18 [Wednesday, 3 a. m.].—Returns from yesterday's primary show Sherif Joseph Shinners running only a little behind Mayor Daniel W. Hoan. That strengthened the prediction the Socialist incumbent will face the battle of his life in the election April 7.

Returns from 284 of the city's 396 precincts gave Hoan 45,142 votes, Shinners 41,427. Former Congressman John Schafer ran third with 17,880 and Otto R. Werkmeister got 7,029. It was freely predicted that the larger part of the Schafer and Werkmeister vote will go to Shinners in the final contest. On that showing Shinners became a favorite to win the election. Hoan has been mayor since 1916.

Mattison Faces Raskin.

Walter Mattison, former assistant city attorney, has been nominated to fight it out with City Attorney Max Raskin, Socialist, in the April finals. Returns from the 193 precincts gave Mattison 15,958, Raskin 24,209. Earl Lillydahl, who had been credited with making a strong campaign, was third with 12,221. Arthur J. Schmid showed up fourth with 6,297. Adelbert J. Beyer, former assistant district attorney, and C. P. Hanley were eliminated early, Beyer polling 1,818 and Hanley 4,661.

The strictly nonpartisan conduct of the city treasury by Dr. John Mudroch was given an overwhelming primary indorsement. Treasurer Mudroch, in 193 precincts, was given 31,590 votes. William C. Guenther, candidate of the Progressive-Socialist alliance, received the surprisingly low vote of 12,201. Fred G. Prohaska ran third with 4,135 and was definitly eliminated.

Controler Wins, Too.

A similarly decisive indorsement to that of Dr. Mudroch was given the nonpartisan controler, William Wendt. His total in 193 precincts was 28,601.

IDENTIFY ROBBER OF POLICEMAN IN MELROSE PARK

Frank Gentile, 25 years old, was identified at the detective bureau last night as one of four robbers who held up Policeman Anthony Malone of Melrose Park and his wife on Sept. 10 and took $840 and a $350 ring from them. The holdup took place at 9th street and 14th avenue in the suburb.

Malone and Ernest Dalluege, also a Melrose Park policeman, made the identification. Malone at the time was returning from a bank where he had drawn a large sum in back pay. Dalluege, who was carrying only a small sum, was not robbed, but he said last night he had a good view of the bandits.

Gentile and three other men were arrested by state highway policemen at 147th street and Indiana avenue on Thursday after an auto chase in which the fugitives threw out a shotgun and several pistols.

Field Service Started for AAA Substitute.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—Establishment of five regions for administration of the soil conservation and domestic allotment act, the New Deal's 500 million dollar substitute for the outlawed AAA, was announced today by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Illinois is in the north central division, which includes Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Indiana, South Dakota, and Minnesota. Gerald B. Thorne, director of the division of live stock and feed grains, will be the director of the division.

Four Other Regions.

The four other regions are southern, eastern central, northeast, and western.

Secretary Wallace also directed discontinuance of the four commodity divisions whose work of liquidating AAA production control programs will be taken over by the regional directors. The order leaves intact other administrative units of the AAA, such as the division of marketing and marketing agreements, division of program planning, and the division of the consumers' counsel.

Field Service Started.

H. R. Tolley, administrator of the new plan, said that establishment of the regions was one of the steps necessary to put the new program in operation. He said the department already has begun to organize a field service to administer the program in various states. As under the AAA the leading part within the states is to be played by the farmers' county and community committees.

AAA Administrator Chester C. Davis, who is being supplanted by Tolley, called at the White House today to say good-by to the President. Davis is being sent abroad to study agricultural conditions while Tolley whips the new farm subsidy program into shape.

Sues Parks for $25,000 Over Hit and Run Injury

Miss Myrtle Browning, 32 years old, 853 Lawrence avenue, filed a $25,000 personal injury suit in the Circuit court yesterday against the Chicago park district. The bill alleged that the park district was responsible for wrong timing in trafic lights at the intersection of Lake Shore drive, Melrose street and Sheridan road on March 17, 1934, when Miss Browning was struck by a hit and run driver. Miss Browning suffered a broken arm.

O. K. PLANS FOR 150TH BIRTHDAY OF CONSTITUTION

Sol Bloom, Impresario of Dollar Hurling, Ready.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—A tentative report of the commission making plans for the observance of the 150th anniversary of the formation of the constitution was ratified today by President Roosevelt.

The report was presented by Representative Sol Bloom [Dem., N. Y.], as director general of the commission. Bloom was the impresario of the George Washington bicentennial of 1932 which ended last Washington's birthday with the throwing of a silver dollar across the Rappahannock river by Walter Johnson, former big league pitcher, with Bloom as master of ceremonies.

Still Lacks Final Punch.

Bloom has borrowed liberally from experience in planning the constitution celebration. He said today he has yet to find a final punch for the constitution to equal the dollar throwing. To the suggestion that he arrange to have President Roosevelt throw the document out of a second story White House window, he responded with a strained smile.

One of the major features of the constitution is to be a tree planting for the document like that conducted for the father of the country. President Roosevelt and other officials will lead in a tree planting which Bloom hopes will surpass the 35 million trees planted in 1932. He said it would be highly fitting if the chief justice of the Supreme court would plant a tree in front of the court's new home. He has not yet, he said, broached the plan to Mr. Hughes.

Put Document on Sale.

In place of the plaster busts of Washington which were circulated in the bicentennial, Bloom will have facsimiles of the constitution, "in an appropriate frame" on sale throughout the country. There also will be medals, posters, banners, buttons, and badges commemorating the documents. The commission also will sponsor movies, a stamp issue, speeches, assemblies, and meetings in the observation which will reach its peak on the document's birthday next Sept. 17.

Bitten by Dog; His 'Relief' Plea Costs Him $1.50 Fine

West Orange, N. J., March 17.—[Special.]—Bitten by a dog, George Porch, 44 years old, ran to a drug store and gulped down a pint of whisky as an antidote, then dashed to a hospital for an anti-rabies injection. Porch next taxied to the police station and demanded funds so he could go back to his car, which he had abandoned in his haste to reach the drug store. When police refused him money, he told the chauffeur to "charge it to relief." As a result Porch had to pay a fine of $1.50 as a disorderly person.

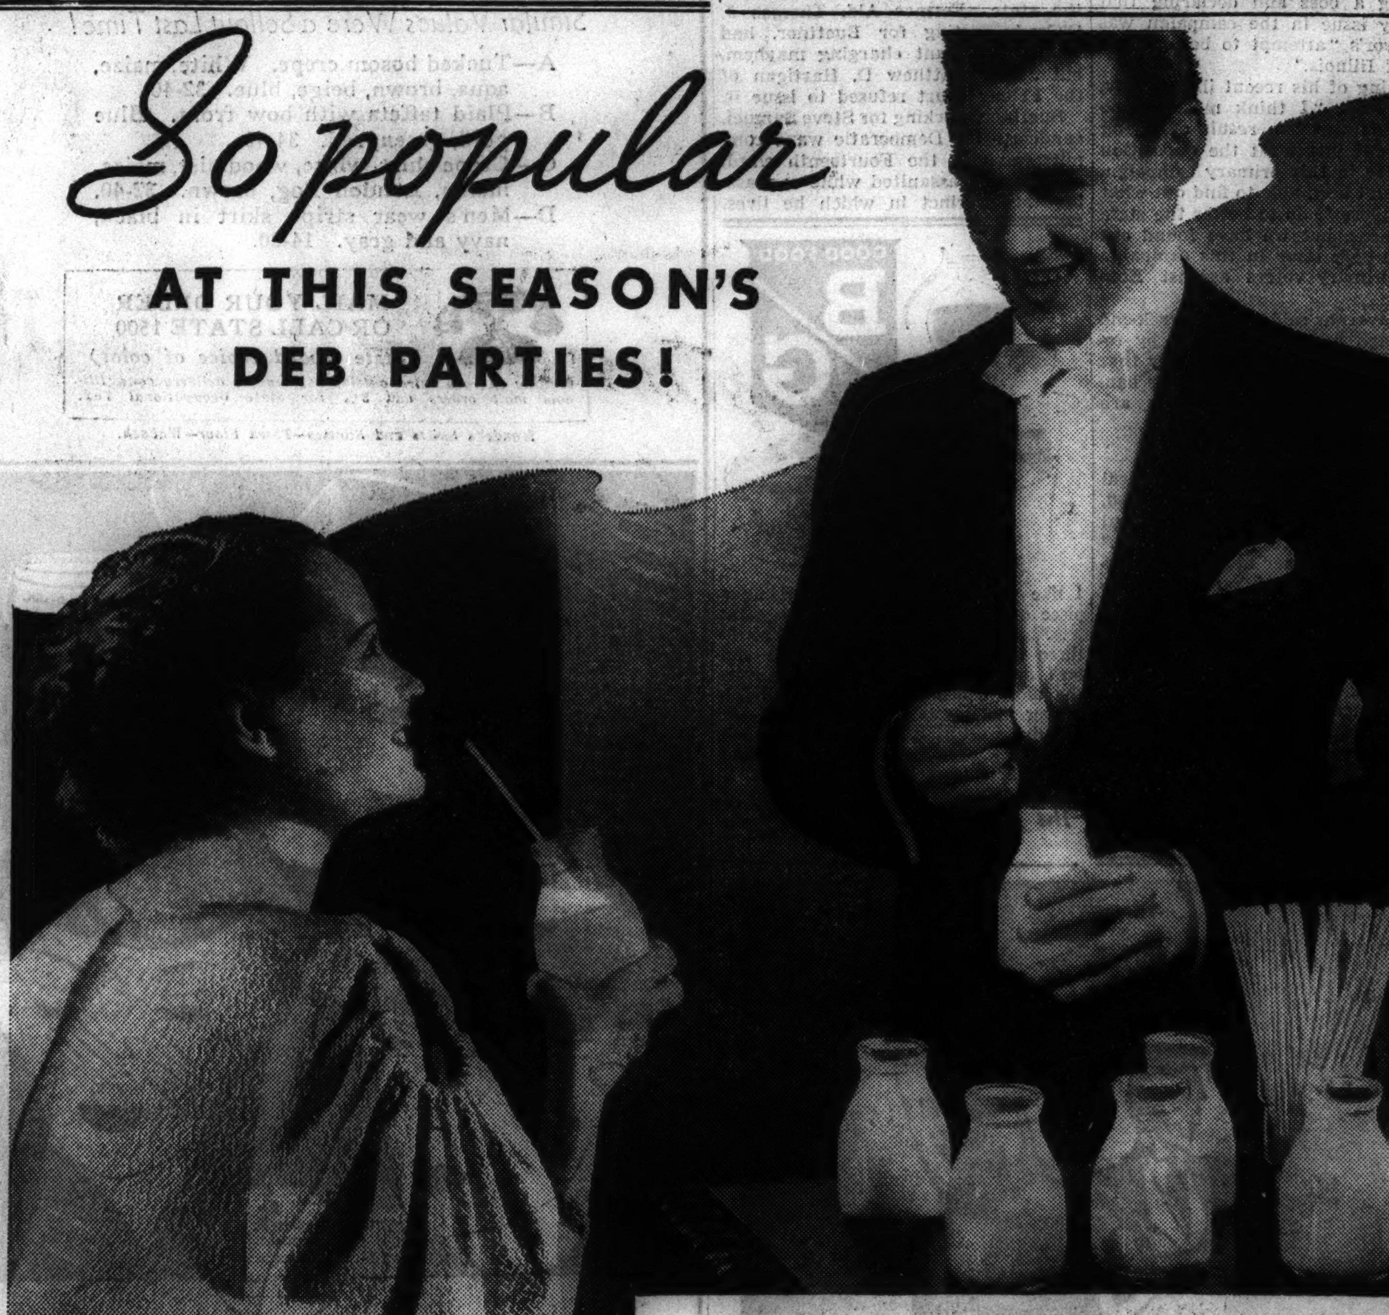
So popular AT THIS SEASON'S DEB PARTIES!



● This season, at many a Chicago debut ball, the guests lined up at a little improvised "milk bar" when the orchestra played "Home Sweet Home."

A bottle of milk has become the smart finale to a gay evening! Reasons: "It's so refreshing" .... "It makes you feel so good" .... "It's sensible."

We all might well take this cue from the dancing generation. A glass of pure, clean milk, like Bowman's, soothes frazzled nerves .... puts one in a mood for sleep. And Bowman's, you know, is the Grade "A" Milk of Superior Flavor, good either warm or cold.

MOTHER OF TWO COLLEGIANS GETS HER OWN DEGREE

Honored by U. of Chicago with 235 Others.

Mrs. Ethel M. Bennett, 52 years old, 9060 Pleasant avenue, Beverly Hills, who has seen college degrees conferred on two of her three children, received one of her own yesterday. She was one of the 236 students at the University of Chicago who were given diplomas at the 183d convocation in the university chapel.

Mrs. Bennett completed an undergraduate course after ten years' work at the downtown branch of the university and received a bachelor of arts degree. She is one of the two women in the university elected this year to Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society. Jean Gillette, 22 years old, 6921 South Michigan avenue, is the other.

Two Children with Degrees.

Mrs. Bennett is the wife of Reid M. Bennett, an official of the Western Electric company. Her son Merrill recently received a degree from Purdue university. Her daughter Charlotte was graduated from the University of Wisconsin. The third child, Reid Jr., 15 years old, is a student at the Morgan Park Military academy.

Another who received a degree yesterday is John R. Richards, an instructor in the state college of Pennsylvania. Richards, who completed a course in the graduate business school of the University of Chicago last quarter, chartered a plane and flew here from Scranton, Pa., to get his degree of doctor of philosophy at the convocation.

Clergyman Receives Degree.

A similar degree was given to the Rev. Serman B. Johnson, tutor at Seabury-Western Theological seminary, Evanston, and priest in charge of Trinity Episcopal church at Belvidere, Boone county.

Of the 236 degrees awarded yesterday, 99 were bachelors of arts and 137 were for higher degrees. The diplomas were handed out by Robert M. Hutchins, president of the university. Dr. Albert W. Palmer, president of the Chicago Theological seminary, delivered the convocation address.

U. S. INCOME TAX PAYMENTS GAIN 46% OVER 1935

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—The treasury reported today that income tax collections for the first 16 days of March amounted to $281,758,032, or a gain of 46.4 per cent over the $192,429,413 in the corresponding period of last year.

Practically all collection districts registered an increase, according to treasury officials who received telegraphic reports from the collectors.

Since the first of the year, the treasury said, $361,428,990 has been collected on the income tax, an increase of 45.6 per cent over the $248,060,132 gathered in for the same period of 1935. Collections for January, 1936, totalled $36,060,989 while last January the figure was $22,320,790, and for February this year $43,609,969, and last year $33,309,929.

Taxers Eye Increase.

The house subcommittee wrestling with the President's proposed 792 million dollar tax program eyed the increased receipts happily for the congressmen are anxious to stay away from any tax of a processing nature that will raise the price of pork chops and bread.

At today's session, the house group looked longingly at the revenue received by universities, colleges and other tax exempt institutions. These institutions, with unestimated millions invested in securities, will escape the dragnet tax on undistributed corporation surpluses and the income tax that will come into play if the funds are distributed.

"We are discussing a plan to levy a tax before the profits are passed out as dividends to the tax exempt institutions," said Chairman Samuel B. Hill [Dem., Wash.], of the subcommittee.

Seeks Data on 2 Problems.

Hill said the committee was seeking additional data before deciding on two other knotty problems.

One of the difficulties presented to the committee arises from the dividends that would be paid out to foreign investors in American stocks. If these were taxed and the dividends paid to Americans were not, it might result in serious diplomatic complications.

A second problem deals with state laws. In many states corporations are prohibited by law from declaring dividends when their capital structures are impaired or they are in receivership. Some states have laws requiring corporations to held certain surpluses in reserve.

50 TO 70 PCT. GAINS REPORTED FROM SOME CITIES ON INCOME TAX

Washington, D. C., March 17.—(AP)—Reports from districts compiled tonight confirmed the treasury's estimate that income tax collections were running considerably ahead of last year.

Against the treasury's estimate of a general 46.4 per cent increase in payments, based on preliminary returns, the following table shows the estimated increases reported to the Associated Press in various districts:

City.	Per cent increase.
San Francisco	40
Kansas City	70
St. Louis	66 2-3
Chicago	30
Cincinnati	74.4
Columbus	40
Boston	20

JURY SELECTED FOR TOUHY TRIAL IN MAIL HOLDUP

Gangster Is Accused in $78,000 Robbery.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 17.—[Special.]—A jury of 10 men and two women was completed today to try Tommy Touhy on a charge of taking part in a depot mail robbery here three years ago.

The jury will be kept in custody of United States deputy marshals during the trial. A thirteenth juror was selected as a precaution against illness of any of the jurors.

The former gangster is on trial for complicity in the $78,000 robbery, facing 10 counts in an indictment, nine charging theft of registered and other mail and the other charging conspiracy. Two counts, charging robbery, were quashed on motion of District Attorney George F. Sullivan.

Points which Touhy's defense will stress are depositions by James Ryan and Frank McKee that Touhy did not participate in the robbery. Ryan and McKee now are serving sentences of 17 years in Alcatraz prison.

Soviet Charges Nails and Needles Fed to Prize Cows

MOSCOW, March 17.—(AP)—The soviet government today accused unnamed persons of sabotage work on milch cows. Needles and nails have been fed, government investigators said, to prize animals to prevent the spread of the Stakhanov movement, intended to increase the milk yield on many collective farms.

SENATE REFUSES FLORIDA CANAL FUNDS INCREASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—The United States senate, by a vote of 39 to 34, today rejected an additional appropriation of 12 million dollars for the unauthorized Florida ship canal which President Roosevelt started with a 5 million dollar relief allocation. The project, if authorized, would commit congress to an ultimate expenditure of 200 million dollars.

A last minute effort by such pacifists in the senate as Lynn J. Frazier, [Rad., N. D.], and Homer T. Bone [Dem., Wash.], prevented final action on the $611,360,000 war department appropriation bill. The pacifists sought to obtain passage of Frazier's amendment prohibiting use of any of the funds for compulsory military training in schools and colleges.

The war department bill, as amended by the senate, increases the strength of the standing army to 165,000 men, incurring an additional expense of $10,894,000 over the house measure, which provided for an army of 147,000 men. The senate made no change in the house appropriation of 41 million dollars for the purchase of 567 military airplanes.

OZARKS' SPRING MAGIC BEGUILES BUS TRAVELER

Farming Villages Awaken to Mellow Call.

learn to be missionaries, working and studying. Cows are browsing in a 90 acre park owned by the evangelist. An old man in overalls, whiskered and with unkempt hair, wanders across the green seeking mullen leaves.

"What are those for?" the traveler asks.

"Well, I could tell you many things about nature if you have the time," said the old man.

"I am a farmer from Iowa," he continued.

"I am a prophet, a man of God. I have reached the highest in a spiritual way. There are only a few hundred in the United States who have gone as far as I have."

"Are you a preacher?" he was asked.

An Offer of Instruction.

"I am preaching to you now. Don't you know God's law? It is nature's law. I was on my way to destruction and I prayed and prayed and now I have freedom, for I know the law. A man of God has no wife, but he needs a companion. Come, you look like a respectable man; come with me and I will teach you. What do you do?"

"I write."

"That is good. It may have sense to it. Do you believe that when a man takes a glass of beer he is bringing destruction on himself as well as spending 10 cents?"

"No, I believe in God, but a man may still have a wife and drink a glass of beer."

"Well, that is enough. If you can't understand that I see you are an inferior man. Good-by."

Away With His Mighty Secret.

"Well, the same to you, but I don't believe you'll have it."

The old man walked away with his mullen leaves and his mighty secret, while the traveler picked up his 12 pound pack and started up the hill. It was a long hill, miles long, and it finally ended by a log cabin chinked with mud where another old man sat on a bench at evening and looked over miles and miles of solitary hills.

"I farmed in the Kaw valley for 50 years," he said. "Then I came up here to rest and I've been here ever since. A fellow can live here for 50 cents a month. We have a garden patch, chickens and pigs. But they talk about soil. I don't see any around here.

How to Plant Corn.

"I planted a patch of corn and it wouldn't grow for me. Some of these fellows said I did it wrong. They told me to take a seed and put it on a rock and put another rock on top of that and it would grow. I thought they were liars, but I guess they was right. I'm going to try it.

"These fellows around here are all Legion boys. They can shoot a bird in the eye at a quarter of a mile. They would sell a cook stove for a rifle.

"Speaking of birds, this has been a powerful dry spring and I see the robins havin' a time getting enough mud for their nests. That's what's the matter with them when you see 'em wanderin' around, distracted like. It'll have to rain pretty soon for them robins. If robins had sense they would find some way to store or hire water."

Requiem Above a Tomb.

Along this summit is an old weed grown cemetery with one outstanding white stone on which the name of Storm O. Whaley is graven. Grandmaster of F. & A. M. of Arkansas, president of Arkansas bankers, member of Arkansas senate, it is written of him: "This highway his dream, its building his effort, the Ozarks his inspiration, advancement his lifetime labor. 1881-1933."

As the sun sinks behind the hills a songbird flits to Storm O. Whaley's tomb and sings a cheerful little requiem.

Then the Bus Comes.

At 7:10 the bus comes along and is soon rattling at what seems like terrific speed over the dark, winding road. It is full of holes, but the driver knows each one. The fields and woods are lit with creeping tongues of flame, for the farmers in this country burn off the weeds every spring. Dust mingles with acrid smoke on this night journey, which ends astonishingly an hour later before the door of a palatial hotel in Rogers. Here is luxury and rest in a $200,000 palace, with frogs' chorus outside the window. Price $2 a night.

In the morning the earth is glistening and fresh, for during the night it rained and the problem of mud for the robins is solved. It is cold and ice has formed in a thin sheet over the ditches, but the birds are going about their business urgently. Boys and girls with books and lunch pails are larking on the way to New Hope school. A dove mourns in a nearby woods. The lark's sweet song arises from every field. A horse and buggy jogs down the road to town. Apple trees are budding.

A New Highway Combination.

At 9:15, five miles from Rogers, a country store and gas station is a good place to rest. This is a new combination which is found along the highway. Groceries, tools, hardware, gas all go together. The proprietor, an ex-farmer, sits by a stove where a hickory log is burning. He is doing very well, he says, with a little gardening on the side.

"Over in that valley," he tells the traveler, "is where old man Coin Harvey lived. He died two weeks back and is buried in a sepulchre right in the middle of town. He was building the great American pyramid, where explorer fellows were to find the remains of our civilization some time when everything else had been destroyed.

"Well, he was a peculiar fellow, but he had some good ideas.

Coin Harvey's Theory.

"He preached that the government should print its own money instead of borrowing from the banks and paying interest. Maybe he was right. Well, it ain't much of a place now. The pyramid base is on bed rock, hexagon shape, about 100 feet across. Maybe Harvey was right. I'm a Republican, but I voted for Roosevelt last time and don't know as I did such a smart thing at that.

"So you come from Gravette. Well, I used to know a fellow near there that kept a hotel. He was drunk most of the time. I went in there one night to get a bed and he wanted to put me in with a full-blooded Indian. He says the Indian is all right and it would be cheaper. The Indian never said a word, but I said he would furnish me a bed or I would go somewhere else.

"Lots of people moving in here now. Land is about $35 on the highway. Fellow from Chicago moving in yonder and we are fixin' to get electric power. They wanted me to sign a bond but I told them my word was as good as theirs."

Town's Towers Come in Sight.

Noon is a time to rest on the lee side of a hill in the sun. A few white clouds are sailing across the blue sky. Fayetteville's towers come in sight in the late afternoon. A farmer by the road says that there is danger of freezing. His soft maple tree is budded and he is troubled about the fate of peaches farther south. This means millions, he says. He tells of a natural gas well that has just come in.

"They tested it and it ran 50 barrels a day," he said. "Then all of a sudden it blew all the dad-gummed tools out and came in 1,000 barrels a day. Don't do some people much good though. I know of a colored family that got rich all of a sudden. They was seven in the family with only an old mule. Well, they soon had seven automobiles and didn't spend a cent on fixin' the house. At Rogers they had a sign in war times that no colored man was to be seen there after sun-down. Then the colored folks over in Boley, Okla., had a sign up that no white folks is to be caught there after sun-down. Yes sir, the colored woman there will fix you up a dinner, but no supper."

In the Hollow of the Hills.

Fayetteville is a city in the hollow of the wide-flung hills. It has a university, a southern Methodist assembly on Mount Sequoyah and a U. S. Veterans' hospital.

People were talking about the suicide of a prominent citizen that day. Left his wife waiting in the auto and just went in and blew his brains out. Life holds those explosions, unpredictable in such a quiet scene.

Six bus lines touch here on three state and two national highways. One runs from Canada to Mexico and another, the "Pine to Palm Route," is 1,800 miles long with a population of 1,202,621 along its route. There are 2,000 students in the university with 2,500 in other schools. There is much that the lady from Boston has not yet seen about this state. And the girl who has learned to "laugh first" may live to laugh last.

Please give me a few details regarding the forthcoming Shakespeare festival at Stratford-on-Avon. B. G.

It will open April 13 and close Sept. 26, and the season's repertoire will be selected from these plays: "Much Ado About Nothing," "Anthony and Cleopatra," "Romeo and Juliet," "Twelfth Night," "Julius Cæsar," "Cymbeline," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "The Merchant of Venice," "King Richard III.," "Troilus and Cressida," "The Winter's Tale," and "King Lear." The Shakespeare Memorial theater at Stratford-on-Avon is one of the world's largest and finest.

How do the airplane passenger fares of today compare with those of five years ago? T. S.

They are, on an average, 27 per cent less. Figures compiled by the United Air Lines show that in 1931 the fare per passenger mile was 7.48 cents, as compared with 5.40 cents in 1936. Along with this reduction there has been a 50 per cent increase in speed.

Where did Columbus make his first landing in the new world, and what is to be seen there today as evidence of it? E. F. C.

San Salvador, in the West Indies, is supposed to have been the place where Columbus first set foot in America. A rock there has a footprint, petrified through the years, which the natives insist is that of the discoverer. The venerable padre there is full of information about the island and Columbus' connection with it.

What and where is Durazzo? L. M.

It is a port of the youthful kingdom of Albania. It was founded as Epiamnus at the close of the 7th century B. C. Quarrels over its ownership led to the Peloponnesian war of 431 B. C. It changed hands many times before Albania was created in 1913.

I have been told that the University of Florida will conduct a Caribbean cruise this summer to study trade practices in the lands bordering on that sea. What can you tell me about it? W. K.

The cruise will be managed by that university's college of business administration, coöperating with the Institute of Inter-American Affairs. It will run from July 4 to Aug. 12 and will take in the West Indies and the northern coast of South America. Dr. W. T. Hicks, assistant professor of economics and marketing, will be the director.

TRAVEL INCREASE EXPECTED WITH SPRING'S ARRIVAL

All Agencies Lined Up for Record Volume.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

Arrival of spring with the equinox next week will be the occasion for announcing greatly enlarged programs for spring and summer travel, both in this country and abroad. Basing their programs on the heavy business done this winter, the steamship, railroad, bus, airline, and travel agencies are getting lined up for a trafic volume that may surpass that of all previous years.

This week, marking the winter's finale, nearly every liner cruising the Caribbean has a capacity list of passengers. The totals are from 35 to 50 per cent higher than those of a year ago, and in a number of cases have reached the 1929 peak. The trafic has been so heavy that 88 ships have been pressed into service for trips this month to the West Indies and South America. The season will reach its climax at Eastertide, when there will be scores of cruises to the nearby islands.

See No Immediate Let-Up.

Chicago officials of one of the lines operating between New York and Bermuda said yesterday that their ships had been crowded for weeks, and that it probably would be mid-spring before there was a let-up. Steamship companies with vessels running between California and New York by way of the Panama canal said they had near capacity and capacity reservations extending well into April.

While the extent of travel in Europe this summer will depend somewhat on how well the Rhineland situation is cleared up by that time, there are no problems in sight for the agencies promoting domestic touring. The new streamlined, air conditioned trains are relied upon to produce a heavy flow of vacationists to all parts of the country. Vacation travel clubs, many of them promoted along the lines of the Christmas saving fund idea, also are expected to increase the volume.

Chicagoans Leave for Voyage.

Among the Chicagoans leaving this week for extended journeys are Mr. and Mrs. Mason Warner. They will start Saturday for Vancouver, where next Wednesday they will board the Aorangi for a five months' tour of Polynesia. En route to Australia they will stop at the Fiji Islands, and on the way home they will visit, among others, Samoa, the Cook Islands, and Tahiti.

The trip is being taken primarily to enable Mr. Warner to gather new material for his series of travel stories in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. He already has made three lengthy tours of the orient and has been to Europe a dozen times.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Tanner and the latter's brother, Franklin Gross, will sail for Europe today on the President Harding. They plan to attend the Grand National steeplechase at Aintree March 27.

Rotary Head Sails Today.

Ed R. Johnson, president of Rotary International, will embark on the Berengaria today with Mrs. Johnson and their children, Ruth and Lucius. Mr. Johnson will attend ten Rotary conferences in England and on the continent. Mrs. E. Klasky of Chicago and Miss Marion Dudley of Madison, Wis., also are to be aboard the Berengaria. Mrs. Richard Wilson of Wheaton and Mrs. Eliza Stone of Milwaukee will take the Ascania tomorrow for England.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Ruskin, Mrs. Nellie B. Chase, and Miss Zerna Sharp, all of Chicago, sailed on the Excambion yesterday for Mediterranean ports.

When the Monarch of Bermuda set out for Bermuda last Saturday with every cabin occupied, it carried Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Adams, the Misses Kyle and Mervyn Adams, Robert M. Adams Jr., Mr. and Mrs. David S. Jennings, Eugene McAvoy, E. J. Doering Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Francis X. Busch, all of Chicago; Mrs. P. M. Cutler and Robert Cutler of Kenilworth, Mrs. George B. Baldwin and Douglas P. Bournique of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith of Lansing, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Panter of Saginaw, Mich.

Others Bermuda Bound.

On the Lady Hawkins, leaving the same day for Bermuda, the Caribbean, and British Guiana, were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harding of Chicago and the Misses Helen M. Burke and C. Burke Boyle of Oak Park.

A large group from Chicago and vicinity set out over the Illinois Central Sunday for New Orleans, where today they will board the Mexique for a cruise through the Gulf of Mexico to Vera Cruz. From that port they will start on a tour to Orizaba, Mexico City, Puebla, Cholulu, Xochimilco, and Cuernavaca.

Included in the party are Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wynne, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Hines, Mrs. Blanche Chapman, Mrs. Cecilia Van Hook, Mrs. D. L. Peltis, Mrs. Charles C. Shepard Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tracy, Mrs. D. McHugh, Miss G. Schnagel, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Metcalf, Mrs. Paralee Travelin, Mrs. Bernard J. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bills, Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Tideman, and Miss Agnes Nelson.

Different because it's alloyed

We don't mean one of those "talking point" differences. We mean a real difference. Alloying Germ Processed oil goes beyond refining and re-refining. After every harmful element is cleaned out, the patented Conoco Germ Processing element is scientifically put IN.

That's what brings you this alloyed oil, with its strange attachment for pistons, cylinders, and all other engine parts—including every known type of bearing. All these parts really become oil-plated!

This oil-plating is extra. It's a plus—added to the tougher, more slippy, heat-beating Germ Processed oil film. You've got this high-durability oil film, sliding on thoroughly oil-plated surfaces, and so you're that much farther from wear and noise.

You're facing hotter days and harder runs. Out with dirty winter oil! Only the Conoco man can change you—quickly—to Germ Processed, the alloyed oil. Continental Oil Company.

NEW JAP CABINET PLATFORM GETS COOL RECEPTION

Called Too Vague by Press of Tokio.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 18.—[Wednesday.]—The declaration of foreign and domestic policy announced by Premier Koki Hirota's new Japanese government met a cool reception today from the nation at large.

Chief criticism of the statement, which declared for a "positive, consistent, and coherent foreign policy" and at the same time an "adequate means of national defense," was that it is too vague.

Japanese language newspapers, commenting editorially, gave the cabinet pronouncement sparse praise. They did not, however, attack the statement too severely. It had been approved by Emperor Hirohito and also by high officials of the army and navy.

Called Disappointing.

The Tokio Asahi observed that the cabinet mentioned no specific policies and made no reference to farm relief.

"In short," the newspaper said, "the statement failed to come up to expectations. Neither government departments nor political parties can approve the statement which is unpopular because it has no straight guiding policy."

Asahi reported that financial circles also are puzzled by the vagueness of the statement.

Plan Tax Reform.

The cabinet communique indicated that taxation and banking reforms are planned in view of "recently unhealthy social trends," which have "pressed heavily upon the livelihood of the people and produced conflicts with the interests of all quarters."

The statement adds, however, that the government will avoid undue haste.

Regarding foreign affairs the cabinet declared:

"Japan desires to promote friendship with foreign powers from the standpoint of international faith and the fulfilment of its mission as a stabilizing power in the far east, based on the existence of prosperity among the nations of Asia, and particularly on the inseparable relations between Japan and Manchukuo."

The "Military" Insertion.

At the request, it is understood, of military leaders, the cabinet then inserted:

"At the same time, in view of the prevailing international situation, the government will endeavor to provide an adequate means of national defense, regulating and expanding all facilities required for this purpose, and will establish a unified diplomatic policy controled by and based on Japan's own needs and aims."

Mrs. Mildred M. Lake, daughter of Charles Harbaugh, 717 Ridgewood drive, Highland Park, wealthy lumberman, was awarded a divorce yesterday in a secret three minute hearing in the chambers of Judge Ralph J. Dady of the Lake county Circuit court, Waukegan. Her husband, Robert S. Lake, traveling salesman, did not contest the proceedings.

Mrs. Lake testified that she and Lake were married Oct. 29, 1927, in Highland Park, and that he deserted her on Jan. 10, 1934. Mrs. Lake was awarded custody of their two children, Robert S. Jr., 7 years old, and Patricia, 5 years old. Mrs. Lake did not ask for alimony, explaining that she was able to support her family herself.

She was represented by Attorney Walter M. Givler.

Schiankel had just stopped his truck when one of the holdup men, with drawn pistol, stepped on the running board. Schiankel leaped out the other side of the truck cab. He was shot by the gunman, who then fled with his companion. Schiankel was taken to St. Mary hospital.

ROBBERY VICTIMS TO VIEW PAROLED CONVICT'S LOOT

A showup of loot recovered after the arrest Sunday of Charles Novak, paroled New York convict, ordered for tomorrow afternoon in the Shakespeare avenue police station, will be held early next week instead, it was announced yesterday by Supervising Captain John Horan. Victims of recent burglaries were invited to attend. The loot, including jewelry, valued at $2,000, was found in Novak's home at 1032 West 48th street and in the home of Miss Mary Sager, 17 years old, 3409 Lituanica avenue, with whom Novak had been living for several days before his arrest.

Novak said he disposed of some of his loot to Alex R. Junievicz, owner of a jewelry store at 3317 South Halsted street, and some articles from the store will be taken to the showup.

Frederick G. Kaeding, 54 years old, 5011 North Major avenue, head of a textile manufacturing company, who was shot and wounded by Novak Sunday night, was reported to be recovering in the Swedish Covenant hospital yesterday.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

Turkeys in Brine.

March 17, 1936.

EXPERIMENTERS in curing meats have branched out into a new field by trying their luck in curing and smoking turkeys on the Tribune Wheaton experimental farm. The birds are being handled according to John Schmidt's method, which was described in detail in this column on Feb. 20.

Three turkeys, a gobbler and two hens, were selected for the test. The gobbler, hatched last July, weighed 18 pounds. One of the hens weighed 11 pounds and the other 8½ pounds. These selections made it possible to apply the test to birds of different sizes.

Since last Friday, when the birds were killed and dressed, they have been kept covered with brine. Next Friday they will be taken out of the brine and hung up in the smokehouse. An effort will be made to smoke the turkeys along with the Virginia cured hams and bacon, but they will be swung closer to the fire than the hams because the turkey meat requires more heat. Mr. Schmidt recommends smoking them in heat of from 90 to 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

By this time next week the smoked turkeys with their tantalizing old hickory aroma will be ready for the table test.

Today hams that are being cured in old Virginia style were taken out of the brine, wiped dry, and hunk in the smokehouse. They will be smoked with the bacon slabs that were taken out of the brine about two weeks ago.

The experimenters at the Wheaton farm want others to send in letters telling what luck they have in curing hams and bacon Virginia style and also reports of their success in smoking turkey according to Mr. Schmidt's method.

Spring in Poultry Yard.

Spring is in the air at the Wheaton farm, where turkeys are mating and the Muscovy ducks are building their nests preparing to lay their first clutch of eggs.

The poultry keeper plans to move the Muscovies to the duck pond as soon as the ice is gone. "Ice pans" are still floating on the ponds and a lake at the farm. Yesterday the men at the farm estimated that the ice in the middle of the pond is about a foot thick. It has melted around the edges but there has been little rain to help melt and break it up.

Winter Aftermath.

With practically all of the snow gone gardeners at the Wheaton farm have been able to make a more complete survey this week of the damage caused by field mice and rabbits in the shrubbery borders and among young trees. They have found about twenty-five catalpa trees along Roosevelt and Warrenville roads girded by field mice working under the deep snow during the winter. The bark has been gnawed off by the mice a few inches above the ground. Many of the trees are expected to die.

HOBSON'S CHOICE.

In the past the stock market has usually given an accurate reflection of the business outlook. A sustained rise has regularly been a forerunner of improved business prospects. A falling market has faithfully foretold recession.

Stock prices now, despite the unsettlement due to the war scare, are close to the maximum in a four and one-half year record. This level was attained after a rise which began shortly after the Supreme court invalidated the National Recovery act. The advance in stock prices has been the consequence in part of the improvement in business profits. The United States has been participating in a world-wide recovery in business, in which other countries following conventional economic policies have benefited more than we have. But American corporations have participated. Profits of 895 leading corporations increased by 47 per cent last year. Dividends in the first two months of 1936 amounted to 456 million dollars, compared with 280 millions a year ago.

But it is perfectly clear that the impelling force in the bull market has been something besides increased profits and improved near-term prospects. Stocks have been rising because of buying by investors who in the past have spurned the stock market. Those who ask of an investment only that it bring a regular and certain income, however small it may be, have disposed of considerable portions of their conservative holdings and purchased speculative stocks. Such investors know full well that the purchase of stocks is always attended with the risk of heavy loss. They have weighed this risk against other risks, and have chosen the ownership of speculative stocks as offering the lesser prospect of loss. They are seeking to avoid the consequences of the great American inflation.

Hedging against inflation is one of the strongest factors in the current stock market. Institutions, trusts, hospitals, associations, and wealthy individuals have been driven to this extremity. For two years trustees and beneficiaries under trusts have been appearing in courts asking authority to buy common stocks. Universities which are able to operate only because of the return received from their endowment funds have been converting considerable amounts from fixed-term securities into equities. The trustees of Leland Stanford university were only recently authorized by a California court to take this action to protect the principal of that university's endowment. And at about the same time it was disclosed that a considerable part of the endowment funds of Northwestern university and the University of Chicago are in common stocks.

And what is even more convincing has just come to light. If any organization should be able to understand the present emergency and know what to do about it, it is the American Economic association. Formed in 1885, that organization has accumulated a tidy little nest egg as a reserve against adversities. During the depression its funds, invested in conservative bonds, were so wisely employed as to escape loss of principal or interest. With the threat of inflation a new problem was presented. It has just been disclosed that the association has met the problem by converting practically the whole of its reserves from conservative fixed investments into a diversified list of common stocks.

Some of the persons who talk about inflation may be thought to be unduly alarmed. The officers of the American Economic association and the trustees of universities, hospitals, and other personal trusts must know what they are doing. Their preparations for the coming inflation are frightening.

The threat of inflation is one of the doings of the Roosevelt administration. Its wasteful expenditure of funds far in excess of income, in pursuit of the will-o'-the-wisp, has given banks excess reserves which enable them now to lend 30 billion dollars. Scarcely a week goes by without some new offering of bonds or short term notes. Every issue of these bonds makes the inflation more certain and carries further the limit to which inflation can go. No nation has ever embarked upon the path of inflation without destroying its money and its middle class. The wealthy and institutional investors do not feel justified in wagering upon the success of this government in attaining what experience shows to be impossible. The financially wise will take care of themselves in any case. But people of moderate means, with small reserves which cannot be diversified, and scant investment experience, are in no position to take care of themselves. In increasing numbers they have gone into the market seeking the kind of protection wealthy men provide for themselves. Their activity is reflected in the crowds watching the transflux and the high turnover and soaring quotations on cats and dogs.

In the coming inflation the owner of the right securities will escape if not unscathed, then not fatally wounded. But the common man can't own enough of the right securities. Thus he will be the one to suffer, just as the middle class bore the brunt of inflation in Germany, in Russia, and elsewhere. The Roosevelt inflation makes the common man's loss inevitable. If he doesn't rush into the market the government will shear him of his savings by the depreciation of his money. And if he goes into the market he will in all probability be shorn, as he always has been. Under the old order a man could elect whether to keep his money or lose it. Under the New Deal he has only a choice of methods for losing his money.

AID AND COMFORT TO THE ENEMY.

Citizens have noted with deep regret in recent weeks the tendency of some of the Republican candidates for the presidential nomination to snipe at each other. That kind of thing has been usual, of course, as we have approached previous nominating conventions. One man will seek to advance himself by pushing his rivals back. Sometimes this process has led to the selection of the second or third best candidate.

Men whose ambition is a powerful driving force find it difficult, often, to resist playing politics in this fashion, but the temptation should be resisted this year as never before. A tactic which in ordinary times might be merely reprehensible evidences this year a willingness to sacrifice the welfare of the country itself for selfish ends. The candidate who will adopt such tactics is a living advertisment of his own lack of devotion to the cause which he professes to serve and therefore of his own unfitness for the office he seeks.

The outlook for ridding the country of the New Deal rascals is excellent, as the Literary Digest and other polls have disclosed, but the fight will be a hard one and it is altogether possible that a small block of votes in one or another of the critical states will turn the balance. Under these circumstances it is of greatest importance that the Republican candidates themselves do nothing to alienate any of the support which the party might otherwise receive. One of them is going to receive the nomination. He will be attacked with all the bitterness, all the calumny, all of the innuendo that the Democratic smearing brigade can improvise. The Republican candidates today have plenty to say from the platform without offering aid and comfort to the enemy.

A Republican candidate who cannot put a quietus on his ambitions at so critical a time as this, who cannot see that the common good demands something more of him this year than it ever has previously in his public career, has given ample proof of his unfitness for the nomination.

MR. WILLIAMS SPILLS THE BEANS.

Mr. Hopkins, who piously swears daily that there is no politics in relief, is the ostensible boss of Walter W. Williams, the WPA boss for downstate Illinois. Mr. Williams, we suspect, is becoming an acute pain to Mr. Hopkins. He not only spills the beans; he boasts about it afterward.

Mr. Hopkins fired two of Mr. Williams' WPA superintendents for soliciting campaign funds from project employés. Mr. Williams states publicly that he considers this too drastic.

"You have to have money to finance a campaign," he says. "That's clear. And there are only two ways for a party to get it—either by dishonestly using public funds or by solicitation."

Since he has refrained from employing the first of his methods, Mr. Williams maintains, he at the very least ought to be allowed to shake down his help.

"In an election year," continues Mr. Williams, "there's bound to be criticism, but I'm damned if I'm going to pay people to work for me who are critical!"

The Republicans of Illinois ought to be very grateful for Mr. Williams. After what he has said, for Mr. Roosevelt or any one else to maintain that the $4,000,000,000 works fund isn't being used to buy the election will be pure impudence.

Editorial of the Day

OTIS F. GLENN.

[Danville, Ill., Commercial-News.]

The coming to Danville Wednesday night of Otis F. Glenn, former United States senator, in the interests of his campaign for the Republican nomination for that post, recalls that eventful Democratic landslide in 1932 when he was swept out of office by his opponent, Senator Dieterich, by less than 200,000 votes.

Senator Glenn in his first term had already been recognized in Washington as an able representative of not only his Illinois constituency, but of the American taxpayer as well. He had risen to national fame by his leadership of the fight to place Charles Evans Hughes on the United States Supreme bench as chief justice and by his spirited opposition to the appointment of Judge Parker to the high court, an opposition that won him the indorsement of organized labor over the country.

His sound and progressive measures in the interests of labor, for the just treatment of the veterans of all wars and for an adequate national defense stamped him as a coming leader in national affairs. His attitude toward American interference in foreign affairs, his opposition against entry of this country into the league of nations and the world court and the cancelation of the foreign war debts revealed him as the champion of America for Americans.

The lowly taxpayer had begun to look to him for relief and for a drastic reduction of the operating cost of government. From the floor of the senate he vigorously attacked the rising cost of government and the interference of the federal government in business and industry and the words he uttered then are as important today as they were at that time:

"The great and growing army of federal employés, all functioning at the expense of the overburdened, the almost destroyed taxpayers, must be stopped. The time will come—it will not come at this session, but it will come—when we return to Illinois, to California, to Maine, to the states of the south, and all over the country, and learn of their disasters, of their sorrows, of their bankruptcies, and we will come back here—chastened in spirit, not in the same attitude of mind we are in now, but fresh from the people who pay the taxes, bankrupt and homeless, hungry and starving. Then and only then, I predict, will the American congress do that which is so plainly its imperative and pressing duty, cut off these expenses, abolish commissions, bureaus, and the other activities which we can abolish, and go back to the primary functions of the federal government. There will then be some hope in America for industry and for business and for the individual."

A NEWS ITEM SAYS that the American Society of Gourmets acclaim sweetbreads à la Sam Blythe the king of the savory dishes. Then we certainly must be getting back to prosperity if we're talking about eating sweetbreads again. I used to be very fond of 'em, but the last few years I had an idea that sweetbreads were only used for settings in expensive rings or in brooches. I thought I saw a socialite with a sweetbread tiara at the opera last season, but I may have been mistaken. But the fact that the sweetbreads were eaten by the American Society of Gourmets would take away the impression that sweetbreads are becoming common, everyday food again. The Society of Gourmets are millionaires who could order a dish of humming birds' tongues and broiled manna if they wanted to. Why, those fellows could even afford to serve lamb chops at their annual dinner. So the fact that they're dining off sweetbreads doesn't mean nothing yet. And, besides, they can say what they want to—sweetbreads is not the king of savory dishes. No, sir. The king of all savory dishes is likker an' cohn pone.

TWO SONNETS FOR K.

IX.

Now let us, like the muted revelers,
Pass from this place and go our different ways,
Seeing the farce at end, the worshipers
Of love no more, and deaf to words of praise;
Love's mansion is of sound and magic made,
Her wine is water, and her bread is lime;
So must we part, seeing how the phantoms fade,
You to your thoughts and I to bootless rhyme.
Yet go not bitterly from me, as one
Whose pride is shaken by a fallen trust;
We were so very wise that love had done,
That knows no wisdom, and our fall was just;
Bear me no moment's malice, but recall
Only the best, should you look back at all.

X.

Ah well, but shall we sit complacently
Before our fires in winter, and in spring
Not hear the scented south-wind murmuring
Of timeless nights and infinite ecstasy?
Shall spring and summer part and cease to be,
And fiery autumn like a driven king
Pass us and perish, bringing not a thing
Save only days of Age's certainty?
Go seek you a new lover when your heart
Grows restless deep in April days again;
You will be golden in the eyes of men
And swift and sure the triumph of your art.
Not mine will be the song and laughter then,
Nor mine the aching sorrow when you part.

At the same time at Vassar college the girls announced the formation of an auxiliary society, the Gold Star Mothers of Veterans of Future Wars. Yes, but some of the Veterans of Future Wars may desert the colors or throw bricks at the colonel's dog or fail to salute a second lieutenant or not wear caps at a proper angle and have to be court martialed and shot at sunrise. Naturally these military crimes should be punished at once. Do we have to send the firing squad to Princeton at once? It looks that way.

I know the spring is here again—
For on dry spots of ground,
Wherever marbles may be played,
Small boys are gathered round.

When every inch is scraped and smooth,
Encircling bounds and tees
Are gauged with squints and thumbing plots
On eager, tense bent knees.

There sounds the din of sage advice,
The sporting "don'ts and dos,"
With shooters warned they must not fudge,
To buck up when they lose.

I know the spring is here again—
Despite the snow-flecked day
A gang is yodeling from each spot,
"Yo-ho! A game, kids! Hey!"

HYDROCHLORIC ACID AND ASTHMA.

During the last few years the medical attack upon bronchial asthma has undergone radical changes and we now look upon the disorder as a manifestation of an allergic reaction. Whenever the cause can be traced to a single substance and the material removed from contact with the patient, spectacular results follow in many cases. As soon as the symptoms assert themselves an attempt should be made to discover the particular article to which the individual is sensitive.

There are so many substances that can bring on asthmatic symptoms that the greatest difficulty is sometimes encountered in identifying the offender. For example, a patient may choke up with symptoms of asthma in one residence, whereas a change to another part of the city will lead to prompt recovery. On a careful check of each location a different sort of dust will probably be found. In other words, the irritating elements in the first house are not found in the second.

All types of domestic animals, perfumes, smoke, plants, face powders, upholstering, window hangings, and bed coverings must be considered. If symptoms are observed soon after a meal they can often be traced to a certain food, while seasonal asthma may be caused by pollens or foods plentiful at that time of the year.

Although the search for the causative factor may be instituted at once, a routine physical examination should not be neglected. We must not forget that pus within the patient's own body can give rise to symptoms unassociated with infection. Disease of the sinuses or of the colon, or infection about the teeth, tonsils, etc., must be investigated.

A list of drugs that have been recommended for this affliction would fill a sizable volume. Most of them are employed for the purpose of affording temporary relief; to relax the spasms of the smaller bronchial tubes and thus permit the natural flow of air to and from the lungs. Not infrequently the attacks are so severe that adrenalin or even more powerful drugs will need to be administered.

U. Giles reports the case of an asthmatic who had been under constant medical supervision for many years. The sinuses had been drained and it had been found necessary to resort to adrenalin, morphine, and other drugs to give the patient even the slightest relief. Except when under the control of narcotics, daily attacks occurred. Vaccines prepared from substances to which she was mildly sensitive—and there were many—were without effect.

At this juncture the intravenous use of hydrochloric acid was suggested and the initial dose was 10 cubic centimeters of a 1 to 1,500 solution. This was repeated on the following day, with the result that the frequency of the paroxysms was greatly diminished. During the next nine days there were only occasional spells, each of which was easily controled by a small dose of adrenalin.

Three weeks later asthmatic symptoms returned in full force and another injection of hydrochloric acid was followed by four days of relief. For the next two months periods of relative comfort followed the use of this acid, the strength of which was increased one-third. During a siege of influenza the old sinus infection became active, with a return of asthma. Acid was then given on five successive days, with subsequent freedom from symptoms.

Altogether, Giles reports marked improvement in 11 of 17 cases thus treated. Of the 11 patients, nine had been under expert medical care for several years without benefit. In a second group of cases, however, in only 2 out of 25 was the acid régime successful. He concludes that whenever bronchial asthma can be traced to infection [bacteria] within the body, hydrochloric acid offers a remedy worthy of trial. It is without value, however, whenever foods or external causes are responsible. Giles observed no harmful effects to the injections of the acid in the quantities employed.

"OLD DISEASES."

J. B. C. writes: 1. What has become of the old disease caused by eating pork that was not properly cooked, about which the doctors used to warn people, and called, I believe, trichina?

2. Also, I never hear any more about catarrh of this or that part of the system. Can it be possible that this, too, has been eradicated by science?

REPLY.

1. Trichinosis is the name of a disease caused by eating diseased pork, in which the immature trichina spiralis worms lodge in the muscles. This parasite is killed by thorough cooking of pork. Public health officers are constantly on the watch for the disease. Consequently it is not so prevalent as it once was. But people still have it.

2. Catarrh is now recognized as a symptom and not a disease. The term is used to describe a state of irritation of the mucous membranes, particularly those of the air passages, associated with a copious secretion of mucus. It may also be applied to the stomach, the intestines, the bladder, and to other mucous surfaces.

DINITROPHENOL.

Mrs. L. M. C. writes: I have had read to me from time to time items from your column warning of the danger of using dinitrophenol for reducing. I wish you would make it strong enough so that no one would ever use this poison. I am a victim of "dinite" through hearing its wonderful properties extolled on a broadcast. I now have dinitrophenol cataracts on both eyes. I have been an active business woman.

REPLY.

Mention has been made in this column of the danger that lurks in many of the reducing drugs. There is but one safe and sane way to reduce and that is to take less food and burn up the excess fat through exercise. Reports of cataracts following the use of dinitrophenol continue to come in. The situation of some of these victims is deplorable.

SKULL FRACTURE.

Q. V. C. writes: 1. Does a person ever recover from paralysis caused by a skull fracture?

2. If so, how long does it take?

REPLY.

1. Yes.

2. Much depends upon the extent of the injury to the brain, and upon proper treatment at the time. Pressure paralysis may often be relieved by the removal of a segment of bone. If the condition has existed for many months, recovery is less likely.

From Across the Sea

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NANKING, China.—Dictator Chiang Kai-shek is rushing to scheduled completion in May a 740 mile trunkline railway from Hankow to Canton, which, to use a shopworn expression, "may change the destiny of Asia."

Whether Dictator Chiang will be permitted to connect the rails and run the first train between the Yangtze valley and the southern Chinese metropolis remains to be seen. The Japanese army regards the project with great suspicion, considering it a sinister attempt to link up the Yangtze valley with the British colonial sphere centered in Hongkong.

Completion of the Canton-Hankow railway might be regarded as of equal importance to the American effort to drive the first railroad through to the Pacific coast in the middle of the last century. In the case of the Canton-Hankow line, Chinese leaders hope it will lead to a consolidation of political and economic strength, enabling them to withstand Japanese pressure in the north. And if Japan seizes northern and central ports, the Chinese hope to be able to maintain an outlet to the sea in the south at Canton—located behind the British fortified base at Hongkong.

The Chinese have been working under high pressure, but without much noise, on this railway link for more than a year. It is believed thousands of laborers have been forced to work for only their food and clothing. For several months unemployed men have been rounded up in the cities and sent under armed guard to the mountains of southern Hunan, where tunnels are being bored and bridges constructed under twenty-four hour shifts.

Money to finance the Canton-Hankow line, amounting to $17,500,000 United States currency, or about $60,000,000 Chinese, was raised on a loan for £3,500,000 against the British share of the Boxer indemnity. The British interest went deeper, specifying that all materials must be purchased in England. Within recent weeks the British have landed ten modern type locomotives at Shanghai, with four more still to come. The last American locomotives were sold to China about fifteen years ago, for use on the Peiping-Suiyuan railway, now controled by the Japanese. British firms will supply all passenger and freight rolling stock and most of the rails, bridge materials, and construction machinery.

No American firm supplies so much as a single spike, despite the fact that the original concession for the construction of the line was granted to the American China Development company just thirty-eight years ago. In addition, the Americans were authorized to inaugurate and operate an engineering school for the training of Chinese railwaymen. The company was authorized to construct branches and sidings bringing the total mileage to 918.

But the Americans put over a smart financial deal by selling the bonds at a considerable profit to a Belgian concern which, it was discovered later, was a dummy for British interests which didn't want Americans to build a railway in Hongkong's back yard. When the Chinese found out that the American company had secretly sold out they raised a row and finally paid the American China Development corporation $6,750,000 gold for its rights and interests. Then the Chinese government had to buy back the bonds sold to the Belgians.

The worst part was that construction was permitted to lag for more than a third of a century, only to be taken up in earnest last year by the Nanking government. Local Chinese provincial interests had slowly extended the two ends of the line. The most difficult middle section, through the mountains of southern Hunan, about 150 miles in length, now is being completed.

The region along the railroad is rich agriculturally and in minerals, particularly coal and iron and antimony. Politically the linking of Canton and the northern Chinese will be important. China's interest in the completion of the road was indicated a few days ago when it was found that the original loan was insufficient owing to the heavy cost of tunnels and bridges. Chinese bankers quickly financed another bond issue of $40,000,000 [U. S. exchange] for the purpose.

TERMS OF WILL.

Elgin, Ill., March 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In 1926 my father had a will made leaving my stepmother his estate, the remainder to go to me in case of her death. She was not pleased, so [1] tore up the will and brought much pressure to bear [2] until he finally signed a joint deed with her, she promising to carry out his wishes. My father died in 1932. I made no investigation at that time, knowing of their agreement. She died in 1936 leaving a will in favor of a brother, a niece, a grandniece, and a cousin on her side, also two brothers, one sister, and a granddaughter and myself, all to share equally after bills are paid. Will was signed by herself and two witnesses. 3. Those of my father's family wish to sign off in my behalf. There are several witnesses who know he was relying on her promise or he would never have signed a joint deed.

R. H. S.

1. We assume that you mean that she did this before his death.

2. Apparently he acquiesced in the destruction of the will. Obviously he could have replaced it with a new will if he had so desired. Your chances of setting aside the deed would depend upon your proof as to undue influence and as to the promises.

3. We advise you to go over your evidence in a personal interview with an attorney.

There is a brother here in Chicago who has gotten some things from our stepfather, and the stepfather moved, saying not a word to me. It seems quite plain he doesn't want me to have anything. Besides the furniture and her personal belongings [2] he received $1,000 insurance. H. W.

2. If he was named as beneficiary in the policy, this has nothing to do with the probate proceedings or with the distribution of the assets of the estate.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Oxford, O., March 15.—One thing that we have fought for in the United States is the advancement of civil service, and through the last fifty years the march of merit has gone steadily forward. But this march has been halted. Lawrence Sullivan in the Atlantic Monthly tells us that "in 1884 only 10.5 per cent of those in executive civil service were under statutory merit regulations. By 1904 this percentage had increased to 51.2. Woodrow Wilson increased it to 67.2, Mr. Coolidge to 74.8, and Mr. Hoover to 80.8." But by 1935 it dropped back to 57—the same ratio as 1906. This is indeed an unfortunate retrogression, for civil service is the only way to secure the best men for governmental positions.

Mr. Roosevelt added 234,193 employes to the administration, but not more than one in a hundred has been bothered by merit requirements. The cry is "emergency," but Wilson during the emergency of the war added 300,000 in one year to civil service.

Landon hit the nail on the head when he said, "The time has come to end this political debauch. The merit system must be restored, expanded, and improved. . . ." Roosevelt himself said in his address to the Young Democrats' convention at Milwaukee, "Mere party membership and loyalty can no longer be the exclusive test." But under this administration civil service received a great setback.

The famous American spoils system has debased American politics for many years. Civil service is a too important thing to be halted by political spoilsmen.

HISTORY OF A PAVEMENT.

Chicago, March 13.—Last fall our street was torn up to make way for WPA resurfacing. Winter came along and we put up with the inconvenience of a torn street. A couple of weeks ago the street department dug up a neighbor's front yard in an unsuccessful attempt to repair a frozen water pipe. Last week the WPA finally resurfaced our street and every neighbor rejoiced in the knowledge that we had many years to go before we would be troubled with holes in the street. The improvement to the property was also appreciated, but today the water department of the city is calmly out there digging holes in this new street, each hole about six feet by five feet. They have come back to see if they can fix the frozen water pipes.

WITH A SMILE.

Chicago, March 12.—This morning as I went to see if THE TRIBUNE had been delivered yet, the paper boy was just getting ready to toss it on the porch. Seeing me, he ran up the stairs and politely handed it to me. Not only that, but he had a nice, cheerful smile. That is service.

MRS. J. HEEKINS JR.

JOBS IN THE MAKING.

Chicago, March 14.—The observation of Mr. F. Parker about a new process for the production of steel, by the use of which six men can do what 200 did before, should be followed through to appreciate the value of the invention. Mr. Parker can see an advantage only for the owners of the equipment. He would be right if they make steel for their own use; but they don't. If the new process will enable, for instance, engineers to design houses built with steel to cost very much less than with other materials, five or ten houses might be contracted for where one is now. Therefore, instead of "throwing 194 men out of work," the new equipment might well result in employing 10 men in the building industry where one is employed now.

We won't get into the fallacious notion argued so vociferously by the technocrats if we keep in mind that production is not for the sole benefit of the producer, but rather the consumer is the fellow we must think of if we are to consider the effect of improved processes in production intelligently.

In 1904 automobiles sold for around $5,000 each, and very few people were employed in the industry. Why? Because very few people could pay that amount for an automobile. As improved processes and more efficient equipment were introduced which "threw men out of work" the price was gradually reduced so that 600 to 700 times as many autos were sold as before. The auto industry today, in consequence, employs at least 500 times as many people as it did in 1904, when there were less than 5,000 autos in use in the United States. The buyers and users of autos employ those people; the manufacturers merely fill the orders.

Chicago, March 14.—I'm surely glad to know that Walter Williams is paying the WPA workers under him. I had been just dumb enough to think that Republicans as well as Democrats were to be taxed to pay them, and that they were working for the people, who, Lincoln said, were the government.

Of course if Mr. Williams and other WPA directors are paying the men, they've a right to discharge them if they don't come across and do as he wishes. Unless he is, he has no right to solicit funds from them.

Unhappily the Republican party has no WPA workers to solicit funds from. And no five billion dollars to buy votes with, either.

The interview should be reprinted on the front page with his statement, "I'm damned if I'm going to pay people to work for me who are critical," in the biggest letters you can find.

LASH NEW DEAL FOR PERILING U.S. TRADE IN CHINA

Fear 'Weak' Stand Will Give Japanese Control.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, March 17.—Americans in the northern Chinese provinces, many of whom as children of pioneer missionaries went through the dangers of the Boxer rebellion, are unable to understand the attitude of the Roosevelt administration on the North China issue. Most of them, asked what they think of present Washington policy, come back with the question, "Please tell us what the Washington policy is?"

If the group is one of business men one hears expressions containing the words "withdrawal," "retreat," "defeatist," "scuttle." If the group is one of missionaries the expressions are more moderate but none the less filled with deep concern over the outlook of what are generally referred to as American "interests" in North China.

It is generally agreed that $50,000,000 of American capital investments in this section of China are likely to be adversely affected in the event of a Sino-Japanese clash resulting in Japanese political and economic control. The investment is about equally divided between business and educational-religious-cultural institutions. It is a common saying that Americans put back into China as much if not more than their business men take out in profits.

Effect on Education.

Consensus is that Japanese political domination would have an immediately adverse effect on educational institutions which cater to Chinese students. In Manchuria all colleges and universities were closed immediately after the Japanese occupation and only one, a normal school in Hsinking, capital of Manchukuo, has been permitted to reopen.

Capital investment in six American operated institutions in North China, mostly from American sources, exceeds $20,000,000. There also are large numbers of primary and middle schools operated in various parts of the interior districts of the northern provinces, the total investment in which is not known but is considerable.

Hospitals Operated by U. S.

Another noncommercial enterprise of American citizens in North China is the operation of hospitals, the most important of which is the Peking Union Medical college, one of the world's leading scientific institutions for the study of human ailments. It was established about twenty years ago and is still supported by the Rockefeller foundation.

There are several other hospitals operated by missionary bodies in various parts of North China, one of a pioneering nature being located in Kalgan on the border of Mongolia. It is operated by the Seventh Day Adventists and was the first institution to introduce modern medical science to the primitive Mongolian and other peoples on China's northwestern frontier.

1,300 U. S. Citizens.

American enterprises in North China, commercial and noncommercial, are managed by some 1,300 American citizens, most of whom reside in Tientsin and Peiping.

These rank and file American citizens, business and professional men, missionaries, doctors, oil and cigaret salesmen, and motorcar dealers resent the term "imperialist", which some congressmen recently hurled at them.

A banker, manager of the North China branch of a leading New York financial institution, called attention to the closure of the branches of his institution in Manchuria as an indication of what is likely to happen when Japanese political influence begins to operate here.

The "Open Door" Policy.

Amercan business men, professors in mission colleges, and buyers of Chinese products declare they came to China to engage in their enterprises under certain established rules and regulations which, grouped together became known as the "open door" method of doing business.

New Deal declarations, exploited in the vernacular newspapers, have created the impression that the once powerful American nation has become senile and ashamed to hold up its head. American citizens with a long and honorable record of constructive achievement in the orient, who have never participated in the European game of grab, are nevertheless being told that their activities are a potent source of war, and that they can receive no protection against expanding Japan, despite the existence of treaties which had been fostered and once supported by the United States.

SECOND MAN IN 'BABY DOLL' CASE TELLS OF THREAT

Falsely Accused in Mother's Plot.

DORCHESTER, New Brunswick, March 17.—(AP)—A mild mannered freight clerk told a jury today that Mrs. May Bannister, charged with kidnaping the baby of the murdered Philip Lake, once threatened to shoot him after accusing him of "a very rash act with Marie," her 13 year old daughter.

The clerk, Albert Powell, is one of the two men from whom the crown claims Mrs. Bannister tried to extort money by appearing with a doll to make it appear she had a child. The other man, Milton Trites, second hand dealer at Moncton, formerly employed Mrs. Bannister as housekeeper.

Powell, who also engaged in social service work, said he often had gone to the Bannister home to hold "prayer meetings" and "Sunday school services."

Stood His Ground.

The witness said, "I stood my ground because I was an innocent man," when Mrs. Bannister told him Marie was going to have a baby and that he was going to be responsible for its upkeep.

"Then she was sorry," he testified, "and said she had spoken too severely."

Powell said he never had seen Mrs. Bannister with the doll.

Leonard Hachey, another witness, however, testified he saw the accused on Christmas eve and asked her what she had in a large blue bundle.

"She told me she had a baby," the witness testified.

"Did you make any reply?" Crown Counsel P. J. Hughes asked.

"I think I said I was surprised at her."

Linked to 3 Murders.

Trites, whom the prosecution paints as the middle aged lover in the most fantastic case this province has known, testified that he never had seen Mrs. Bannister carry the doll about the streets of Moncton.

Attempts failed today to have the doll, found in Mrs. Bannister's house, admitted in evidence, as well as a "mama" squeak which she was said to have ripped out of the doll to prevent an exposé of the ruse.

The prosecution also charges that in order to exhibit a real baby Mrs. Bannister arranged a plot which led to the death of Philip Lake, his common law wife, Bertha, and their elder child; the burning of their home at Pacific Junction, and the kidnaping of their 4 month old child Betty. A son, Arthur Bannister, has been convicted of Lake's murder and charges are pending against his brother Daniel, 19, and his sister Frances, 15.

The net paid circulation of the Sunday Tribune last month was in excess of 1,050,000. This was over 65,000 more than during February, 1935.

More people are reading the Sunday Tribune because it is giving them more for their money.

BUSINESS SHIRKS AIDING JOBLESS, SAYS O'CONNOR

Addresses Irish Club on St. Patrick's Day.

Charges that political opponents of the New Deal are using the "meanest tactics," and that "business has not done its share to abolish unemployment," were made last evening by Congressman John J. O'Connor of New York at the 35th annual banquet of the Irish Fellowship club in the Palmer house.

Traditionally the dinner is the focal point for Chicago festivities in celebration of St. Patrick's day. Congressman O'Connor, however, passed over this phase of the occasion and plunged into a discussion of national political issues.

Deplores Radio Criticism.

"We have been told over the radio and in the press that fascism, socialism, and other isms have gained a strong foothold among the people of the United States," he said. "In my estimation this is playing politics with misery." This he termed the "meanest tactics."

Without referring directly to his recent antagonist, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit priest and radio commentator, the congressman continued:

"Some of the organizations which are rousing our people who have gone through a long period of financial stress are backed by the industrialists and bankers, by the wealthy men of the nation. Others are finding their supporters among the poorest classes, and among the citizens whose financial security is most precarious.

Fatten on Confusion.

"Either of these two extremes preaching deceptive doctrines is equally guilty. They couldn't survive except for the state of mind of the people, who find themselves utterly confused after going through the depression."

Turning to the part played by the national administration in relieving the distress among unemployed, Congressman O'Connor asserted that in less than two years the federal government has provided work for three and one half million men and women.

"But business has not done its part to put unemployed back to work," he said. "Business has not, in the opinion of some, contributed to the full measure of employment. Business should make jobs even at the expense of spending capital."

"The business man ought to know that if he doesn't contribute to solve the unemployment problem the dangerous 'isms' are really going to get a foothold among the country's idle."

Igoe Revives Festive Spirit.

The spirit of St. Patrick's day at the Fellowship dinner was revived by United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe, the last speaker, who praised the Irish and the part they have played in the history of the United States.

During the day all Catholic churches in Chicago observed the anniversary with special masses, but the principal services took place at the saint's Chicago shrine, St. Patrick's church, at Adams and Des Plaines street. There a solemn high mass was held at 10:30 a. m. and masses at several other hours.

The United Celtic Societies of Chicago met at White City. The Ancient Order of Hibernians and its women's auxiliary observed the occasion at the Morrison hotel. Dances and other entertainments were given by the Knights of Columbus and the Irish Society of Music and Drama.

Georgia Grand Jury All Upset Over Mob Lynching

Cusseta, Ga., March 17.—(AP)—The Chattachoochee county grand jury expressed regret today over the lynching of Philip Baker, colored, who was taken from Sherif J. T. Van Horn by a mob Friday night, but said no evidence as to the identity of any of the members of the mob was available. In the general presentments returned by the body, it described the incident as a "deplorable affair."

MISS NONA CLOYES.

FARLEY URGES IRISH TO BATTLE ON FOR LIBERTY

Boston, Mass., March 17.—(AP)—James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, in a St. Patrick's day speech tonight urged persons of Irish blood to "continue to offer resistance to distorted concepts of the constitution by self-interested groups."

"We do not—cannot—stand still as the reactionaries would have us do," Farley said in his speech to the Charitable Irish society. "We move forward or we perish. That is the rule of life. And yet the reactionary often envelops himself in the cloak of patriotism and, in the name of the country, demands a halt to what is in effect the march of civilization.

"I am appealing in particular to you of Irish blood to keep up the struggle for liberty."

DUBLIN VETERAN SCORNS MODERN ST. PATRICK'S DAY

"Real Demonstrations 25 Years Ago," He Recalls.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 17.—(AP)—Ireland observed the day of St. Patrick, its patron saint, today, but in the words of one veteran, "this is more like a day of national mourning than a day of national rejoicing."

Shops were closed, the Irish flag flew over all public buildings, the people wore the shamrock and the children were bedecked in Irish costumes, all gay and brave enough. But that was all.

The great processions of the past apparently were gone. There was a procession in Dublin town this morning, but it was a formal affair, with scarcely a flurry of excitement. That was virtually the only public demonstration within the shores of Erin.

Real Demonstrations 25 Years Ago.

"Twenty-five years ago," one old resident recalled, "there were demonstrations on St. Patrick's day which were demonstrations. All but the blind, and the halt, and the lame turned out with green rosettes and a bunch of shamrocks.

"It was a great day! The mayor and the town council would be with us, and we would march through the streets like we meant it, with our colors and banners flying. There was oratory, and fine toasts to St. Patrick and Ireland."

Now, the veteran shrugged, "since Ireland got her freedom, you can't even drown the shamrock on St. Patrick's day. Today all the beer shops are closed and it is an offense against the law to be caught on licensed premises."

Dancing Limited.

Ireland will be quiet tonight, too. Whenever there is a dance now, one must get permission to hold it from a magistrate. In many parts of the country there will be no dancing, the magistrates having declined permission.

Beneath the day's observance ran an undercurrent of political rivalry, with a general election soon to decide the future of the régime of the American born President Eamon De Valera.

Reception of a St. Patrick's day broadcast by President De Valera was interrupted by an announcer on a powerful, but unidentified local radio station saying:

"Hello, comrades. You have been witnessing a display of British imperialism in Dublin."

CHARGED WITH TRYING RAPE.

Joseph Koziol, 22 years old, 5215 West 53d place, who was arrested Monday and identified by Mrs. Blanche Peck, 35 years old, 5155 South Lorel avenue, as the man who maltreated her Saturday night, was charged with attempted rape yesterday.

WARN AGAINST U. S. GIVING UP CONTROL OF LAKE MICHIGAN

The Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday announced opposition to any provision in the St. Lawrence navigation treaty that would impair in any degree the sovereignty of the United States over Lake Michigan. With the New Deal administration again pushing a treaty of the sort that the senate rejected a year ago, the association is urging the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to declare against the pact at its coming national convention in Washington.

The commerce group here contends that foreign control of the new all-American lake might interfere with sanitation and water transportation in the Chicago area.

"With another country exercising any degree of control over Lake Michigan," said an official of the association, "the question of diversion of lake water might arise in the future. We might find ourselves forced to reduce the flow of water into the Chicago river to the point where it would ruin the lakes-to-gulf waterway.

Samuel Santi of Halfday Is Sued for Maintenance

Mrs. Mary E. Santi, 1353 Railway avenue, Highwood, filed suit for separate maintenance yesterday in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan against Samuel Santi, Halfday innkeeper, former Highwood banker, and former member of the Lake county Republican central committee. Mrs. Santi charged cruelty and asked an injunction to tie up her husband's property, which she valued at $25,000.

FIRE DESTROYS COUGHLIN'S OLD MICHIGAN SHRINE

New $500,000 Structure Periled by Flames.

Royal Oak, Mich., March 17.—[Special.]—Father Charles E. Coughlin today agreed with firemen that faulty electric wiring caused a fire which this morning destroyed his original Shrine of the Little Flower. He said the loss of approximately $30,000 was covered by insurance.

The frame structure that burned was only 75 feet from the new $500,000 shrine of masonry and steel which is nearing completion. The new building was not damaged, although its stone exterior was blackened by smoke.

Sexton Battles Flames.

Father Coughlin said he would ask contractors to hasten their work on the new shrine. The completed narthex of the new church is large enough for weekday meetings, he said, but will not hold crowds attending Sunday services.

Fire started in the squat, shingle roofed old shrine about 6 a. m. The flames first became visible through the roof. William Currier, sexton, climbed to the roof and fought the flames with an extinguisher, but the fire soon drove him back. It spread rapidly and within an hour the building was destroyed.

Flames 75 feet high threatened to spread to the new shrine, but two Royal Oak fire companies, given assistance from neighboring Birmingham, prevented that. Father Coughlin and many parishioners watched the flames.

Fear Relics Lost.

Father Coughlin expressed concern for numerous church relics which were in a small iron safe in the office of the old shrine. Among them were a piece of the true cross and three relics of Ste. Theresa. The fate of the relics could not be learned until the embers cooled.

The church was built in 1926 and was the first to be dedicated to Ste. Theresa of Lisieux. It originally stood on the site of the new shine but was moved to the new site when work began on the modern church.

WILL COUNTY BOARD ADVISED TO SUE FOR SHORTAGE OF $206,495

The Will county board in Joliet yesterday received a report from its auditing committee recommending that suits be instituted against three former county officers and their bondsmen to recover shortages totaling $206,495 alleged to have been discovered in the officers' accounts after their terms had expired.

The largest shortage, according to the report, was that of Herbert R. Jones of Manhattan, who was county collector. An audit started last December and submitted to the board about two weeks ago showed an alleged shortage of $175,866 in his accounts from 1931 to 1933, inclusive. His term expired December, 1934.

The others and their alleged shortages are Albion F. Delander, former county clerk, $18,683, and Hjalmar Rehn, former state's attorney, $11,946. Delander, recently acquitted of a charge of embezzlement in connection with the shortage, said the money was lost in closed banks and depreciated securities. Rehn said his shortage was lost in closed banks.

Hold Married Man to Jury on Rape Charge of Girl

William Hanson, 28 years old, who is married and lives at 3020 Broadway, was held to the grand jury in $10,000 bonds on a charge of rape by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court yesterday. Miss Muriel Lillian Kaiser, 18 years old, 4715 North Talman avenue, the complaining witness who testified at the hearing, was wearing a bandage on her face over an injury which she said was inflicted by Hanson when he attacked her after a dance and a round of drinking places.

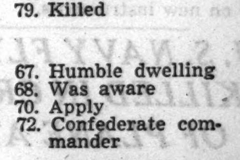
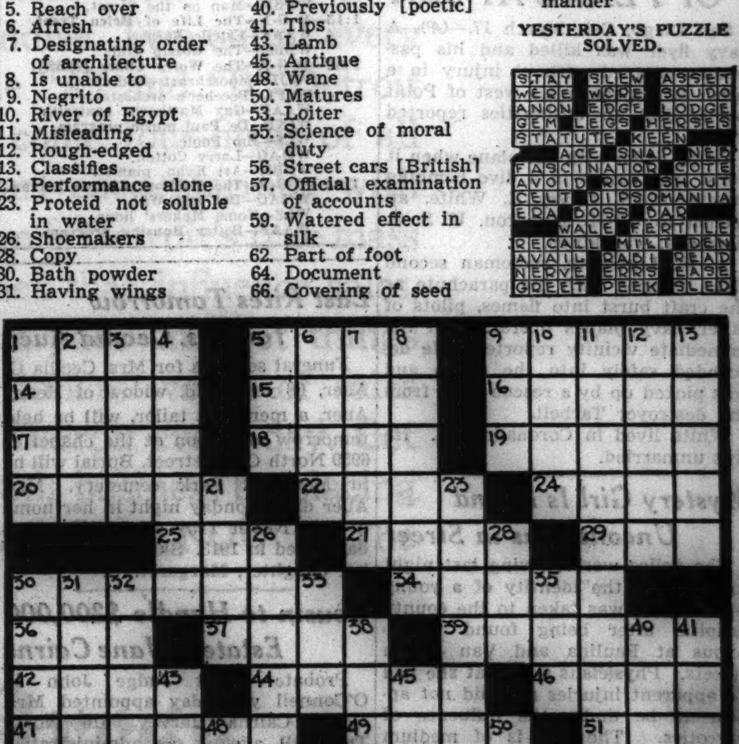
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED.





METHODISTS ASK UNITED DRIVE ON FASCISTS, REDS

Both Called Enemies of Christian Faith.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

When Methodists of the world meet in quadrennial general conference sessions at Columbus, O., in May they will formally be asked to take the initial step in developing a world-wide "religious front" not only against Fascism, such as suggested by communists, but also against communism, with both branded as enemies of religion.

Such a religious front, it is contended by proponents of the plan, will "politely bow the communist inspired 'Red front,' which recently has enlisted direct support of radical Methodists and Episcopalians, out of the church picture."

All Faiths May Enlist.

The proposal for the new religious front, in the form of a memorial to the coming conference by the Idaho annual conference of the Methodist church, makes this broad enough to include all Christian faiths and other religions, such as Judaism, as well.

The existence of the memorial was made public last night following a preliminary subcommittee meeting of the powerful "book committee" of the Methodist church, which opens formal sessions this morning at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The book committee is in charge of the extensive publishing interests of the church, and during the years has come to be regarded as the most potent administrative agency of the church during the four year periods between general conferences.

Calls Unity Plan Clever.

The Rev. Dr. Fred D. Stone, pastor of Irving Park Methodist church and chairman of the executive committee of the book committee, called the Idaho proposal "a clever suggestion." He added that such a constructive move will go far toward solving general conference problems raised in the church by radical minorities. The memorial asks for a large appropriation for the proposed "religious front."

The Methodist Federation for Social Service, headed by Bishop Francis J. McConnell of New York and Prof. Harry F. Ward of Union Theological seminary, New York, is said to comprise most of the radicals in that church. Recently at Evanston a meeting of this federation voted to align itself with the League Against War and Fascism, described as a communistic agency. In the Episcopal church the Church League for Industrial Democracy recently passed a similar action. It comprises the radical group in that communion.

INTERAMERICAN PARLEY WILL BE IN BUENOS AIRES

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt announced today that the inter-American conference which he proposed to reorganize the peace machinery of the western hemisphere will be held in Buenos Aires. No date has been set for the meeting, but the state department is expected to fix the time and program with the coöperation of the foreign offices of the interested countries within a few weeks.

Mr. Roosevelt announced that replies have been received from the presidents of all American countries, in answer to his invitation, except Paraguay, which has just emerged from a revolution.

In his invitation the President expressed himself ready to junk the established interpretation of the Monroe Doctrin and to supplement and reinforce the efforts of the league of nations toward world peace. Though he did not mention the doctrin by name, Mr. Roosevelt said he would follow any recommendations of the conference for the amendment of existing peace instruments or on new instruments.

U. S. NAVY FLYER KILLED IN CRASH OF PLANE AT SEA

San Diego, Cal., March 17.—(AP)—A navy flyer was killed and his passenger escaped without injury in a crash at sea ten miles west of Point Loma, fleet air authorities reported today.

Going down with the plane when it burst into flames in a dive bombing attack, Lieut. Oliver E. White, attached to VF-2B squadron, U. S. S. Saratoga, was killed.

A. W. Lecompte, radioman second class, jumped with his parachute as the craft burst into flames, pilots of other navy planes operating in the immediate vicinity reported. He descended safely into the ocean and was picked up by a rescue crew from the destroyer Tarbell.

White lived in Coronado, Cal. He was unmarried.

Physicians said that she had no apparent injuries and did not appear to be under the influence of narcotics. The girl is of medium height, about 22 years old and has brown hair. She wore a plush jacket and hat to match, a purple sateen dress, and black shoes and stockings.

RAID NETS 7 IN N. Y. WANTED ON LONG CRIME LIST

New York, March 17.—(AP)—Police tonight accused seven men and three women, arrested early today in a spectacular raid, of a plot to kidnap Thomas Manville, heir to the asbestos millions, and described them as members of a ring responsible for "more than a dozen murders."

Three of the men were charged with the slaying last Sunday of Joseph Butler, son of Richard Butler, former assemblyman.

Police said, after questioning the suspects all day, that several of them had been identified as participants in a series of bank holdups, jewelry robberies and a number of other crimes. Seven have long police records.

Manville revealed he had received two letters and two telegrams within the last few days threatening him with kidnaping and demanding a million dollars.

The three charged with slaying Butler were Frank Peroski, alias Frank Daley and "Frank the Polack," 31; Joseph Heel, 22, of Newark, N. J., and William O'Brien, 25. O'Brien, police said, had been sought in connection with the $427,000 holdup of an armored truck in Brooklyn two years ago.

SUES ESTATE OF FATHER FOR REST OF $300,000

White Plains, N. Y., March 17.—[Special.]—Emil Bommer, Brooklyn manufacturer, promised his daughter, Mrs. Marie E. Frohlich, $300,000 if she would hasten home from Vienna so her child could be born in the United States, but received only $30,000, according to affidavits in her $270,000 suit against her father's estate.

Attorneys for the executors of the father's estate applied today for a change of venue to Kings county because, they said, most of the principals in the case live in Kings county. Justice Witschief reserved decision.

Mrs. Frohlich swore that her father promised her $100,000 and her child $200,000 if he were born in this country and that he gave her only $30,000 and established no trust fund for her son, Emil, now 4. Her father died last May. Mrs. Frohlich, wife of Leopold Frohlich, a lether merchant of Lake Mahopac, said that the child was born on Long Island.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

In reply to many inquiries it needs to be said that no date has been set for the Paul Whiteman radio auditions in Chicago. Next week he will be in Cincinnati, then in Fort Worth, and some time this spring he will come here. Meanwhile all audition seekers must wait—no applications can be made in advance.

George Gershwin and Deems Taylor, two notable musical modernists, are joining Whiteman in picking the winners in each city who will be given an opportunity to make guest appearances on the Whiteman program. The widespread interest must be due to the face that Whiteman has started so many good young singers on the road to fame and fortune. Among these have been Bing Crosby, Morton Downey, Helen Jepson, Jane Froman, Dorothy Page, Mildred Bailey, Jack Fulton, and Ramona.

Friends of Lucia Diano, the young Joliet singer who made her operatic debut with the Chicago Opera in "La Boheme" in 1934, want her to enter the Whiteman auditions. Several of the runner-ups in WBBM's Twin Winners contest may also be expected to join the aspiring cavalcade since they have had professional experience. Mr. Whiteman has announced that no amateurs need apply. That field he is perfectly willing to leave to Maj. Bowes.

Maj. Bowes [all right, all right] is rounding out his first year on NBC next Sunday. In that year he has put 800 "amateurs" on the air, made a million or more for himself, put a dozen amateur shows featuring a couple of hundred of his choicest amateurs on the road, and incurred the widespread enmity of professional entertainers.

At the Showman's League of America theatrical night benefit dinner at Hotel Sherman on Monday one Tex Chapman, who had just been forced to close "Cocktails of 1936," a traveling road show, declared that Maj. Bowes' amateurs were the worst influence in the show business today. But on the air Maj. Bowes continues to lead the parade with a listener rating considerably higher than any other sponsored radio show has ever achieved.

Eddie Dowling, opening his NBC radio revue last night in Chicago, received this telegram from President Roosevelt: "Good luck. The whole family is listening in. It's a happy day for us, too—our 31st wedding anniversary."

Charlie Agnew and Dusty Roades, his sometime novelty singer and drummer, have parted company. Roades is organizing a new orchestra. Charlie also has a revamped organization which is specializing in swing rhythm.

Benny Fields, a one time vaudeville headliner, with his wife, Blossom Seeley, has speared himself a choice radio assignment. He will become the singing star of the Ziegfeld Follies beginning Saturday night. He is to replace James Melton, who has been called to Hollywood to make a second picture. Melton's first effort was "Stars Over Broadway," in which Jane Froman supported him.

Carl Schreiber's orchestra, which plays over WENR and WCFL, will go out to the County hospital this afternoon to play a program of relaxing music for patients in the neurological department. This is an annual custom.

FOR THE STATISTICALLY MINDED:

"DETROIT is again DYNAMIC"

EVEN SO LONG as eighteen months ago, Detroit kicked off sackcloth and ashes, put on its overalls, grabbed a dinner bucket, hammer and blue prints, quit looking for Santa Claus and went to work. America's first intimation that Detroit had again elected to become dynamic came possibly from the statement of Henry Ford, late in 1934, that "we will build and sell a million cars in 1935." Here, in ten words, was a terse interpretation of Detroit's "go-ahead-ed-ness."

Events and statements and statistics of recent months demonstrate that as a maker of markets and as a market itself, Detroit is "tops" in America. Headlines in newspapers throughout the world told of General Motors' $167,000,000 profit in 1935 and its bonus of over five millions to a hundred thousand employees . . . of Chrysler's $34,000,000 record-breaking profit for the year and its bonus of $2,300,000 to fifty thousand employees . . . of a total automobile production of 4,182,000--- the greatest since boom days. That Detroit really believes in the future is indicated by the seventy-one new factory buildings erected here in 1935, worth three million dollars.

Every charted index of commercial and economic activity in Detroit looks like Jack's beanstalk in its powers of growth and sky-reaching qualities. To cite only a few: Building permits are up 140% over 1934 . . . automobile production 46% . . . new car sales up 64% . . . bank deposits up 34% to a total of $656,140,770 . . . industrial employment up 16% . . . payrolls up 19% and the weekday circulation of the Free Press up 28,075 or 13.3%.

FREE PRESS WEEKDAY CIRCULATION UP 28,075

twice the combined increase of the two evening newspapers

All of this wealth created by Detroit gravitates upward, making the KEY-HOME circulation of the Free Press just that much more valuable, for here is the group that does most of the buying of advertised merchandise. Two out of every three homes in the "A" and "B" Detroit areas from which come four-fifths of all the retail sales, start each morning with the Free Press. Here is Detroit's true mass market—the families that influence sales, fix fashions, set the pace and get things done. Millions of dollars worth of sales are being made in Detroit every day. Get your fair share of this business by placing your advertising schedules NOW in The Detroit Free Press.

Foot Beauty Is Dependent on Proper Shoes

Correct Fit Is Far More Important than Style.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

What's wrong with the feet of the American woman?

If you ask the famous French shoemaker, he'll tell you that what is wrong with the American woman's foot is that she wears shoes that do not properly fit her, that the American woman is ruining her arches in pursuit of an erroneous idea of what constitutes an artistocratic foot.

You can take that or leave it for, after all, the French woman's foot, whether by practice of wearing the French kind of shoe or not, differs from the American woman's foot. My observation of the French woman's foot is that it is stubbier than the American woman's, and broader, and en masse presented a picture lacking the general smartness of American foot dressing.

The French shoemaker from whom you get a pair of shoes costing you anywhere from $50 to $250, if you feel so inclined, says that the effort of our shoe stylist to popularize the long, slender foot results in having women, who should wear a size four C or D, adopt a size 6 triple or double A for the slenderizing effect. The consequence, he says, is that the American women in high heels does not walk on her heels and toes but on reinforced steel bridgework upon which one cannot make an easy, graceful entrance or exit.

A test of fitting is offered in the Frenchman's suggestion that if your foot shows a tendency to slide down the slope from the heel into the toe section, and there are bunches of flesh on top of the instep where the shoe is cleared, it's wrong. In such a shoe, the woman is not walking with the weight on the ball of the foot as she should be, but on her instep. In such a shoe, the woman's foot cannot express itself, which, according to Perugia's standards, is required of a well shod foot. It's not for hands and eyes to do all the expressing. The feet should be able to speak up a graceful little piece of their own.

Well, anyway, complaints begin to come in now with rumbles from the crocus field. If you are buying new shoes you do not have to adopt the French foot standard, but you do want to get a pair that hugs the arch, allows your toes freedom, fits at the heel, and permits you to walk miles and miles without a foot groan.

Lecturer to Contrast Medieval, Modern Life

Helen C. White, author of historical novels and authoritative works on medievalism, will lecture on political, religious, and social aspects of medieval life in the light of today's economy and new philosophies at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night at St. Gertrude auditorium, 6218 Glenwood avenue. Her subject will be "A Modern Looks at the Middle Ages."

According to CULBERTSON

SUBTLE SIGNALS.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of The Tribune, inclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Close coöperation on defense is an extremely subtle art. Signals are not the blatant devices most players think them. Expertly used, they resemble a polished phrase, a sparkling epigram, conveying a wealth of meaning in a minimum of words.

The great delusion of less-than-expert players is that signals should, whenever possible, be of a positive nature, in other words, high cards to command a "come-on." It is quite the opposite. Negative signals lend themselves much better to brilliant defense. It is not merely a question of conserving high cards for future use. This is trifling compared to the real reason, which is that for every occasion on which a "come-on" is desirable, four or five will arise when a shift is vital.

An Implied Request.

In the hand shown below, North had no opportunity to signal for the suit he really wanted led. But, nevertheless, he was able to convey that request by implication.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Pass	1 N T	Pass
2 N T	Pass	3 N T [final bid]

South, on lead, decided the best chance to defeat the contract was to avoid the risk of losing a trick by opening away from either of his fairly strong suits. Incidentally, it should be observed that his decision was shrewd, in that a low diamond lead, his orthodox opening, would have made nine tricks a "cinch" for the declarer.

He chose a club as less dangerous than a spade, since his spade ten might well be valuable. The seven of clubs was ducked in dummy and North made a simple but excellent play. He put on the deuce! The soundness of this play requires only a short analysis. South's seven could not be a fourth highest, under the "rule of eleven," since three higher cards were in sight in dummy and two in North's hand. If not the fourth highest, it must be "top of nothing." Declarer then was marked with the queen and jack, and nothing could be gained by North's playing the nine. Something could, however, be lost. South might be tempted to think that he, North, had the club suit stopped with J 10 9 x, and continue it when actually a spade shift was urgently desired. And his message was not lost in transit. South, when he won the heart ace, gave no more thought to the club suit but promptly shifted to a spade. Since he held the two diamond controls, and led spades at every opportunity, the declarer was unable to get his ninth trick.

Had South been left in doubt over the club situation, he would have had a difficult choice to make. If North held a club stopper, the spade king but not the jack, and at least three diamonds, an entirely different line of defense would be required. Then, a spade lead would be fatal; the winning play would be to establish three diamond tricks immediately. The club situation was the sole determining factor, and was made clear by North's first play.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Liederkranz Is Ingredient of Onion Rabbit

Dish Intrigues Palates of Men Diners.

"Modern Meat Lore," a 52 page booklet containing the most up to date information on meat cookery, also marketing tips and many delightfully novel meat recipes, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribu. : Tower, for 20 cents; by mail, 23 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Help! Help! Tell a poor sister. Are the recipes in this column too difficult or too simple? An anonymous housewife writes: "Why under the sun won't you put some interesting recipes in the paper? Any one with ANY sense of cooking could prepare the food you suggest!"

The same day another letter, minus the splutters, told us: "You've made cooking a real pleasure, but have spoiled me for plain, utilitarian cooking."

What to do? Both these women confess that they consider themselves excellent cooks, so it's not a case of the beginner versus the experienced homemaker. If you've any suggestions or comments, please enter the fray and let us know how this column can better help you in the three-meals-a-day problem.

In the meantime we'll just worry along, collecting and trying new recipes and combinations that seem both interesting and good, keeping the ever-watchful eye on time and money budgeting. Here's a dish, for instance, passed on by an acquaintance who recommends it as the mainstay of a beer supper. It proved a sturdy, tangy, supper dish, all right, and one whose winning ways are especially pleasing to masculine palates.

Here's how it's made.

LIEDERKRANZ ONION RABBIT.

4 tablespoons butter
2 4-ounce packages Liederkranz
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne
1 cup thin cream
2 eggs
1½ cups sliced onions
6 slices bread
6 medium size tomatoes

Melt one tablespoon of the butter in the top of a double boiler. Add the cheese and stir until melted. Stir in the cream and seasonings gradually, then remove from the heat and add the hot mixture slowly to the well beaten eggs. Return to the heat and cook slowly, stirring constantly, for about two minutes or until thickened. Sauté the thin onion slices in the remaining butter. When delicately browned and tender, arrange the onions on the six bread slices, which have been toasted on one side. Pour the cheese rabbit over all, garnish with cress or parsley, and accompany each serving with two broiled tomato halves.

French Chic for Juveniles

CHILD'S FROCK.

There is definite French chic to this juvenile frock. In spite of its genuine charm and attractive details, it is extremely easy to make. The original of this model is daintily fashioned of printed dimity, with the little collar and puffed sleeves of organdy. Incidentally, the latter two features belong to a cute underblouse which, in warm weather, may be omitted, leaving only the smart little frock with its trim bodice and capelet shoulders.

You will notice that, in place of the demure puffed sleeves, one may have a double ruffle of the organdy. The frock itself is practical for romping young misses of fashion. The skirt has four plaits, two in back and two in front, allowing for plenty of activity on the part of sturdy little legs. The waistline is snugly and trimly belted.

Style No. 2730 is designed for sizes 2, 4, and 6 years. Size 4 requires 1⅛ yards of 35 inch material for the dress, with 1 yard of 39 inch material for the blouse.

Disrespectful Advances Irk Modern Girls

Boys' Actions Lower Them in Women's Eyes.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The question of how to handle the too familiar young man, like how to find pleasurable young companions, always is with us. June today adds her bit to the already overflowing file of complaints. She met a young man with whom she liked to talk, to dance, go skating, etc. Everything would be just grand if said young man would let it go at that. But it seems, from all accounts, that the men feel that they have to test the girl with familiarities that are not fair under the circumstances of their meeting and conventional introduction.

One might imagine an adventurous boy attempting to force his familiarities on a girl with whom, perhaps, he had spent the evening replete with drinks and questionable companions or in questionable places. But one just can't imagine a boy of any breeding or any feeling of sportsmanship classifying every girl in that category with his unseemly behavior. And this is exactly what irks the young women. It is being grouped in with girls whose reputations would preclude any friendship with them under any circumstances that carries the sting.

Suppose that on a girl's brief acquaintance she should suddenly turn up one of you young men and accuse you of being a rotter, a drunk, or a bum? It amounts to the same thing, really, when you act as if the girl were a rotter, doesn't it? We'll wager you never thought of it that way. You never thought of how you'd feel if the girl accused you of being fresh with all the girls you meet.

We would just suggest that you do a little thinking along the lines mentioned the next time you have the urge to make advances to a young woman who has given you no occasion to think she is that sort.

It's all tosh to think you have to be a regular devil to impress a girl these days. They're bright enough to know you have the makings of an ardent Romeo without your having to demonstrate it the first time out. Besides, you're not putting the message over of being a regular he-man person when you make your improper advances to every girl you happen to take out. It's too cheap to shoot your stock up a notch.

Garden Events Get Attention of Chicagoans

Southern Trips to Follow Chicago Show.

BY JUDITH CASS.

GARDENING is occupying the thoughts of numerous women at this time of year, not only because it will soon be time to start work in their own gardens, but because the Garden Club of Illinois will open its flower show on the Navy pier this week. The show opens Saturday and will continue through the 29th.

There will be a preview Friday night from 7 to 10 o'clock for which cards have been issued by the committee in charge of the show, which is the tenth annual one of the Garden Club of Illinois, a federation of 120 garden clubs and many junior clubs throughout the state.

Many of those who are planning to take southern trips soon are talking and thinking of gardens, too, for the fifth annual pilgrimage to Natchez, Miss., is attracting many Chicagoans. It is the Garden club of that lovely old southern city that arranges the pilgrimage each year and tries to re-create the atmosphere of antebellum days for the entertainment of the hundreds of visitors who flock to Natchez when the old mansions and gardens are opened.

Lovely ladies in hoopskirts, little girls in dainty crinolines and bonnets, and typical southern colonels greet the guests and there are special entertainments planned for each evening of Pilgrimage week, March 27 through April 5.

Famous Mansion Owned by Chicagoan.

One of the loveliest of the twenty-six antebellum houses that will be thrown open for the pilgrimage is D'Evereux, which was built in 1840 and is considered the most perfect example of southern colonial architecture in that section. It now is owned by a Chicagoan, Miss Myra Virginia Smith. The garden, with its terraces, lake and swans, was destroyed during the civil war, but enough bits of the garden remain to give tantalizing glimpses of its past beauty. A great ball was given at D'Evereux for Henry Clay when he was running for the presidency of the United States, and it is said that

A HOUSEHOLDER stood at the curb in front of his house last Sunday polishing the lamps on his automobile. A radio in the car was playing a recorded program, and as the slow strains of Chopin's Funeral March timed his activity he pushed his cleaning rag over the left lamp. As he began to work on the right side lamp the music changed to Schubert's "Moment Musicale" and he speeded up his polishing, doing the job more effectively. Our friend who saw this says that if you see a small car with a cataract in one eye, it's that car.

The Spanish Outfits Need Slim Figure

Skirts Are Straight and Jackets Short.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

It takes a pencil slim streamline to wear these Spanish outfits and a lot of inches to be tall enough to make them the successes they will be on the right person. But when, and if, you're rated the silhouette for such apparel, even by your most candid sister shopper, the fun begins. The skirts are very straight, simple, with just the minimum of yardage. A cleverly concealed or inverted plait in either front or back gives the necessary freedom.

The jackets are positively microscopic, none of them reach the waistline. The sheer white blouses have tucked bosoms, tiny up-standing collars and a flat small tailored bow of the same material as the blouse. Long sleeves that fit almost as tight as skin and the curved outline to the front sections of the jacket make these boleros just as dashing as the Spanish originals from which they were copied.

You can wear a cummerbund sort of a belt-sash in sleek black satin, or in colors for contrast, as a neat idea for accenting a small waistline, or you can swagger around the town with a bull fighter sash—belt of scarlet with the knot at the right side and two ends hanging down to the hem of your skirt.

Less Spanish are the young looking bolero outfits, with silk blouses and wind-around sash of the same silk. Dotted silk or patterned printed silk are the best bets. Dark background silks with brilliant colored dots are used for definite contrast — a navy with brick red dots used with stone gray, and so on.

Fashion photograph . . . real Spanish spice, achieved with a white braided bolero jacket, made with long fitted sleeves. The blouse is tucked, of sheer white with a bow at the high neckline. The skirt reaches up beyond the natural waistline and is of sheer black. A long narrow center panel is slit twice, for about six inches to allow for freedom. A rakish flat Spanish sailor of black shiny straw completes the costume. And as a word of warning, the sailors, with and without chin straps, are the only sufficiently sophisticated headlines for such extreme outfits. Both hat and bolero costume are available in a Chicago shop.

Dazzling Spanish Costume

Special Squad

By Courtney Ryley Cooper

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Sandy Ross of the department of justice and Special Agent Buck Wasey travel by motor from Reno to Vinton City in search of information on Sociable Joe Willis, suspected of assisting in armored car robberies. A collision of two cars on a mountain road brings Jane Bronson into Sandy's life. But when she learns his identity she vanishes. A letter from Sociable Joe had brought Jane to Vinton City to plead with her brother, Lee, known there as Ray Hammer, to give up his gang connections. When she tells him about the special agents he agrees to leave with her immediately. They drive away in a cream colored car, and Lee deliberately runs down Sociable Joe. Sociable Joe admits serving time for killing his wife, but denies knowing Jane Bronson or Ray Hammer. Meanwhile, in San Francisco the Lurch-McKeevor mob awaits the arrival of Lee Bronson, needed for his ability in female impersonating. The cream colored car, known to have been stolen after an armored car robbery in New York, is located at a tourist camp near Gunnison, Colo., where Sandy and Buck speed by plane. They drive to the camp in the wake of a cloudburst. They find Jane alone. Sandy diverts Jane's attention while Buck searches for clues. Jane confesses her brother carried a machine gun. An outfit of Jane's clothing is missing.

INSTALMENT XXI.

TELLING ON HER BROTHER.

"Dad was in the postoffice there," Jane continued. "He and Sociable Joe were friends. I guess that's why Joe had always taken an interest in us. You see Dad died when I was about five years old, and mother had to go to work. Sociable Joe was awfully good to us—he used to buy clothes for Lee and me, and things like that. Especially after we moved to Kansas City."

"When was that?"

"I was about six, I think. That would make Lee nine."

"Your mother's gone now?" Sandy asked.

"Yes, when I was eighteen."

"You and Lee have worked ever since, of course?"

The girl framed her answer quickly:

"Yes, I've always worked. And Sociable Joe has helped out."

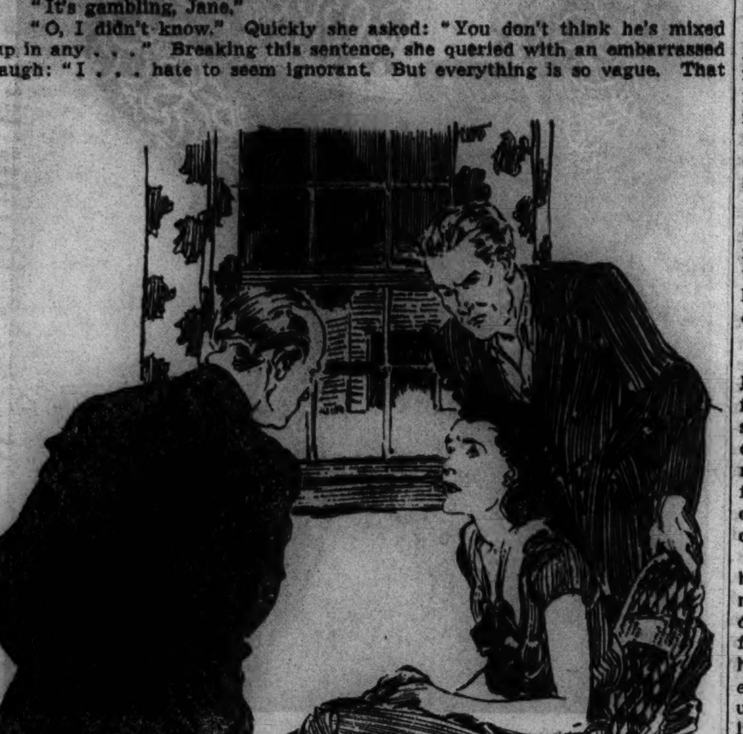
"See him a lot, do you?" came from the Texan. The girl raised her head.

"No—just in a long while. He seems to wander around the country. I never have known exactly what he does."

Sandy Ross glanced toward his comrade. Then he said quietly:

"It's gambling, Jane."

"O, I didn't know." Quickly she asked: "You don't think he's mixed up in any . . ." Breaking this sentence, she queried with an embarrassed laugh: "I . . . hate to seem ignorant. But everything is so vague. That letter said Lee was mixed up with a gang, but he denied it and said Sociable Joe probably was doing something wrong. But what it is and who might be in the gang or—you see, I don't know anything about all that."



"That car in the shed there!"

Buck Wasey glanced out at the graying dawn.

"That car in the shed there—the one you've been driving—was stolen after an armored truck robbery in New York."

"Lee was in New York," she blurted.

"When?"

"He wrote me from there, some time in May." She halted; the silence of the two men answered her unasked query. She continued nervously: "He got to running around with a bunch of fellows who had a lot of money. At least, that's what he said. He wouldn't tell me who they were, and I never saw them. Then one day he said he was going away. I didn't hear from him for a long time."

"No letters from Richmond, Virginia?" asked Buck.

"Nothing from St. Louis?"

Again a negative. Buck named Pittsburgh, Chicago, Minneapolis. The girl responded to none of them.

"It was a long, long time before he wrote me. The letter came from New Orleans."

"Under what date?" asked Sandy Ross, attempting to hide an excess of curiosity.

"I can't remember. I was mad at him for not having written me. Besides, I thought he was just going through there. I'd rather mussed up the envelope in opening it and torn the flap. It was nice stationery with the name of the store embossed—you know how they do it—on the envelope. It showed the stationery came from Billings, Montana, and it made me angry to think he was running around all over the country, when things were going so bad at home . . ." She paused as the agents glanced at each other. "Did something happen in Billings?"

Sandy Ross shook his head.

"Nothing. Nothing at all."

"Then maybe it's just a coincidence that he was in New York and got that car. Maybe . . ."

"It could happen," the Inspector answered. "But I'm afraid it didn't. You see, something happened in New Orleans. And Philadelphia."

"No, they wouldn't do that." The girl's lips were trembling; the Special Agents waited in silence until she had won her fight for composure. At last she said with a ghastly sort of calm: "I . . . I don't seem able to realize that I'm sitting here, telling on my own brother."

Buck rose and began to pace, his short, round legs moving nervously.

"Yes, and we hate to ask questions about a girl's brother, Jane. But it's either a matter of stopping him now when maybe he's just playing the fool instead of waiting until he turns into a mad dog."

"As for him deserving any blind loyalty . . ." There Sandy halted an outburst of resentment which had grown steadily during the night; unconsciously Jane Bronson had given an all too faithful picture of what had happened in the little house on the hill, that night in Vinton City. Time after time she had sought to shield the self-centered object of this inquiry, she had quoted him, not knowing that she was painting his traits, his selfishness, his lack of love for her. Nevertheless she now came quickly to his defense:

"O, I know we've never gotten along. But I always figured it was because Dad died when Lee was so young. And then Mom went—and no boy likes to be saddled with a sister. So naturally, he ran around and got linked up with . . ." She caught the faint suggestion of a cynical smile on the lips of Sandy Ross. "I guess you hear that lots of times," the girl concluded. Buck Wasey returned to his chair.

"I'm afraid we do." Then, as Sandy Ross looked out at the brightening day, he continued: "What happended, Jane, after you left Reno?"

"Well, we drove right through the night until we got to Salt Lake. I kept asking him where we were going. He said we weren't stopping until we got back east."

"Where in the east?"

"He wouldn't say. That's what started us quarreling. You see, he had promised to go home with me—back to Kansas City—but within two or three hours after we'd started, he began talking about the East and how fine it would be to live back there—it was perfectly silly. Then at Salt Lake, he sent a telegram and . . ."

"Where to, Jane?" Sandy broke in.

"He said New York."

Buck wrinkled his brow in disbelief.

"Then what?" continued Sandy.

"We drove on out of town and stayed at a tourist camp. We were quarreling a lot now, because he acted so strange. Maybe," she smiled weakly, "that's where I left that dress and hat and shoes."

"And stockings?" Buck suggested.

"I hadn't noticed that. Why do you think I lost stockings, too?"

"What about that box—the one he said was full of gold ore?"

Again there was a silence, while Jane Bronson stared at her sweating palms.

'Reforming' a Child Requires Great Patience

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The more glimpses we get into the lives of other mothers, the more we realize how impossible it is to make rules and pass judgment. It is vital for any one who is advising parents to take into account always the individual circumstances of each family.

These not only explain a great deal about a child's behavior, but must necessarily affect the suggestions given. So, some undesirable behavior is easily understood when everything is explained.

For example: Frequently I have letters from mothers who have been forced into what is an unfortunate situation. They have been obliged to do a type of work that has made it necessary for them to be separated from their children, boarding them out for several years where they could see little of them.

It is when the tide of their finances has turned and they are able once more to make a home for their children that I hear from them. They find out too often that their son has been over indulged or inconsistently handled, so that he is almost unmanageable. Or perhaps that their little girl has been too strictly treated and is too repressed, or that untruthfulness and ways of deceit have developed as her way in gaining some, at least, of her own ends.

One thing these mothers must be prepared for—and that is the need of great patience and also persistence in their new, wiser ways of management. There will be many setbacks. It will take some time for the child to understand this different relationship and to conform to this different way of being managed. Things will probably work slowly because habits have been formed, and habits [of acting, and of thinking, and even of feeling] are tenacious. Patience is important—and also a realization that the child is not to blame.

One mother is particularly wise—she has written me before she has arranged for her child and herself to be together, asking me how to prepare herself for the behavior she may find.

We have booklets on many aspects of young child management. In writing please state your child's age, mention the particular phase of behavior with which you need help and enclose a stamped, self addressed envelope for each booklet.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Boy Should Make Suggestion.

"Dear Miss Blake: A certain fellow likes me and I like him, too. Do you think it right for me to write him a note to take me some place I wish to go? VIOLETA."

Unless a young man has been attentive it is much wiser to let him suggest taking you places, Violeta. You might extend an invitation to him to spend an evening with you at your home in order that you may become better friends.

3,000 candles were used to illuminate the mansion that night.

The girlhood home of Mrs. Howard Peabody of Lake Forest is one of the famous places that will be seen by pilgrims to Natchez, but lovely Mrs. Peabody will not be there this year to welcome the guests with her father, Andrew B. Learned, for she paid him a visit in January. A year or two ago, however, she was at Magnolia Vale during Pilgrimage week and in her old-fashioned costume and with her dark hair in curls she must have added greatly to the beauty of the scene on the old plantation, which is famous for its boxwood hedges, camellia, japonicas, and various shrubberies. The house was built in 1831 by Andrew Brown, grandfather of the present owner.

Mrs. Peabody's cousin, Mrs. Albert D. Williams, also of Lake Forest, is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. I. Metcalfe, at her home, Ravenna, in Natchez, so she will be there during Pilgrimage week. Ravenna has been the home of the Metcalfe family since shortly before the civil war when it was purchased by Oren Metcalfe for his wife, Zuleika, who during the war used the place to slip supplies through the Yankee lines to the confederates camped on the edge of town. She was discovered, arrested and with her family was expelled from the house until the war was over.

Early next week in Mrs. Daniel Taylor's car Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Welch Dickinson will be setting out for Natchez, and dozens of other Chicagoans will be leaving around the same time to visit the historic houses and gardens of the old south.

Parents Will Join Children for Vacations.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams left yesterday for New York, where they will meet their schoolgirl daughter, Mary, for a round of theaters before going down to Charleston, S. C., to spend a quiet week. Mr. and Mrs. Adams will be away a fortnight.

The Kenneth S. Templetons are other parents taking advantage of spring school vacations to take a little holiday. With their younger son, Kenneth Jr., they are leaving on Saturday for New York to spend a few days with their daughter and son-in-law, the Sidney D. Johnsons [Josephine Templetont] until their elder son, James, can join them from St. Paul's school. Then the Templetons and the two boys will sail for Bermuda to spend a week.

The Philip D. Armours, who returned recently from a visit near Delray, Fla., are starting south again on Friday, this time accompanied by their children, who are enjoying spring holidays from their schools. The Armours and their family will spend three weeks on Useppa Island.

John F. Herdic and his daughter, Louise, of Winnetka, are going to Pinehurst, N. C., for her spring vacation from the North Shore Country Day school. They will visit Louise's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lansing B. Warner, at their new home there.

More Interesting Items of Vacation Travel.

Miss Julie Mason and Miss Cordelia Cole of Winnetka, who are freshmen at Smith, are sailing today for Bermuda to spend their spring vacation there. Miss Mason's elder sister, Miss Annie Mason, returns the end of the month from her exhibition hocky tour through the south with the United States Field Hockey team.

Miss Rosemary and Miss Mildred Kemper, two other Winnetkans at Smith, are joining their parents, the James Scott Kempers, at Sea Island, Ga., for their vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Kemper are returning home early in April.

The John F. Jelkes' four children have joined their parents in Palm Beach for their spring vacation from school in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Malcolm of Lake Forest and their daughter, Miss Durie Malcolm, are leaving today for Sea Island, where young Peter Malcolm will join them for his vacation from Hotchkiss. They will be away two weeks.

Miss Kathleen Agnew of Victoria, B. C., is leaving tomorrow after a week's visit with Mrs. Raymond L. Redheffer. Yesterday Mrs. Redheffer gave a luncheon for Miss Agnew in the apartment at 191 East Walton place into which Mr. and Mrs. Redheffer moved recently from 1430 Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. Redheffer's daughter, Miss Anne Tracy, who will be a debutante next season, will arrive in Chicago a week from Thursday to spend her spring vacation from Swarthmore college at home. Joseph A. Redheffer, who goes to Stanstead college in Quebec, and Ray Jr., who is at Miami Beach, Fla., will not be at home this spring, for neither of their schools has a spring vacation.

Many Return from Winter Vacations.

Among the Chicagoans returning from winter vacations are the Joseph C. Beldens, who have had the pleasure of two trips this winter, the first to California and the other to Florida. Joseph Belden Jr. joined his parents in Florida and returned with them.

The Albert A. Spragues are expected at home on Saturday or Sunday from a month in Charleston, S. C.

Mrs. Louise deKoven Phelps and her sister, Mrs. William McCormick Blair, arrived yesterday from California and Honolulu, where they visited their sons who are in school. Hubbard Phelps is a student at the Boeing Aviation school in California and William M. Blair Jr. is studying at the University of Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Moyer will arrive at home on Friday after a cruise to Guatemala.

The Volney Fosters are expected in Lake Forest next week after a West Indies cruise. Mrs. Foster may spend a few days in New York before coming home.

The Evanston Country club will be the scene today of one of the north shore's most popular spring benefits—a bridge party, tea, and fashion show, which is being presented by the Evanston Infant Welfare Service league.

Acting as hostesses for the bridge games, which will begin at 2:30 o'clock, will be Mrs. Emmett Brown [Mary Ap Madoc], Mrs. Harris Burrows, Mrs. Dana Dawes, Mrs. George Gregory, Miss Janet Healy, Miss Jane Littell, Mrs. John Kies, Mrs. John McFadden, Mrs. Frank Nahser, Mrs. Winthrop Robinson, president, Miss Frances Olmsted and Mrs. Stuart Sherman.

Mrs. Rudy Ruggles [Ruth Cain], assisted by Mrs. Norman Johnson, is in charge of the fashion show which will start at 3:30 o'clock. Pouring at the tea following will be several members of the senior board and the junior auxiliary of the Evanston Infant Welfare center. Among them are Mrs. George B. Dryden, Mrs. Charles G. Little, Mrs. Elias Lyman Jr., Mrs. Hugh McCulloch, Mrs. Julian Norris, and Mrs. Stanley Tuthill.

Alliance Juniors Have Party Today.

The juniors of the Alliance Française will have an interesting meeting at 3:30 o'clock today when they will hear the seven year old pianist, Joan Alizier. After the program the "juniors" will sing in several choruses, directed by Allen Tanner, pianist. Mrs. Max Cutler will be hostess at this afternoon's meeting.

Mrs. Arthur L. Allais will be hostess tomorrow afternoon at the Alliance causerie. Mrs. Harry M. Boon and Mrs. George L. Cragg will serve, and Mrs. Harold G. Sperling, Mme. Henri David, Miss Grace P. Clucas and Miss Josephine Roby will assist Mrs. Allais.

The Chicago alumnae of Goucher college are giving a tea from 4 until 6 o'clock Friday afternoon at the College club for Miss Naomi Riches, professor of history at Goucher college. Mrs. Robert Frantz of Evanston, president of the Chicago Goucher club, will head the receiving line. Assisting her, among others, will be Mrs. Robert Millar and Miss Vivian Le Febvre.

Friday night the Goucher club members will give a small dinner for Miss Riches, also at the College club.

In spite of the fact that every one is interested just now in war problems and other matters of grave import, the lecture that Cecil Roberts is to give on Friday night about "The Pilgrim Cottage Country" is attracting a good bit of attention. Mr. Roberts will lecture before the English Speaking Union after a dinner at the Blackstone hotel.

The first to make reservations for the dinner Friday was Irwin W. Roemer of Oak Park, and following quickly after him were Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, Mrs. Robert H. Cabell and Robert Hall McCormick.

Arrange Showing of Salvation Army Film.

The women's division of the Salvation Army has cards out for a showing of the new talking picture, "Behind the Tambourine," at the Woman's Athletic club on Monday, March 30, at 3 o'clock. Tea and music also will be on the program for the afternoon, but no appeal for funds will be made.

The women's division supports the women's home and hospital and the emergency lodge on West Adams street. The seven new members of the board of the women's division will be assisting the day of the tea. They are Mrs. Ernest Byfield, Mrs. Phelps Dunham, Mrs. T. J. Fleming, Mrs. Harney Bassett, Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, Mrs. Thomas Gowenlock, and Mrs. Harold Pynchon.

April 17 has been chosen by the south shore center of the Infant Welfare society for its annual spring luncheon, card party and fashion show. The benefit will take place at the South Shore Country club, with Mrs. Henry Kennedy in general charge.

Heading various committees on arrangements are Mrs. Charles Axelson, ticket sales; Mrs. Bennett D. Bell, reservations; Mrs. J. Paul Johnston, prizes; Mrs. David Lockwood, fashion show, and Mrs. Albert J. Bates Jr., music and special features.

Mrs. Everett Granger is president of the center, which supports the Russell square station.

"Great Waltz" Cast Runs Own Savings Bank for Summer

The improvidence of theatrical people, especially chorus girls, will cease to be a tradition if the example of the members of "The Great Waltz" company, now at the Auditorium, is followed. This organization has a bank of its own—a backstage affair which is teaching the ballet dancers, the chorus singers, and many of the principals the value of thrift.

Every pay day Robert Milford, manager of the company and inventor of this informal banking system, holds back 10 per cent of the salaries of the bank's members and puts the money out at interest. Withdrawals may be made in the regular savings bank manner. At the close of the season each member will get his total deposits, plus 2 per cent interest. The average chorus girl's deposit is $5 a week, and when the tour ends in June, at the end of the forty weeks of a normal theatrical season, she will have $200 to carry her over the summer.

"This 'Great Waltz' bank has been operating for about two years," said John Pollock of the company's executive staf yesterday. "Our people are enthusiastic about it. Mr. Milford gives his services to the bank without remuneration."

"Secret Service," the drama of civil war atmosphere which William Gillette wrote as a vehicle for himself in 1896, will be revived by the WPA Repertory company at the Blackstone theater next Monday night. Martin Burton, a young actor of Chicago background whose last appearance here was with Maude Adams and Otis Skinner in "The Merchant of Venice," will have Mr. Gillette's rôle.

The next production of Federal [WPA] Theater No. 1, at the Great Northern theater, will be an adaptation of Goethe's "Faust," to open on Tuesday night, March 31. Performances of Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People," the present bill, will continue until March 28.

Two Child Actors Hurt on Trip to Legalize Contracts

Hollywood, Cal., March 17.—[Special.]—Dickie Jones, 8, and Alberta Dugan, 9, child film players, were injured in an auto collision today while being driven downtown to Los Angeles courthouse to have their film studio contracts legalized by a judge. They were in the rear seat of a sedan which was bumped. Mrs. LaVerne Jones, Dickie's mother, was driving, and Mrs. Madge Dubin, Alberta's mother, were in the front seat and were unhurt. Dickie was treated at police receiving hospital for scalp cuts, and the little girl for bruises on the forehead and cuts.

Beery Charters Plane to Rush Daughter to Doctor

Hollywood, Cal., March 17.—[Special.]—When his 5 year old daughter Carl Ann Beery was stricken today with tonsilitis Wallace Beery chartered an airplane in Santa Fe, N. M., and flew with the child here for treatment. Beery, his wife, the child's nurse, and the daughter had been motoring from Detroit to Los Angeles in the actor's new land yacht when the child fell ill.

New Weather Forecasts Aid Movie Studios

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 17.—[Special.]—The Motion Picture Producers' association has made a bargain to buy weather forecasts. The deal is with Irving P. Krick, young scientist with the rank of professor at California Institute of Technology in Pasadena. He is head of the meteorology department of the Guggenheim aeronautical laboratories at Caltech.

Krick has been predicting weather by his air mass calculation system for years. According to the spokesman at the Hays office, "the value of Dr. Krick's forecasts lies in the fact that he can 'call his shots' with great accuracy for as much as ten days in advance."

Before the producers contracted for Krick's services, a survey was made of his weather and sunlight forecasts and it indicated 288 days correct as forecast with only 25 days not entirely correct. The Krick staf is supposed to provide the film association with daily predictions as to "P. V." for stipulated days or weeks ahead of time. "P. V." means "photographic value."

"The United States army and navy have been represented for some time with officers as students in Krick's air predicting classes chiefly, of course, with the idea of getting advance notice of bad aviation conditions.

Martin Malone, Comedienne Polly Moran's young husband, is playing a bit as an actor in "Romeo and Juliet."

Jack Holt will agree to wear tuxedo or tails for movie scenes [rarely in real life], but he won't unbend to the point of wearing evening pumps with evening clothes. He wears black lether boots inside his dress trousers.

Spencer Tracy vows he didn't mean it but when he was supposed to swing at Clark Gable's jaw and barely miss for a scene in "San Francisco," Tracy didn't miss.

John McGuire, new movie actor and former Santa Clara university football player, has been escorting Marion Talley about, sometimes to dining and dancing spots and frequently to Bel Air Beach club.

From a job as pitcher on a St. Ignatius grammar school baseball team in Chicago to a start toward Hollywood film fame is the journey taken by 11 year old Jack Moran in the last six months. Jack, whose father, William J. Moran, formerly was assistant attorney general of Illinois and who used to live at 1400 Lake Shore drive in Chicago, has just finished a rôle with Mary Astor and Melvyn Douglas in "So They Were Married" for Columbia studio.

Six months ago he was attending the Chicago parochial school, singing in the choir at Holy Name cathedral on Sundays and spending spare time in the summer season roaming through Lincoln park and swimming at Oak street. He wanted to grow bigger, matriculate at Notre Dame and perhaps be a lawyer like his dad, but entrance of his photo into a national advertising contest resulted in his selection to have his likeness blazoned on thousands of billboards while dozens of commercial photography concerns sought his photo for other ads.

A talent scout sent the kid to Hollywood preceded by favorable recommendations and while a film part was being arranged for him he was given a bit of acting experience in a three act stage play, "The King Sleeps" at Hollywood Vine Street theater.

In the film "So They Were Married," Jackie is the child lead opposite Edith Fellows, 10, who was featured prior to that in Claudette Colbert's "She Married Her Boss."

Jane Rhodes, 14, of Rockford, Ill., who has been under movie contract seven months but had no rôles, is now in "Something to Live For" with Herbert Marshall and Gertrude Michael at Paramount.

Director Bill Wellman has sold an original story, "The Longest Night," to Metro studio. The same studio also pays him a fat salary as director. Some other director will make this story into film form.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The daintiest woman we know told us some of her secrets the other day when we pleaded to know why she is always like a crisp bit of organdy in a world where most of us look bedraggled nine-tenths of the time.

She doesn't have just one magic trick; she looks as she does because she has a complex about good grooming. After her morning tub she uses a body sachet [Carnation fragrance, which is having a vogue] and a talc in the same scent. During the day she chooses to be perfumeless, but the sachet and talc seem to serve the same purpose in a wellbred and subtle fashion.

She carries some of the sachet with her and uses it in the freshening up periods as the day wears on. Says it does more to make her feel fresh than almost anything outside of cleaning her face.

Her hair is always trim because she is conscientious about having it shampooed and trimmed every ten days. But between times she polishes it nightly with her immaculate and good hairbrush and she never, never tumbles into bed without wearing a net.

Her face always looks so fresh because she uses a foundation. Her choice is a liquid that requires some deftness but that does a remarkable job for her in keeping her face straight for hours on end. Three times a day, no matter how busy she is, she remakes up—morning, noon and just before dinner.

She is never without a pair of snowy white gloves. Three pairs a day are not too many, she thinks. And she's a clothesbrush fanatic. She keeps one in her desk and uses it when she steps out as automatically as she powders her nose. Keeping crisp, she says, is a cinch.

And, in any case, keeping crisp looking is an art to be cultivated. How's for making it a spring resolution?

Two Modernists Offer Contrast in Club Exhibit

Paintings by Serge Ferat Are Delightful.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Arts club opened two exhibitions yesterday. As with its last show, the club is offering contrasting exhibits featuring antagonistic types of modern painting.

In the little room are the pictures by Harry Carlsson, a Danish surrealist. One finds in his work a mixture of the violence of Van Gogh and the mathematical mechanics of Leger, Picasso and Survage. Carlsson delights in abstruse and complicated arrangements. Sometimes the impression caught from his skeletonized subjects is cleverly amusing.

The "Edgar Allan Poe" is a jumble of clattering doors, spooks, Satanic humor and mystery, but one gathers from it that the poet, Poe, was fond of dabbling in the esoteric. "Stockholm" suggests an old maid sitting primly.

"The Miracle" is a magician fluttering into flower with birds and blossoms springing alive from him in bewildering numbers. "Codfish" has its feet on the ground [fins on the platter] and brings one back from the upper realms of pure thought to the more usual atmosphere of the everyday.

In the large gallery are the delightful paintings by Serge Ferat. These are delicate and idealized. They suggest the Japanese in their sensitive and exquisite coloring. One may consider them as paintings or as decorative designs and take pleasure in them from both points of view.

This is the type of modern painting for which there is a distinct place in a world too burdened with the ugly realities of life. Ferat ingeniously combines excellent composition with an intelligent appreciation of color in its lighter shades. He does marvelous things with tan and rose and yellow and white.

There is not a headache in the entire expanse of Ferat's paintings. They incite appreciative smiles and murmurs of approbation. They are outside of the realm of great art, but they are in a charming little niche of their own along with the several other men who are painting similar poems, and one would hate to be robbed of them.

Among the most delicious are "The Baker's Cart," "The Wagon Driver," "Horses in the Prairie" [ravishing trees], "Church and Village," "Threshing Machine" and "Level Passage."

The exhibitions will continue to April 1.

30 FIGHTERS BOARD SPECIAL AFTER WORKOUT

Box in Garden Ring Monday.

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JOHNNY BEHR.

Toledo, O., March 17.—Chicago's Golden Glovers were rolling along toward the Atlantic seaboard tonight with fire in their eyes and a lot of fight in their hearts. They were on their way to New York and Madison Square Garden, where next Monday night they renew their feud with New York's champions, representing the Daily News in the ninth annual intercity Golden Gloves match.

There were thirty boxers in this party which arrived here an hour after dinner time tonight and the folks in Toledo soon became Golden Gloves conscious, because the train had hardly halted when Coach Johnny Behr ordered the fighters off their special and out for a brisk walk.

Hartnek Wins Race.

For fifteen minutes they walked and jogged. Before reaching Toledo Jim Blake of the New York Central, who is personally in charge of this rough and ready contingent, had rung the dinner bell. Paul Hartnek, the heavyweight from Omaha, outfooted all the others in the rush for the dinner table.

True to the traditions of the old sod, Mr. Blake insisted that everybody in the party drink a toast to St. Patrick. The beverage he passed around was some sort of green lemonade.

The Chicago boys had put in their longest road work drill of the training season at Grant Park this morning before they broke camp at the Illinois Athletic club and moved to the La Salle street station, where their special train was waiting for them. They were not asked to box during the day, but early tomorrow afternoon, at Stillman's gymnasium in New York, this lether which the Chicago champions toss with such skill will be flying in all directions.

Rutecki's Ear Heals.

The only boxer on the squad who hasn't been able to do any actual ring work since the Chicago camp was opened is Chester Rutecki, the welterweight champion. An injured ear kept him on the side lines, but it was entirely healed when he boarded the train. He will engage in a training bout, probably with Johnny Barbara, tomorrow.

Coach Behr called the squad together after their exercise jaunt at Toledo and told them to elect a captain. The balloting will take place before reaching New York.

The boxers who were aboard the train when it arrived here were:

FEATHERWEIGHTS—Ted Kara, Paul Spica, Ray Harris and George Latka.

FLYWEIGHTS—Sam Zaczek, Jesse Robinson, Steve Rodak and Joe Chizar.

Italians Tie German Stars for Lead in 6 Day Bike Race

BULLETIN.

Alvaro Georgetti and Ferdinando Grillo, the Italian team, gained a lap early this morning in the six day bicycle race at the Stadium and raced into a tie for first place with the German team of Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

A merry gathering of 14,000 bike race loving citizens filled the Chicago Stadium last night to mark St. Patrick's day, but when the evening's riding was done, the principal celebrants were two boys who hail not from Donegal, but from Dortmund, Germany.

They were Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, the two young Germans who have won all of the six races they have ridden in since coming to America. Midnight found Gustav and Heinz a lap ahead of the field after the dizziest stretch of wheeling the present race has seen thus far.

Rodman-Thomas Drop Back.

In order to gain that one lap lead, the Germans had to break the tie which the tenacious Chicago-Kenosha team of Jerry Rodman and Bobby Thomas had forced them to share almost since the starting gun sent them away on Sunday night. Kilian and Vopel also had to put down a number of revolutionary rallies with the entire field chasing them, from 9 o'clock until after 10:30.

As the field settled down to its early morning toil, two teams were tied, a lap back of the Germans. One of these was the Rodman-Thomas combination, and the other the Italian pair of Alvaro Georgetti and Ferdinando Grillo. The latter two were among the chief insurrectionists who threatened the Kilian-Vopel lead during a wild mêlée which saw two serious spills.

Red Devils Crash.

One of these crashes involved the Red Devil team of Al Letourner and Gerard Debaets, and for a half hour it appeared that the two, who had come out of the afternoon in second place, would be eliminated from the race entirely.

The accident occurred along the south boards, just as Debaets was about to relieve Letourner, but the pickup was never completed. The chain on Debaets' wheel broke and the two were sent to the boards, both with several scratches, and each with a severe bumping of the spine. After a 30 minute rest both returned to the track, although Debaets still complained of the pain in his spine and it will be X-rayed later.

Step Right Out Again.

The Red Devils were far from through, however, as they soon showed by going out and stealing a lap which again brought them back into second place. Then followed a spell of riding which had the customers dizzy trying to describe who was leading the race. At one time, the Kilian-Vopel, Rodman-Thomas, and Georgetti-Grillo teams were deadlocked for first place, but the Germans, with another exhibition of their remarkable speed, stole the lap that gave them the lead they still held at midnight.

Before all of this mad cycling had abated, another spill, this time along the north boards, had sent two more riders tumbling to the boards, and thence to their cots. They were Grillo and Hank Sima, the young reformed Chicago amateur who is trying to make good on the big time. Both were eventually able to get back on the track, Grillo to help Georgetti retain their second place tie, while Sima aided his partner, the veteran Dave Lands, to gain a deadlock for third place with the Red Devil pair, and the Chicago-Belgian duo of Cecil Yates and Saveer Van Slambrouck.

Burglars Are Busy.

The night's skimming over the pine saucer revealed an alarming increase in lap thefts, 65 being registered during the evening to bring the total to 214.

Lieber and Terry Fail to Agree on Contract Terms

Pensacola, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Hank Lieber, New York outfielder, and Manager Bill Terry held two conferences today but failed to reach an agreement on a salary for the Giants' most determined holdout. After signing as baseball coach at the University of Arizona, Lieber came here last night and registered at a hotel near Giant headquarters. He has said he would not play this year unless his demands are met.

RANGERS SKATE TO VICTORY OVER BLACKHAWKS, 4-2

New York, March 17.—(AP)—The New York Rangers defeated the Chicago Blackhawks, 4 to 2, in a rousing National Hocky league match played here before 10,000 tonight.

Defeat was bitter for the Chicagoans, as it prevented them from moving up to a tie with the Detroit Red Wings for leadership of the American division. On the other hand it was particularly sweet for the Rangers, as it enabled them to keep on the heels of the Boston Bruins in the struggle for third place and a Stanley cup berth.

The Hawks went down fighting. Twice the Rangers gained a two goal lead and twice the Blackhawks came within a goal of tying the count.

Rangers Take Lead.

The Rangers had all the best of play in the first 20 minutes, and markers by Frankie Boucher and Murray Murdoch gave them a two goal lead to start the second period. Glenn Brydson was serving a penalty when the Rangers scored their first goal.

Soon after the third period got under way Bill Cook screened a shot from the Chicago defense for an unexpected counter. The Hawks refused to give up, though, and Wildor La Rochelle dashed in to put his team back in the running after Earl Seibert, Hawk defense man, had given him a forward pass that caught the Ranger rear guards cold.

Hawks are Outmaneuvered.

The big break of the game came when Chicago shot out four forwards in the latter stages, desperately seeking the tying point. The visitors were trapped in the Ranger end when Bill Cook and Alex Shibicky broke away, the latter clinching the game with an easy score.

The Blackhawks left immediately after the contest for Detroit, where they play the Red Wings Thursday in a duel for the American group leadership.

De La Salle, St. Francis Open U.S. Catholic Tourney Tonight

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The national Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament will open this evening at Loyola university gymnasium, with De La Salle exercising the Chicago title holder's traditional privilege of appearing in the first game. De La Salle's opponent will be St. Francis High school of Council Bluffs, Ia.

Another matter of tradition—the introduction of the defending champion—will be attended to when St. Xavier of Louisville, Ky., takes the floor for the second of tonight's three games. The Kentuckians will open their title defense against De Padua of Ashland, Wis.

East Meets West.

A match between Our Lady of Victory of Lackawanna, N. Y., and St. Anthony of Okmulgee, Okla., will conclude the evening's program.

Play will continue morning, afternoon and evening tomorrow and Friday. Quarter-finals will be played Saturday afternoon, semi-finals Saturday evening, and the finals Sunday evening.

The field is made up of 32 teams from 18 states, each contestant having been invited because of an outstanding record in its section. In addition to De La Salle, two other Chicago Catholic league teams—St. George and St. Philip—will compete. St. George earned its place by being runner-up for the local championship. St. Philip was the west section leader.

St. George Plays at 10.

St. George will make its first appearance in the tournament tomorrow at 10 o'clock against Spalding institute of Peoria. St. Philip will begin its campaign tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, De La Salle of Minneapolis being scheduled as its opponent.

The field this season compares favorably in strength with any which has taken part in the 12 preceding tournaments. Many of the favorite teams of other years have returned and some have brought with them outstanding individuals of recent tournaments. The Indians from St. Francis Mission school of South Dakota, always favorites with the spectators, will be trying again for a title. Leonard Quick Bear, Collins Jordan, and Hobart Stans, three players who caught the fancy of the crowd last season, will be doing their best again in this tournament.

St. Xavier Stars Return.

Ackerman and Halppen, two of the players who had much to do with earning the championship for St. Xavier last year, are scheduled for a return engagement. St. Xavier has another powerful team this season, having won 15 games and lost 3. The Louisville school has been one of the most consistently strong conenders in the Loyola event, this being the seventh time it has been represented during the thirteen years of the tournament's history.

Most of the teams had checked into headquarters by last night, but there will be a few late arrivals today.

Tonight's Games

8:30—Xavier, Louisville, Ky., vs. De Padua, Ashland, Wis.

AMBERS KNOCKS OUT SCARPATI IN 7TH ROUND

Just before the bell for the end of the seventh round Ambers connected with a terrific right to the chin and Scarpati crumpled to the floor. Scarpati's handlers dragged him to his chair, but were unable to revive him for the eighth round, and Ambers was declared the victor by a knockout.

NO REST TODAY FOR SOX; RAIN CHANGES PLANS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 17.—St. Patrick's day developed into a real workless holiday for the condition seeking White Sox. A slight drizzle persisted this morning and Manager Jim Dykes, after a peek at the training field, decided no good could be accomplished by permitting the athletes to ruin their $16 baseball shoes. It was one of a few days lost in the four springs the Chicagoans have conducted their muscle stretching exercises here.

However, the layoff was not looked upon as anything of consequence. It merely caused Dykes to rearrange his plans. In his belief that his fellows have had enough work for the time being, he had declared a vacation for tomorrow. Now, as the result of today's leisure, the boys will have to go to class tomorrow, but the program will be started early so the gang can be ready for an afternoon visit to a movie studio as guests of Joe E. Brown, the rubber mouthed comedian.

Meet Angels Next.

Including tomorrow's drill the Sox will have three more sessions here before packing up for their stop and go tour toward Chicago. They leave here Saturday morning, playing a game that afternoon and on Sunday at San Bernardino against the Los Angeles team. On the five succeeding days they'll battle unknowns at Yuma, Phoenix, Tucson, Bisbee, and El Paso. Then the competition will take a turn for the better. Starting March 28 at San Antonio a series of thirteen games with the Pittsburgh Pirates will get under way. After this pleasing company is dispensed with the Sox will go home for three games with the Cubs.

For the two week-end engagements against the Los Angeles club Manager Dykes plans on pitching his first string performers such as John Whitehead, Vernon Kennedy, Monty Stratton, Les Tietje, Whitlow Wyatt, and Babe Phelps.

Unknowns vs. Unknowns.

A program such as this has been devised mainly to give the probable stalwarts of the staff some needed polish. At least that is what Dykes claims. But the Los Angeles team and its adherents may take a different view of the matter. And they might be right.

The Coast leaguers have barred big leaguers from their own parks, except for the Cubs-Sox series at Los Angeles, on the plea that the visitors do not furnish a good attraction, so Dykes can't be blamed if he tries to shatter the argument.

MIKE PITCHES FIVE INNINGS, YIELDS 3 HITS

Carleton Is Lucky in Late Sessions.

MIKE KOWALIK.

San Antonio, Tex., March 17.—The Cubs, who licked the Pirates 15 times last season, today found the Pittsburghers the same old pals as they handed them a 3 to 1 licking. The Pirate run was unearned.

Manager Grimm was the only champ who saw service throughout the entire contest. In the sixth he sent replacements into every position save first base. The most significant of the assignments was the placing of Phil Cavarretta in left field. Since deciding to resume his old playing job Mr. Grimm has been pondering the proposition of transforming Cavarretta into an outfielder. Today was his first move in carrying out the idea.

Three Hits Off Kowalik.

Mike Kowalik, a product of this vicinity, pitched the first five innings and held the Pirates to three hits. He had a stormy first inning when Pie Traynor's boys filled the bases with one out, but he launched the double play which terminated the threat.

Tex Carleton pitched the last four innings and confined the Pirates to four hits. In the sixth the Pittsburghers loaded the bases with none out, but Tex escaped. He squirmed out again in the eighth when the Pirates filled the bases with one out.

Chuck Klein worked on the first shift and made two of the Cubs' nine hits. Bill Herman also was a two hit gent, and his pair figured in all the Chicago runs.

Galan Gets On as Usual.

The paid attendance today was 4,243, bringing the total for the four

Another match at this distance brings together Joe Ketchell of Cleveland and George Vallos. Three matches at six rounds involve Bob Tow and Eddie Slake, Izzy Singer and Steve Roberts, and Max Zona and Woody White. . . . Armour Meet Attracts Star 880 Runners

Records in the college and university 880 yard and 440 yard open events are very likely to be broken in the eighth annual Armour Tech relays Saturday night.

The Armour record for the 880 yards is 1:56.8. It was established by Charles Hornbostel of Indiana in 1932. From the results of the Big Ten and the Central Intercollegiate conference meets, it is safely predictable that this record will fall.

Normal Star Favorite.

Abe Rozenkrantz of Michigan State Normal, a member of the Jewish Olympic team, ran the 880 in 1:55, setting a new C. I. C. meet record at Notre Dame last week. In the Big Ten meet, Beetham of Ohio State ran the same event in 1:56.2 which is still six-tenths of a second faster than the present Armour record. Indications are, therefore, that Rozenkrantz will be the favorite while Fleming of Northwestern, who was second in the Big Ten 880, and Beckett of Marquette, who ran third in the C. I. C., fighting for second place.

The Armour 440 yard record may also go by the boards this year with such stars as O'Shea and Jessel of Marquette, Mixon of Kansas State, and Sonny Heg of Northwestern entered in the university divisions. Heg took a third in the conference meet while Ray Ellingwood was making his record breaking run. O'Shea was a finalist in the meet at Notre Dame. O'Shea and Heg may tear down the relay mark of :50.4 set by Burns of Butler in 1932.

College Field Strong.

In the college 440 another stellar field will vie for honors with the winner almost unpredictable. Hein of Northern Illinois State Teachers, who ran a close second to Nichols of Iowa State Teachers last year, is entered again and will have a tough battle on his hands with Marty Bridges and Evan Van de Walle, both of Lawrence college, who have been clocked in 52 and 51.5 seconds, respectively.

The mile run, another open event, is also fraught with possibilities, although the time of 4:14.1 set by Indiana's Brocksmith in 1932 does not seem to be in particular danger. The times in both of last Saturday's meets were slower than the existing Armour record.

However, 35 contestants have been entered representing 27 schools, among which there may be a dark horse.

Suesens Named Captain of Iowa Basketball Five

Iowa City, Ia., March 17.—[Special.]—Kenneth Suesens, sophomore guard, tonight was elected captain of the University of Iowa basketball team for next season. Suesens will be the first Hawkeye junior captain since the election of Forrest Twogood in 1928.

The captain-elect will succeed Sid Rosenthal, Chicago and John Barko, Muscatine, Ia., captains of the 1935-'36 squad. Barko served as leader until his graduation in February, and Rosenthal completed the year.

DETROIT ATTACK WORRIES C. Y. O. SHAMROCK SIX

The Detroit Chevrolet hocky team's offense is a source of worry to the C. Y. O. Shamrocks, who are preparing to meet Detroit in a playoff match at the Chicago Stadium Sunday night.

The invading line of Jimmy Sullivan, Aurel Myre, and Art Bogue are all excellent scorers. Of the three, Sullivan is the best all around player. When the Chevrolets defeated the Shamrocks last month, 4 to 2, it was all Sullivan's effort.

Jimmy played center for the motor city six when he bagged his first goal. He was playing right defense when he assisted Art Bogue for Detroit's second counter.

Farragut High Takes Senior Title, 23 to 21

Farragut won the senior basketball championship of the Chicago Public High School league by defeating Kelvyn Park, 23 to 21, at Lane Tech gymnasium yesterday. Farragut led, 9 to 8, at the end of the first half and held a 15 to 14 advantage at the third period. Biros, guard, starred for the champions, scoring four field goals and four free throws.

The lead changed twice in the last quarter of the close battle. Kelvyn Park led, 15 to 14, at the start of the period, but Bernstein made good on a free throw attempt to deadlock the score. However, Biros sank a long shot to put Faragut in front. Bernstein and Silverstein were forced to leave the game with four personal fouls late in the quarter. Score:

Woods and Waters

By Bob Becker

The bluegills have started to hit flies in northern Illinois waters, so from now on weekly migrations of fly fishermen from Chicago to the Fox lake region can be expected.

We scouted some of the possible bluegill and crappie fishing holes in the Fox lake territory Sunday afternoon. A number of hardy, but shivering, fly fishermen were observed standing in snowbanks on the sides of streams, whipping out their small brown bivisibles, nymphs and other patterns which are known to fool bluegills early in the spring. We had our fly rod in the car with us but, seeing no crappies on deck, we decided to unlimber our tackle a little later on.

If ice fishermen and fly fishermen wanted to start an argument Sunday they had plenty of chances, because the outdoors presented both groups. Standing near the famous ditch in the Fox lake area, the rendezvous of Chicago bluegill fishermen at this season of the year, we saw this picture:

Up the lake from the ditch the ice fishermen were keeping vigil around their fishing holes in the ice and acting as winter's last guard with reason to resent fly fishermen, who are allies of Lady Spring. . . . Facing shallow open water in a ditch a battery of fly fishermen, some with caps pulled down to keep their ears warm. . . . One fly fisherman catching bluegills on a brown fly while his hands were encased in gloves. . . . Another bluegill fisherman, without gloves, shivering as if he had the ague and complaining about how cold he was. . . . He had been fishing there in the northeast wind for three hours. . . . Bluegills in shallow water not more than 15 or 18 inches deep. . . . All anglers keeping their feet cool by standing in snowdrifts. . . . The slow retrieve of the fly very noticeable as we snapped several pictures before going to the car to thaw out. . . . You had to work your fly deep and very slowly to get the bluegills to hit.

SHAUGHNESSY BREAKS RECORD IN PREP TRACK

Vaults 13 Feet ½ Inch; Sikich Sets Mark.

Two records were broken in the city high school indoor track preliminaries last night at the University of Chicago full house. Five hundred athletes, representing nineteen schools, participated.

Clark Shaughnessy Jr., son of the Maroon football coach, smashed the pole vault record by clearing the bar at 13 feet ½ inch, beating the old mark, made by Broughton of Lane in 1928, by 1 foot 6⅝ inches. Shaughnessy represents Hyde Park High.

Sikich Beats Own Mark.

John Sikich of Bowen heaved the shot 51 feet 1¾ inches to better the record of 47 feet 8½ inches, made by himself last year.

Both marks were in the senior division and both events were finals.

Finals Are Saturday.

MONTREAL, March 17.—(AP)—The Montreal Maroons, last year's Stanley cup winners, virtually clinched first place in the international division of the National Hockey league tonight by defeating the second place Toronto Maple Leafs, 2 to 1, before 12,000.

It was Montreal's second victory in four nights over the team that has led the division every year since 1933. It put the Maroons three points ahead of the Leafs, who have only two more games to play. Montreal has one left.

Hooley Smith, veteran Montreal center, clinched the victory after the Leafs had fought their way from behind to tie the score. Smith fired the winning shot on a double pass from Baldy Northcott and Cy Wentworth, while Red Horner, Toronto defense man, was in the penalty box. Lineup:

Higgins Signs After Talk with Mack in Florida

Fort Myers, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Holdout troubles ended for the Philadelphia Athletics today with the signing of Frank [Pinky] Higgins, the third base star from Dallas, at a figure believed to be more than $10,000—his salary for 1935.

With the terse statement, "Higgins is O. K.," Manager Connie Mack announced the entrance of the last standoff into the fold.

For weeks Higgins had turned down contract after contract, and had remained in Dallas, believing the club owed him a substantial increase because he was one of the three outstanding holdovers left after Mack finished his winter trading sweep.

At first he was joined by Outfielder Bob Johnson and Pitcher Vernon Wilshere, two others of the holdover clan, but they since came to terms.

Last night Higgins arrived in camp to talk it over. He and Mack lunched together today, conferred for a few minutes afterward, and the long deadlock came to an end.

Immediately the contract was signed, Higgins took his first workout with the squad. He refused to discuss the contract terms.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TUG BLUME of Northwestern accidentally bumped Johnny Eggemeyer, University of Chicago sophomore, in the recent basketball game between the two schools and Eggemeyer's lip as a result ballooned up far beyond its normal size. . . . After the game Eggemeyer had a blind date for the Phi Kappa Psi formal. . . . The introductions found Eggemeyer talking with considerable difficulty. . . . The girl's name was Virginia Blume and she said she had a brother on the Northwestern basketball team. . . . Marion Nagurski, brother of the famous Bronko, who will be graduated in June from International Falls, Minn., High school, can't make up his mind whether to enroll at Minnesota, his brother's alma mater, or at Notre Dame. . . . No matter which school he decides on, he can't make a mistake. . . . The younger Nagurski is a 200 pound tackle. . . . During the Cubs' sojourn on Catalina Island Charley Grimm revealed himself as a masterful hamburger cooker upper. . . . There's a big cook stove at the country club and that is all he wanted to know. . . . Larry Lutz, California's all-American tackle, is a discus candidate on the school's track squad. . . . Ernie Nevers predicts that Monk Moscrip, Stanford end, will play no more football with the possible exception of the All-Star game at Soldiers' field Sept. 1, provided he is elected to the college squad. . . .

The White Sox used 630 dozen baseballs last season. They have thirty dozens in spring training this year. . . . Two members of the United States' speed skating team in the Olympic games, Bob Petersen and Leo Freisinger, were classmates at Schurz High school, Chicago, in 1932. . . . Paul Combs, a bantamweight on Chicago's intercity Golden Gloves squad, was a member of the Washington, Ind., High school basketball team a year or two ago. . . . Buddy Hassett, Dodgers' first baseman, speaking from experience, says night baseball is injurious to players because they only see half the ball, the under side being in a shadow, and the dew keeps their feet damp and legs chilled. . . . Jack Clements, who as a member of the Phillies in the '90s became the only left-handed catcher to enjoy a successful big league career, is employed in a sporting goods factory in Philadelphia. . . .

Capt. Warren Whitlinger of Ohio State has proved that height is not necessary for basketball success. . . . He weighs only 150 pounds and is 5 feet 5 inches tall, but he has not been held scoreless in 58 varsity games. . . . Gregory Mangin, Newark stock broker who has won the indoor tennis championship four of the last five years, spends more than $500 a year for rackets. . . . Burt Ingwersen, Northwestern baseball coach, is looking forward to the two game series with Iowa at Iowa City. . . . It will be Burt's first appearance in Iowa City as a coach since resigning as football leader there in 1931. . . . New York has more bowlers than any other city in the world. . . . Dave Burke of Marquette jumps higher indoors than outdoors. . . . Firpo Marberry, who is attempting a comeback with the Giants, recently had fourteen teeth extracted. . . . Tex Carleton, Cub pitcher, will carry the fancy cowboy boots in which he arrived in California to Florida just in case there should be a horse. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Jocky Jimmy Dillea of Chicago rode five winners at the Tampa race track. . . . Two Chicago teams, St. Ignatius and Loyola, were eliminated from the national Catholic prep basketball tournament. . . . Eddie Kane, manager of Sammy Mandell, took over the management of Shuffle Callahan. . . . Gar Wood won the $10,000 gold speedboat cup race at Miami, Fla. . . . The Cubs quit Catalina Island and started on their eastern exhibition tour.

Rickey Invites Dean to Come Over and Talk

Bradenton, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—It apparently has taken a woman to bring Dizzy Dean and Branch Rickey together.

Rickey, vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals, announced today he had written the recalcitrant pitcher inviting him to come and talk over their salary and "loyalty" controversy.

Dean undoubtedly will accept since the letter was written, it was learned, after Mrs. Patricia Dean, wife of the hurler, telephoned Rickey. He declined to say what they talked about, but there was little doubt she prompted the invitation.

Rickey Can Talk.

Rickey's strategy has been to wait him out. Perhaps Mrs. Dean told him Dizzy was tired of his holdout rôle, was weakening in his demands for $40,000.

Observers, who know what a persuasive man Rickey is, predicted he'd have Dizzy's signature on a contract for about $20,000 once they get together.

Far more important from Rickey's standpoint, according to what he has repeatedly said, is Dean's attitude toward the Cardinals and baseball.

Loyalty Clause Is Hitch.

Rickey apparently wants the pitcher to sign an oath of allegiance—perhaps it'll be part of the contract—that "you will wear your uniform constantly in the ranks like a good soldier, well-disciplined, pitching your head off when called."

That quotation is from Rickey's now famous "letter of Jan. 23" in which he demanded a general change in Dizzy's behavior and attitude. Rickey concluded the letter with the statement if Dean would turn over a new leaf, "you and I will not have any great difficulty in arriving at satisfactory terms for your contract."

FORMER MAROON STARS RECEIVE DOCTOR DEGREES

Two former Maroon football tackles received doctor's degrees yesterday at the 183d convocation of the University of Chicago, held in the university chapel. Malcolm J. Proudfoot, member of the Maroon teams of 1926, 1927, and 1928, received the doctor of philosophy degree in geography, and Andrew J. Brislen of the Maroon squads of 1928, 1929, and 1930 received the doctor of medicine degree.

Three other lettermen won awards. Herman E. Ries, captain of the tennis team in 1933, received the doctor of philosophy degree in chemistry, and Paul Whitney, back field man on the 1935 football team, and Marvin Berkson, baseball player, received bachelor's degrees.

DERRINGER MUST PAY HIS WIFE OR LOSE HIS JOB

Tampa, Fla., March 17.—[Special.]—Paul Derringer, star member of the Cincinnati Reds' pitching staf, was confronted with a big problem today. Derringer was ordered by Judge L. L. Parks in Circuit court to pay his wife $150 a month temporary alimoney and at the same time Larry MacPhail, general manager of the Reds, who attended the hearing, said he would suspend Derringer if the case is not settled soon.

Judge Parks also ordered the pitcher to pay $500 for his wife's attorney's fees. Mrs. Derringer charged her husband with "habitual indulgence in a violent and ungovernable temper." Derringer is to make his first alimony payment immediately, but MacPhail said the club would not advance the money.

Rain Changes Sox Schedule; Practice Today

Bisbee and El Paso, Dykes will endeavor to learn something about his own unknown quantities. On those days he is going to assign most of the pitching labors to such as John Salveson, Russell Evans, Italo [Lefty] Chelini, and Ira Hutchinson. The actual worth of these youngsters remains a matter of doubt, although all still have a good chance to develop. Evans who won 24 games at Oklahoma City last season, was thought to be the choicest of the pack, but he lacks the fast ball so essential to success in the majors.

Dykes Checks Up.

A picture of Zeke Bonura, holdout first baseman, in the act of selling apples in the daddy's fruit store at New Orleans was printed in a local paper this morning and Zeke would have felt greatly depressed if he had heard some of the wise comments made by his mates. The most cryptic remark was made by Manager Dykes, who declared that Zeke had best get a lot of practice as salesman because it might stand him in good stead if he doesn't abandon his loft salary ideas. Zeke will show up as soon as the Sox get close to his home town.

Waiver requests from American league clubs owning good material they want to ship out with the idea of strengthening their minor league farms are beginning to come through and Dykes is not at all careless about looking over each player named. Identities, of course, can't be revealed except under penalty. He says he'll file a claim whenever a worthwhile outfielder is on the list. There are several such fellows the different clubs are trying to sneak out of the big show.

Fishing Trip Off.

When tomorrow's off day was prospective, Ted Lyons, Whit Wyatt and Jack Hayes arranged for a fishing tour which they were forced to abandon as the result of today's rain. They were going to Long Beach to take passage on one of those big schooners which, for a couple of dollars per person, furnish everything except the fish. However, the fish or rather the variety known as yellow-tail now are running, so even a novice is assured of a return on his investment.

Flowers, Root Face Pirates in 2d Game

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., March 17.—Charley Flowers, one of the Cubs' five lefty pitchers, will start tomorrow's game with the Pirates. Charley Root, who is celebrating his 37th birthday today, will finish up. Jim Weaver, former Cub, is expected to start for the Pirates.

The Cubs' special had to make up three hours and five minutes between here and El Paso. The train pulled in on time at 12:30 o'clock, much to the surprise and delight of all nervous Cubs who wanted to play today but feared a cancelation.

The local inn, in which both Cubs and Pirates are housed, gave the Chicago troupe the best arrival service they ever enjoyed. A clerk met the train 30 miles west of San Antonio, gave every player his room assignment and checked each piece of baggage to the proper room.

The Cubs will depart for Houston at 11:55 tomorrow night and will arrive in Texas' largest city at 7 Thursday morning. They play the Buffs of the Texas league Thursday afternoon, then move on to New Orleans for a one day visit with the Cleveland Indians.

The Cubs will leave Umpire Beans Reardon with the Pirates and Umpire Ziggy Sears will join up.

WAKE MAIL BOX.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 17.—Dear Wake: I disagree with most of the arguments advanced by Helper Baker in this column recently in favor of legalized slot machines. To me, his reasoning is full of sophistries. For instance, he says that 250,000 persons, directly or indirectly, live off slot machines. Well, there are nearly 1,000,000 persons in Washington living off the rest of us. Surely, this country needs no more nonproducers.

Now I am not a prude. Nor do I subscribe to the theory that a poor man has no right to gamble. I'm a poor man and I'd like to gamble—if I had a fair chance. The poor man, with limited capital, has no chance against slot machines, horse races, dog races, or roulette.

There is just one form of gambling at which I'd have a chance—not a very good chance, but still a chance. That's a national lottery. My dollar for a ticket would not be sadly missed. I MIGHT draw a capital prize of say $100,000. That would be worth while. Let's have national and state lotteries for the poor man and stop petty larceny gambling.

No truer words ever were spoken than those of Jack Chitwood in your column. He brought many true and unnoticed facts to light. Who has Joe Louis ever knocked out that couldn't have been knocked out by Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey, or any other first class fighter? While Braddock is not the best fighter of all time, he will be game all the way through the fight [if the two ever meet]. There is no doubt Braddock will give all he has. That has been proved.

You recently wrote that a player can beat a race but can't beat the races. Professional newspaper handicappers get paid a salary for trying to pick winners. I kept tab for 20 consecutive days, 145 races, at Hialeah.

One of the best handicappers picks one best bet a day and a first choice for each race. He doesn't guarantee them. They're just his opinion based on past performances and present form. It's up to you take them or leave them.

His 20 best bets of the day, with a $2 mutuel ticket each day, cost $40 yielding 7 winners paying a total of $40.80 profit of 80 cents, not counting your expense for form sheets and mental wear and tear. His 145 first choices, at $2 each, cost $290, with 26 winners and payoff yield of $160.50, loss of $129.50. You said it: You can beat a race but you can't beat the races.

Nervous Breakdown.

And every winter travel south
By auto or by train.
Fort Lauderdale's an ideal place
To mend those shattered nerves,
With a sandy beach to loll upon
And study graceful curves.
I hope that sometime, not too far,
Before I grow too old,
I, too, can have a breakdown
Instead of just a cold.

Guest Selectors.

During the last week at Hialeah, these Guest Selectors outpicked Loftus for three days in succession, one naming a $65 long shot, causing Jimmy to remark ruefully:

"These fellows are making me look bad, and the worst part of it is that usually I do the picking for them as they're new in these parts, only I put on top horses which I haven't nerve enough to pick in my own selections but which have a good outside chance. And these babies have been going over."

Cub exhibition dates to 24,000, which is more than they drew in all exhibition games before going into Chicago last spring.

The Cubs got off to a two run lead in the first inning. Galan walked and went to third when Herman banged Blanton's first pitch to right field for a single. It appeared for several minutes that this good start would fade to nothing, for Klein popped to Young and Hartnett fanned. Demaree, however, singled to right, Galan scoring and Herman reaching third. Grimm's roller went through Young, Herman scoring and Demaree galloping to third. Hack ended it with a fly to Schulte.

In their half of the first inning the Pirates loaded the bases with only one down, and without the aid of a base hit. Jensen walked on four pitches, but was forced by P. Waner, Herman to Jurges. Schulte bounced a double play ball to Jurges, but Bill threw high to Herman, enabling P. Waner to reach third and Schulte first. Schulte took second on a wild pitch. Vaughan walked, filling the bases. The jam was dissipated when Suhr hit into a double play, Kowalik to Hartnett to Grimm.

Herman Gets Around.

Jensen doubled with one out in the Pirate third and was waved home when Jurges threw the relay to the stands. P. Waner singled to center, but Schulte popped to Herman and Vaughan flied to Demaree.

Herman launched the fifth with a single through the box and went to third on Klein's second single to center. Bush loosed a wild pitch, Herman scoring and Klein taking second. Hartnett was called out on strikes after a 3 and 2 count, and Demaree walked. Grimm flied to Jensen and Bush made a great diving stop before throwing out Hack.

SONJA HENIE TO MAKE PRO DEBUT IN EAST TUESDAY

Expects to Make $150,000 in Ten Cities.

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—Sonja Henie, 24 year old Norwegian girl who recently won her third Olympic title, announced today she would embark upon a career as a professional figure skater next week.

The foremost woman skater in the world who arrived last Tuesday, said she expected to net between $100,000 to $150,000 in a tour of ten cities.

Although Miss Henie said her guarantees amounted only to $70,000, she pointed out this figure would be increased because she was to share in a percentage of the gate receipts at each appearance.

Debut in East.

Miss Henie's professional debut will be made at New Haven, Tuesday. According to her program she will make her New York appearance at Madison Square Garden on March 29 and 31 and her Chicago engagement at the stadium on April 2, 3, 4, and 5.

The tour also will include Philadelphia, Boston, Buffalo, St. Louis, Minneapolis, St. Paul, and end at Detroit on April 14 and 15.

In discussing her step from the amateur to the professional ranks, Miss Henie pointed out one of her greatest hopes is to become a motion picture star.

"I want to go into pictures," she said, "and I want to skate in them. But the minute I skate in them I become a professional, so why shouldn't I go on this tour?

"What is my idea about pictures? Well, I want to do with skates what Fred Astaire is doing with dancing. No one has ever done it in the movies and I want to."

Test After Tour.

It is understood Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have an option on Miss Henie's services and that upon completion of her skating tour, she will take a screen test. The Pacific coast office of the motion picture organization is at present seeking a "suitable vehicle" for Miss Henie.

STEELS, MOTORS FEATURE BRISK RALLY IN STOCKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—Gains of 1 to 3 points were registered throughout the entire list today as the stock market turned in a decidedly bullish performance. Steels and motors played the leading parts as most of the losses sustained last week were recovered.

Though financial circles felt much better over the prospects of a war being averted in Europe, total turnover for the day—2,275,910 shares—gave ample evidence that the war threat has not completely left the market's consciousness. Nevertheless, signs were seen of renewed outside participation in many so-called key shares.

The improvement in prices was attributed mainly to more reassuring news from abroad which left more freedom for consideration of domestic news, which was mostly favorable.

Domestic News Bullish.

Corporation reports for last year were bullish. Retail sales reports, transportation figures and other direct testimony point to much better earnings for the first quarter of this year than were enjoyed last year. Despite this, financial quarters do not expect trade news to exert its full effect on the market until the differences between Germany and its opponents have been definitly settled.

This week's operating rate of 60 per cent for the steel industry with indications that the rate will be stepped up more in coming weeks led to enthusiastic buying of steel shares. U. S. Steel led the way, rising almost 3 points on a fairly large turnover, and Bethlehem did almost as well. Ludlum, Jones & Laughlin, Republic, Gulf States, and Youngstown showed gains at the close running from 1 to 4 points.

Chemical Stocks Soar.

Some unusually volatile issues were National Lead, up $8; Columbia Carbon, which advanced $7.75, and Allied Chemical, whose closing quotation was $4 higher. Amerada Oil was a weak spot in the list, losing 2¼ points.

Chrysler led the motor shares with a gain of 3⅛ points. General Motors added a point, and Yellow Truck was 2 points higher at the close.

American Power and Light and Electric Power were strong features in the utility division. Tobacco shares continued their improvement, Phillip Morris being especially buoyant as it rose 3½ points. American Tobacco preferred moved up more than 6 points.

Copper shares were active and higher. Oils were uniformly better and mining shares were good.

American Smelters was a feature, climbing over 5 points to a new high. Nickel and U. S. Smelting gained a point or more.

J. I. Case, American Can, Westinghouse, and General Electric were among pivotal issues whose gains ran to a point or more.

J. R. Thompson Loss for 1936 Drops Sharply

Net results of the John R. Thompson company showed an improvement of approximately $50,000 in the first two months of this year, compared with the same period of 1935, John R. Thompson Jr., president, told stockholders yesterday at the annual meeting.

JOHN R. THOMPSON JR.

The improvement resulted in cutting net loss for the first two months from $55,000 to $5,000. The better results were considered particularly encouraging because of the cold weather during the period, and operations for the first quarter of this year are expected to show a profit, it was learned.

Gross volume of business during January and February was $87,000 greater than in the same months of 1935, Thompson said.

Four New Directors Elected.

Four new directors were elected, one to fill the vacancy left by the death last December of Sidney S. Gorham, chairman, and three to take the places of retiring directors.

New board members are James S. Knowlson, chairman of the Stewart Warner corporation; Edward R. Adams, partner of Miller, Gorham, Wales & Adams, the company's counsel; Anthony Von Wening, vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, and William M. Collins Jr., an attorney.

Retiring from the board were Arthur S. Hanford, E. K. Hardy, and Walter J. Cox. S. D. Goldenberg, H. M. Henriksen, W. W. Speer, W. W. Walker, and Thompson were reelected. No chairman was chosen to succeed Gorham.

Thompson Reviews Progress.

Thompson reviewed progress made during 1935, calling attention to a reduction in net loss from operations to $53,349, compared with $171,717 in 1934. This was accomplished, he said, in the face of a $420,550 decline of total sales to $11,247,795.

That the decrease was no greater was a favorable sign for the company, Thompson said, because the two World's Fair restaurants operated in 1934 but not in 1935 showed a volume of $479,246. He added that loop and south side restaurants in a position to benefit from added Fair business all had smaller volume last year during June, July, August, and September.

BILL TO EXEMPT RFC BANK STOCK REVIVED IN HOUSE

Washington, D. C., March 17.—(AP)—The house rules committee voted today to give legislation to exempt bank securities owned by the Reconstruction corporation from state and local taxes another chance to win house approval.

It granted a rule which would provide four hours of general debate on an exemption bill already passed by the senate. The house defeated a similar measure of its own several weeks ago.

U. S. Survey Finds Business Is Keeping Code Standards

Washington, D. C. March 17.—(AP)—After a survey of 41,550 firms, labeled as a general cross-section of "industry as a whole" a presidential committee today reported that 55 per cent of the establishments studied had retained the wage and hour standards sets by the now dead NRA.

The study, made by a committee headed by Capt. W. P. Robert of the navy department, carefully qualified its conclusions, stressing that the figures did not show the actual amount of relaxation from Blue Eagle standards.

Alongside this report on the President's desk tonight was placed a statement from George L. Berry's industrial council, urging the chief executive to stop government competition with private enterprise except where necessary to the public welfare.

Assail U. S. Competition.

"The intrusion of government into competition with private enterprise, except in situations where the public welfare can only thus be served, is wholly destructive," said the report of the Berry council, composed of business men who were organized by the New Deal some time after the NRA was invalidated.

"Such competition invites and cultivates a growth of bureaucracy. It necessarily increases government expenditure while decreasing tax revenues, and it operates to dry up the sources of government income.

"Once embarked upon this course the government is placed in the difficult position of having either to absorb the functions of private enterprise, which its competition has destroyed, or of withdrawing completely from the devitalized fields of private activity.

"Any activity once introduced into the government inevitably tends to expand to larger and more formidable proportions."

With Berry's industrial council report on his desk President Roosevelt told his press conference today that the council had been a very useful agency and that it probably would be continued in one form or another. Its funds expire April 1.

Detail Findings.

Tabulation of the presidential committee figures for the 38 industries studied showed that out of 41,550 firms, employing 2,800,000, approximately 22,900 firms, employing 1,500,000, completely maintained both hour and wage standards prevailing under the Blue Eagle.

Departing from both hours and wages, the report said, were 6,470 firms, employing 380,000; from wages only, 2,456 firms, employing 163,000; from hours only, 9,200 firms, employing 517,000.

The Robert's NRA report was sent to the White House with a somewhat critical letter by Secretary Roper.

SOUTH ASHLAND BANK, CLOSED IN 1932, PAYS IN FULL WITH INTEREST

Full payment of depositors of the closed South Ashland National bank, plus 5.3 per cent interest, was announced last night by H. E. Hallenbeck, receiver. Checks for the final payment of 25.3 per cent will be ready for delivery this morning at the receiver's office at 7919 South Ashland avenue. These amount to approximately $22,000.

Hallenbeck said any checks not called for within ten days will be returned to the office of the controler of the currency in Washington, D. C. Depositors previously have received 80 per cent of their claims.

The bank closed on June 25, 1932, with total liabilities of $115,528, including $20,283 in secured and preferred claims as well as $6,355 in unsecured deposits which were offset by claims of the bank.

This is the second bank of which Hallenbeck was receiver that has paid depositors in full. The other is the Standard National bank, which completed a 107 per cent payment in January.

COAL PRODUCTION IN ILLINOIS SETS SIX YEAR RECORD

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—(AP)—Illinois coal production in February totaled 5,441,892 tons—an increase of 1,099,709 over the same period in 1935—James McSherry, state director of mines and minerals reported today. Output last month was the highest for the period since 1930 and represented an increase of 1,481,641 tons over the five year average of 1931 to 1936, McSherry said.

He said 162 mines were operated last month, of which 138 were shaft mines employing 34,942 men and 24 were strip mines with 2,263 workers. The shaft mines produced 4,625,228 tons and the strip mines 816,664 tons.

ASK HIGH COURT DECIDE QUICKLY ON UTILITY ACT

Firm Seeks to Speed Reorganization.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—The Supreme court of the United States today was asked for an early ruling as to the constitutionality of the utility holding company act in a statement filed by counsel for the American States Public Service company, which is seeking to reorganize under the amended bankruptcy act.

Burco, Inc., which owns some of American States' bonds, yesterday asked the court to pass on the validity of the legislation enacted at the last session of congress to regulate utilities and to abolish unnecessary holding companies.

The government may oppose the review on the ground that it is "collusive," and also because the department of justice wishes to test the law with the suit of the securities and exchange commission against the Electric Bond and Share company.

Wants Act Declared Valid.

Burco, Inc., the headquarters of which is in Baltimore, wants the holding company act declared constitutional. Its position is that the registration of American States with the securities and exchange commission would help bring about the reorganization or liquidation of the company.

The Circuit Court of Appeals at Charlotte recently held that American States did not have to register because it did only an intrastate business. The court did not rule on the constitutionality of holding company act as a whole.

John W. Davis, counsel for one of the interveners, in the statement filed today said that a review of the case was not opposed for several reasons.

Davis Explains Situation.

"Both the District court and the Circuit Court of Appeals have held the act unconstitutional in so far as it relates to the reorganization of the American States Public Service company, the debtor herein," Mr. Davis said, "and both courts directed the trustees of the debtor not to register with the Securities and Exchange commission as required by the terms of the act, and further directed the trustees and reorganization managers to continue with the plan for the reorganization of the debtor.

"An early and final determination of the issue involved and the affirmance of the decree of the Circuit Court of Appeals will, therefore, expedite the reorganization of the debtor.

"The constitutionality of this act is an important question of federal law which has not been settled by this court."

Shell's Profit Is 6 Millions; Had '34 Loss

The Shell Union Oil corporation had a net profit of $6,812,835 for 1935, compared with a net loss of $949,111 for 1934, according to the annual report sent to stockholders yesterday by J. C. Van Eck, chairman of the executive committee, and R. G. A. Van Der Woude, president. The 1935 profit was the best showing made by the company since 1929.

"During 1935 progress was made toward the stabilization of the industry," the officials said. "With the exception of California, a more effective curtailment of crude oil production led to a comparatively even balance between supply and consumption demand. The situation was assisted by increased demand for petroleum products, both for domestic consumption and for export, making possible a reduction of stocks."

Warn of Rising Taxes.

The company's executives joined with officials of other petroleum concerns in warning of the rising taxes, particularly those directed against the petroleum industry.

"There is no sign of abatement in the discriminatory taxation levied against the petroleum industry," they said. "Because this taxation is largely indirect, the public may not realize the extent to which these huge charges are a direct tax on the industry generally. Petroleum products are not luxury commodities, but are essential to practically all major industries and excessive taxation of these products leads to unnecessarily high costs in these other industries."

The report said total production of crude oil by the Shell Oil company, Shell Petroleum corporation and the Wolverine Petroleum corporation, the principal producing subsidiaries of the Shell Union Oil corporation, was 43,279,537 barrels in 1935, compared with 35,307,953 barrels in 1934.

Spends 35 Millions on Plant.

During 1935 the company expended $35,000,000 on plant and property and other capital investments, compared with $21,736,000 in the preceding year.

The consolidated balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1935, showed current assets of $72,496,845, compared with $62,932,492 at the end of 1934. Current liabilities stood at $31,142,914, compared with $23,863,558. Surplus on Dec. 31, 1935, was $3,419,589 after giving effect to the net profit for the year and the restoration to surplus of a special reserve of $15,000,000 no longer needed.

Stockholders were informed that the corporation has entered into an agreement to sell, subject to certain conditions, its stock in the Flintkote company at a price which, if the sale is consummated, will yield a satisfactory profit on the original investment.

Remington-Rand Offering Heavily Oversubscribed

Remington-Rand, Inc., reported yesterday that the offering to common stock holders of new 4¼ per cent debentures with common stock purchase warrants attached aggregated approximately twice the 4¼ million dollars of available debentures. As a result, subscriptions will be cut. Allotments will be announced within a few days.

GIFFORD TELLS U. S. HIS PAY IS $206,000 A YEAR

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—The federal communications commission today held the first public hearing in its $750,000 investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph system. The first witness to take the stand was Walter S. Gifford, president of the company, who was immediately subjected to questions concerning his salary.

W. S. GIFFORD.

Gifford said in response to the questioning of Samuel Becker, special FCC counsel, that he is now drawing a salary of $206,000 a year. He testified that he received a salary of $100,000 a year when he become president of the company in 1925 and that this was increased to $250,000 in 1929. The subsequent reduction to $206,000 represented a voluntary cut coincident with the adaption of a five day week throughout the organization, Gifford said.

On Five Day Week, "Plus Two."

"You personally are on a five day week, are you?" Becker asked the witness.

"That's correct," Gifford replied, "plus the other two days. I don't suppose that there is a day in the year that I don't devote some time to the telephone business."

At one point in his testimony Gifford displayed some annoyance at the questions put to him by Becker regarding the company's rates. He declared emphatically that the company never attempts to make "an unreasonable profit."

The public relies for fair treatment on "our not being stupid," Gifford said.

Becker pressed the witness with questions concerning the history of telephone regulation by government agencies. Gifford testified that long

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—New life entered the bond market today as prices advanced over a broad front in active trading. Virtually all classes of bonds participated in the upswing. Transactions on the New York Stock exchange amounted to $10,865,000, compared with $7,612,000 Monday.

The huge turnover of funds involved in the payment of the $452,000,000 of treasury bills, maturing today, as well as the payment to the government of the $1,355,634,000 in cash for the last treasury offering, failed to disturb the tone of the market for outstanding government loans.

Undertone Strong.

The group displayed a strong undertone on a heavier turnover, prices advancing 1 to 8-32ds point. The new treasury 2¾s of 1948-'51 were among the more active issues and rose 8-32ds point to 101 16-32ds.

Secondary railroad liens and selected industrial loans assumed the leadership in the advance in domestic corporate bonds. Gains in the former group ranged from fractions to three points with nearly all of the more speculative issues sharing to some extent in the advance.

A similar trend prevailed among the industrials and utilities, with bonds of motor companies and communication systems leading the way.

Auto Liens Advance.

Auburn Auto 4¾s and Studebaker 6s responded to brisk buying, with gains of 2½ and 2 points, respectively.

International Telephone and Telegraph bonds were also well taken and advanced from 1⅜ to 2⅞ points, while International Paper issues rose fractionally to 2¼ points on sizable turnovers.

The market for foreign dollar loans was firm to moderately higher. Bonds of Germany, Italy, and Japan all showed a somewhat better tone and closed with moderate net gains. Others were mixed and held within narrow price limits.

ERIE REPORTS OPERATING NET BEST IN SIX YEARS

February Total Rises to $1,308,857.

The Erie railroad yesterday reported net operating income for February was the highest for that month in six years, amounting $1,308,857, against $899,426 a year ago, a gain of 45 per cent. The road is the first to report for the month.

Atchison Reports Gain.

S. T. Bledsoe, president of the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe system, said that business is improving with the approach of spring and that a continued upturn is expected. Gross revenues of the Illinois Central during February are about 20 per cent above a year ago, it was said yesterday.

Freight trafic last week showed a slight contra seasonal decline from the preceding week, due to warm weather which reduced coal shipments. Experts place the total for the week at about 620,000 cars, which would compare with 634,828 cars a week earlier.

Individual Totals Compared.

	Week ended March 14.	Week ended March 7.	Year ago.
Atchison	23,738	23,849	22,412

B & O	42,786	44,496	42,488
Rock Island	22,411	22,804	20,690
Illinois Central	30,598	31,434	27,825
So Pacific	31,783	31,472	26,162

Frisco	12,550	13,152	11,235
Wabash	14,058	14,794	13,324

Southwest shippers estimated that trafic during the second quarter of this year will be about 4.7 per cent above the same period of 1935. The total is placed at 289,161 cars, compared with 176,134 cars a year ago.

'KATY' RAILWAY OMITS INTEREST ON BONDS AGAIN

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—Directors of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad today voted at their meeting today to omit again the semiannual interest of 2½ per cent on the road's 5 per cent adjustment bonds, but heard a prediction from Matthew S. Sloan, chairman and president, that net 1936 earnings would cover the interest on this issue twice over.

Interest payments on the bonds were first omitted on April 1, 1935.

Sloan told the board that operating revenues for January and February were up approximately $832,132, or 22.33 per cent, over the corresponding months of 1935. Net deficit for the two months was estimated at $549,070, against a loss of $1,083,405 in the first two months of last year.

In a statement issued by the directors after the meeting, it was reported that M. K. & T., in carrying out an elaborate maintenance program this year, will rebuild in its own shops, 1,500 freight cars at an average cost of $700 a car and repair and modernize 83 locomotives.

Midwest Rails Give I. C. C. Plan to Divide M. & St. L. Road

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—Plans of the Associated Railways company to acquire the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad for $7,200,000 and divide the property among seven western roads, were formally laid before the interstate commerce commission in an application for authority to borrow the purchase money from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Now in its twelfth year of receivership the Minneapolis-St. Louis would be acquired at a foreclosure sale at a date yet to be set by the federal district court at Minneapolis. If less than the requested $7,200,000 were needed to buy the road, the application for the RFC loan would be correspondingly reduced.

Ask to Split Up System.

The roads comprising the recently formed Associated Railways have applied for authority to take over specified portions of the Minneapolis-St. Louis and operate them as parts of their own systems. They include the Chicago and North Western, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Chicago Great Western or the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, Great Northern, Illinois Central, and Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie.

Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC gave his approval to the proposed dismemberment plan about a year ago and agreed to supply the purchase price provided the advance was secured by the first lien on the property acquired.

Plan to Issue Bonds.

New mortgage bonds to be issued in support of the plan would run for ten years and would be subscribed by the participating companies as follows:

Chicago and North Western, $1,189,000; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, $1,251,000; Great Western or Milwaukee, $1,921,000; Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, $1,087,000; Great Northern, $107,000; Illinois Central, $1,123,000; Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie, $257,000, and Great Northern or Milwaukee, $257,000.

Associated Railways also would issue 20,000 of capital stock at $1.00 each.

GRAINS EASIER AS WAR CLOUDS LIFT IN EUROPE

Support for Wheat Causes Rally Late in Day.

Fractional declines were registered in the grain markets early yesterday, but there was no snap to the selling, which was induced by continued betterment in the political situation abroad and a further recession in Liverpool wheat prices.

Below 99 cents for May wheat and 89 cents for the July delivery scattered commission house buying developed, and a rally from the low figures followed. The close on all grains was within small fractions of the final prices on Monday.

Aside from the daily assortment of dust storm reports from the southwestern winter wheat belt and the development of a slightly better export demand for Canadian grain there was little in the news to induce buying.

Rally Regarded in Order.

The moderate rally was attributed to the fact the prices had been on the downgrade for three days and liquidation by longs was regarded as having placed the market in a position where a recovery on short covering was probable.

Favorable weather conditions prevailed in the northwest and there was some talk of the possibility of spring wheat seeding getting under way within a few days. Despite the dust storm reports from the southwest no claims of any damage of consequence were received, although surface moisture is said to be lacking over a wide area.

Outside wheat markets held within relatively narrow limits. Winnipeg messages reported there had been little or no selling of futures there by the Canadian wheat board in the last three days.

Prices on May Deliveries.

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$ .98⅞	$ .99	$ .99½
Corn	.60⅝	.60⅝	.60⅝
Oats	.26⅝	.26⅞	.27⅜
Rye	.56¼	.56⅜	.56⅛

Corn futures showed a relative firm undertone. Moderate selling attributed to elevator interests, which presumably was hedging against cash grain, was offset by scattered commission house buying. Country offerings for deferred shipment were limited. Plowing for corn was reported to have started in parts of Indiana.

Scattered liquidation developed in oats, with the May delivery selling within ⅛ cent of the lower level of the season, touching 26⅝ cents, while the July option was in new ground since trading in that delivery started.

CANADIAN EXPORTS RISE.

MONTREAL, Que., March 17.—[Special.]—Canada's wheat exports are expanding under the new government policy of selling at competitive prices. The dominion bureau of statistics places the dominion's shipments of wheat in the 1935-'36 crop year to date, or the seven months ended with Feb. 29, at 133,308,044 bushels, compared with 102,798,580 bushels in the corresponding period a year ago.

Up to late last summer Canada's wheat policy was one of waiting for Europe to buy at the dominion's price levels. A new board was appointed in the fall to sell the wheat and reduce the heavy surplus in the country.

NILES-BEMENT-POND PLANS MERGER WITH GENERAL MACHINERY

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—In issuing the annual report of the Niles-Bement-Pond company, Charles K. Seymourn, president, announced plans for merger with General Machinery corporation. A new corporation will be organized, to be known as the Niles-Bement-Pond company, which will offer its securities for the stocks of the merging units. The consolidated company will have total assets of more than $12,000,000. General Machinery had total assets of approximately $4,500,000 at the end of last year.

Holders of the present Niles-Bement-Pond common stock will receive two shares of common stock of the new company for each present share, common stockholders of General Machinery will receive new common stock on a share for share basis, while preferred stockholders will receive a new convertible preferred stock. There are outstanding approximately 200,000 shares of General Machinery common stock, of which Niles-Bement-Pond owns 50,000. There are 21,080 preferred shares of General Machinery outstanding.

The new company will sell approximately 7,800 shares of the new preferred stock to provide additional working capital. This issue will be convertible into the new common.

Niles-Bement-Pond company, which manufactures machinery, tools, and drills, reported a net profit for the year ended Dec. 31, 1935, of $266,193, including $51,186 profit on the sale of securities of United Air Lines and Boeing Airplane company. This was equivalent to $1.54 a share on 173,025 shares of no par capital stock, excluding 24,471 shares held in the treasury. This compares with a net profit in 1934 of $25,485, or 14 cents a share on 177,000 shares.

The bankers paid a premium of $420 for 0.45 per cent notes. They were re-offered at a price to yield 0.35 per cent and were all sold.

Sale of a new issue of $1,500,000 of tax anticipation notes of the City of San Francisco, Cal., scheduled yesterday, was canceled because of a recent decision of the Supreme court of the state in the Berkeley school case.

The Harris Trust and Savings bank has been awarded an issue of $761,000 primary road refunding bonds of Carroll county, Ia., at a price of 100.3155 for 2s. Texas Electric Service.

Answer: Texas Electric Service company is an operating company controled by American Power and Light company. It supplies electricity to Fort Worth and 63 other Texas communities.

Rate reductions, higher taxes, and higher operating expenses have cut into earnings, despite increased gross revenues. In the twelve months to Nov. 30, 1935, gross revenues were $6,696,000 and fixed charges were earned 1.66 times. In 1934 gross revenues advanced to $6,506,000 from $6,345,500 in 1933. Fixed charges were earned 1.70 times in 1934, 1.73 times in 1933, and 2.02 times in 1932.

On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets were $1,633,000 and current liabilities were $1,869,000.

Effective Jan. 1, 1936, the company cut rates in Wichita Falls 10 per cent in order to persuade the city council not to build a competitive municipal plant. In 1934 rates were reduced in Fort Worth.

Although earnings are still in excess of fixed charges and bonds outstanding relative to total capitalization are comparatively small, the downward trend in earnings entitles the bonds to a rating no higher than that of a business man's risk.

distance rates have never been regulated by any federal or state body.

An aggressive effort to show that A. T. & T. matched a decline in revenues since 1929 with a sharp cut in employés was made. Becker asserted employés numbered 364,000 in 1929 and 244,000 last year, or a drop of 120,000. Of those "divorced from employment," he declared, "74,000 were persons receiving $1,000 or less a year."

Citing that the company had maintained its regular $9 dividend throughout the depression, Becker asked Gifford whether that "properly demonstrates your stewardship toward labor."

The witness answered that hourly rates of pay had not been cut, and that if dividends had been reduced this probably would have been done.

Questions Graybar Control.

Earlier, Becker spent considerable time in an attempt to ascertain whether the A. T. & T. "controls" the Graybar Electric company. Fortified by piles of documents, he fired question after question at Gifford. Directed by Commissioner Paul Walker to answer one hypothetical question which Gifford declared to be "absolutely unfair," the latter replied shortly, "I don't know." Later Gifford was permitted to state the facts in their entirety.

Becker, former attorney for the Wisconsin public service commission, contended the issue of "control" was important because, he said, A. T. & T. officials often had quoted equipment prices charged by Graybar to independent telephone companies in an effort to show the "fairness" of prices to Bell system members.

Serves Independents.

Another witness today was Edgar S. Bloom, president of Western Electric. He was questioned at length as to the relations between Western Electric and Graybar.

Bloom also had difficulty in answering the questions of the F. C. C. counsel, finally protesting to Becker: "You make it difficult for me because you shut me off every time I try to tell you."

He testified that Graybar was sold in 1928 to the Graybar Management company, which was formed by Graybar employés for $9,000,000. Of this, he said, $3,000,000 was paid in cash and preferred stock was accepted for the remainder.

Becker hammered away in an effort to prove that Western Electric still "controls" Graybar, but both Bloom and Gifford denied this.

Questions Western Electric Control.

Becker spent considerable time questioning the status of Western Electric manufacturing subsidiary in which the A. T. & T. holds a 99.42 per cent interest.

Becker said that Western Electric was acquired some 50 years ago and asked why.

"The reason," Gifford said, "was to have a source of supply for highly standard equipment and not to have the telephone industry at the mercy of the manufacturers."

"Wasn't it also to control the price of equipment?" Becker asked.

"It was to see that the price was reasonable," Gifford retorted. "I don't mean that we ever want to boost prices or make an unreasonable profit."

"You mean that the public relies on your integrity," Becker asked.

Takes Issue With Becker.

Gifford took issue with a contention of Becker that A. T. & T. "leased" telephone equipment to individual subscribers, insisting that the equipment itself was merely part of the telephone service.

Becker in a statement of the case cited that the Bell system "claimed assets of over $5,000,000,000 and an annual gross income of $934,000,000.

"Yes, I suppose so," the witness said.

Gifford said, however, that there are numerous independent companies not affiliated with the Bell system.

Wants "Fair" Disclosure.

Becker told the commission that a "full and fair disclosure" of A. T. & T. affairs "is the only approach to effective and reasonable regulation of the telephone industry by federal and state commissions.

Commissioner Paul A. Walker in opening the hearing said "a wise and just policy" toward the telephone company could be formulated "only if all essential information" is available.

A special recording device was installed in the hearing room to take the testimony and microphones were scattered through the chamber to pick up the words of the witnesses, attorneys and members of the commission.

The investigation is one of the most ambitious and far reaching yet undertaken by the New Deal. The commission was granted $750,000 in 1935 to conduct an exhaustive inquiry into the workings of the huge company. It has kept 200 attorneys, accountants and investigators busy for several months preparing for the public hearings.

INCOME IN 1935 NEARLY DOUBLED BY PHELPS DODGE

Copper Concern Has Best Earnings Since 1929.

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—Consolidated net income of $6,147,878 for 1935 was reported today by the Phelps Dodge corporation and subsidiary companies, after all charges, taxes, and depreciation, equivalent to $1.21 a share on 5,071,240 capital shares, compared with $3,224,915, or 60 cents a share on 5,342,922 shares, in 1934. With losses having been reported for 1930 to 1933, inclusive, earnings were the best since 1929, when net income was $9,601,212, or $4.80 a share on 2,000,000 shares.

Proceeds from the sale of metals, manufactured products, coal and merchandise, and from treatment tolls were $53,957,174 last year, compared with $36,334,665 in 1934, and the best since 1930, while net earnings after costs, expenses, and operating taxes were $9,660,406, against $6,025,043, and the best since 1929.

More Copper Produced and Used.

Production and consumption of copper during 1935 were higher than in 1934, surplus stocks were reduced, and prices were somewhat higher, Louis S. Cates, president, said in his report. Production from the corporation's mines, together with metals produced from purchased ores treated at the Douglas and Clarkdale smelters, comprised 176,875,836 pounds of copper, 4,554,140 ounces of silver and 107,435 ounces of gold.

Including sales made by Nichols Copper company for its own account, the total sales of copper by Phelps Dodge corporation amounted to 351,996,687 pounds. At the year end the corporation's stocks of copper on hand were nominal.

Bank loans, which totaled $7,601,000 at the year-end, were reduced to $7,100,000 in February, maturing serially from 1937 to 1939.

Cites Heavy State Taxes.

Speaking of taxes, Cates said taxes as assessed by Arizona for 1935 were equivalent to about $560 per man employed by the corporation in that state.

Current assets were $33,317,231 at the year-end, including $9,037,783 cash, compared with $31,994,256 and $8,301,298, respectively, a year before. Current liabilities were $14,183,079, including $501,000 as the 1936 portion of bank loans, against $11,155,631 a year before.

Surplus stood at $35,073,514, after $2,674,709 reserves for depletion and $2,529,995 dividends, together with other adjustments, compared with $34,074,386 at the end of 1934.

NEW YORK TAKES WAGE CASE TO SUPREME COURT

Asks Speedy Decision on Constitutionality.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—New York state today urged the Supreme court to review the 4 to 3 decision by which the New York Court of Appeals two weeks ago held the state minimum wage law unconstitutional insofar as it applied to women.

John J. Bennett Jr., attorney general, filed a brief asking an early hearing of the case in order to provide properly for the budget of the state labor department and to determine the issues so that employers and employés might learn their correct status. Joseph Tipaldo, Brooklyn laundry manager and victor in the Appellate court, readily consented to an early argument, although he has not yet filed a brief.

Questions Basis of Decision.

The principal point made by Bennett was whether the Appellate court majority erred in basing its decision on the Adkins case wherein the Supreme court thirteen years ago held a District of Columbia minimum wage law invalid in its application to women. Bennett insisted that the Adkins decision could not control because the District and New York laws were different, because different economic conditions lay behind the two statutes, and because the New York law is a valid exercise of the state's sovereign power.

The speed with which the petition for review was sent to the Supreme court indicates the anxiety of New York state for a finding before the high court takes its summer recess. Supreme court attachés were inclined to believe, in view of the constitutional questions presented, that the court would consent to an early argument, perhaps in April, with a resulting opinion before the summer recess.

Started by Criminal Action.

The test case arose from a criminal action against Tipaldo, who was indicted for forgery in an alleged attempt "to conceal disobedience of the provisions of the minimum wage law."

Tipaldo, contending the law was invalid, sought a writ of habeas corpus against Frederick L. Morehead, warden of the Brooklyn city press. This was refused by the New York Supreme court but granted by the Court of Appeals.

Tipaldo asserted the minimum wage law deprived him "of his liberty or property without due process of law in violation of the provisions of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution."

McCrory Stores Profit Last Year Near 1934 Level

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—With the removal from receivership of the McCrory Stores corporation and subsidiaries anticipated within the next few weeks, the Irving Trust company, as trustee, filed today with the United States District court a report of the operations for 1935 which showed net profit, after all charges except trustee's fees, of $1,769,258. Net profit for 1934 was estimated by the trustee at $1,772,442, before nonrecurring charges.

U.S. CARRIES COCOANUT OIL TAX INJUNCTION SUIT TO HIGHEST COURT

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—Solicitor General Stanley Reed today filed a petition with the Supreme court appealing from a decision of an Iowa federal court granting a temporary injunction against collection from the Iowa Soap company of taxes levied upon the first domestic processing of cocoanut oil produced in the Philippine Islands.

"The ruling that the act is merely an attempt to stimulate local production of animal fats and tallows, contrary to the tenth amendment, is directly opposed to numerous decisions of this court," said Reed, in the petition.

"Equally without foundation is the conclusion that the section is unconstitutional because it requires payment into the treasury of the Philippine Islands of so much of the proceeds as may be collected from cocoanut oil produced in the Philippines."

Reed expressed belief that constitutionality of the tax is not presented in the case at point and that the lower court was "clearly in error" in granting an injunction. The AAA decision, he said, simply established that a tax enacted to raise funds for an unconstitutional purpose is invalid.

HOME EQUIPMENT LOAN INSURANCE EXTENSION ASKED

Senate Group Puts Curb on Eligibility.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—(AP)—The senate banking committee today reported out a bill to extend for one year the mutual insurance of home modernization loans but proposed to limit such loan insurance to established home owners and long term lessees.

The bill, introduced by Senator Fletcher [Dem., Fla.] was originally designed to terminate insurance on loans to home owners for removable household equipment such as ranges, vacuum cleaners, and refrigerators. This was redrafted to permit the National Housing administration to participate in insuring loans for such purposes to actual home owners and renters with at least a year's lease.

Period Extended.

The present authorization for insurance of loans for removal of fixtures expires April 1. While the Fletcher bill extended it originally until Dec. 31 the revised draft extended it to April 1, 1937.

Senator Bulkley [Dem., O.] said the reason for denying loans for home equipment to "month to month" renters was to improve the class of borrowers and consequently reduce the loss in this business.

The bill retained the provision that federal participation in home modernization and repair loan insurance would be reduced from 20 to 10 per cent.

Cut Maximum Insurance.

The maximum insurance liability of the housing administration also was reduced from $200,000,000 to $100,000,000 on recommendation of Stewart McDonald, administrator, who said the smaller sum would be ample, particularly in view of the reduced liability of the administration on each loan.

McDonald had recommended termination of loans to householders for removable equipment on the ground that this type of business had been about completed.

REVISED LEGAL ATTACK FILED AGAINST TVA

Birmingham, Ala., March 17.—(AP)—A revised legal attack on the Tennessee valley authority "yardstick" power program today was placed before Federal District Judge David J. Davis. It was an amended and supplemental bill of complaint, offered for a group of Alabama Power company preferred stockholders, whose original suit resulted in the TVA decision by the Supreme court Feb. 17, upholding a phase of the government's power program. The judge took the amended bill under advisement.

The plaintifs now ask that the TVA be enjoined from "contracts by which TVA or other agency of the federal government shall fix or control the rates at which electricity manufactured or delivered by TVA shall be sold to the public," in local utility competition with the power company.

They also ask that the TVA act be declared unconstitutional insofar as "it purports to authorize TVA to enter into competition with the plaintif's corporation."

Contending that the Supreme court decision of Feb. 17 did not involve the "power program" of the TVA, the amended bill seeks to bring this question up for ruling.

RAIL AND LABOR PARLEY TO SEEK PRESIDENT'S AID

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—The problem of displacement of employés by railroad unification will be placed before President Roosevelt tomorrow or Thursday as a result of the failure of the railway management and union committees to reach an agreement, it was learned tonight.

The conferees will be advised tomorrow from the White House when it will be convenient for the President to see them. Spokesmen for the two committees were in touch with the White House today and requested the appointment in response to President Roosevelt's letter of Mach 6.

J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, in a letter dated last night and given out today, replied to President Roosevelt's letter of March 6 suggesting that every effort be made to continue negotiations. After pointing out that no worthwhile economies could be made without taking men out of service, Pelley said that the roads were in agreement with the President "that the question is one which should be handled and concluded by agreement rather than by legislation."

TEXTILE CONCERN SETS RECORDS IN SALES, PAY ROLLS

Kenosha, Wis., March 17.—[Special.]—Sales, payrolls and employment at Coopers, Inc., Kenosha textile manufacturers, set new records for the last six years, Ralph Y. Cooper, president, reported today.

Sales topped 1934 by 43 per cent and the payroll in 1935 was 73 per cent ahead of the preceding year. All machines are now running at capacity and the outlook for 1936 indicates an even greater year than 1935, Cooper predicted.

During the last year the company produced 5,000,000 knitted garments, exclusive of hosiery; consumed 750,000 pounds of cotton yarns, and used 13,826 miles of elastic.

Seven issues reached new highs for the year and gains of major fractions to more than a point were distributed through the list. Of the 134 issues traded, 74 advanced, 20 declined, and 40 were unchanged.

Zenith staged an impressive recovery to close 1⅝ higher at 19, equal to its best previous 1936 price, in 5,100 share turnover. Only Cities Service, up ¼, and Jarvis were traded in larger volume—each with 5,250 shares. Jarvis was up 1 to another new high.

Kalamazoo Stove Advances.

Following new plans for a 50 per cent stock dividend and listing in New York, Kalamazoo Stove jumped 4⅝ points to 68⅝, a new top. Berghoff and Heileman continued active and strong, advancing fractionally to new highs. Curtis Light and St. Louis National Stock Yards moved up about 2 points, each to best 1936 prices, while the other new high was registered by Sivyer Steel.

Motor shares regained strength, Bendix being most active with a 2,900 share turnover and a gain of a point. Houdaille B was up ⅝ and Borg-Warner improved 1½.

Other Issues are Firmer.

Other active shares, all up fractionally, included Butler Brothers, Chicago Corporation, Central and South West Utilities, and Northwest Bancorporation.

Stocks which advanced a point or more included Central Illinois Public Service preferred, Public Service of Northern Illinois no-par, Chicago Yellow Cab, Muskegon Motors A, Lynch Glass, Crane, and McQuay-Norris. Among the packers, Libby and Miller and Hart each advanced a major fraction. The only losers of as much as a point were Coleman Lamp, Interstate Power preferred, Leath preferred, and Crane preferred.

UNEXPECTED DROP IN LARD STOCKS HERE LIFTS PRICES

An unexpected reduction of about 1,000,000 pounds in local lard stocks during the last two days and an advance of 6 pence to 1 shilling, 6 pence, in lard at Liverpool brought in buying of futures yesterday, lifting prices readily. Closing trades were at net gains of 10 to 12½ cents.

Liverpool spot lard quotations yesterday were at a price which may result in some export business, it was reported. Clear bellies closed nominally unchanged.

Cash lard was quoted at $10.60, loose $9.97, leaf $10.00, and clear bellies $14.77 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds:

Buying of March and May cotton, credited to trade interests, and selling of the new crop futures by the south and far east featured trading yesterday, but aggregate business was limited. Closing trades in Chicago were 3 points higher to 2 points lower, and other markets were 3 points higher to 6 points lower. [A point is equal to 1-100 cent.]

TRADE IN HOGS SLOW; MOST OF CLASSES LOWER

The hog market yesterday was slower than usual, and steady to 15 cents lower, except on best grades of stock under 200 pounds and prime butchers and sows over 300 pounds. These met brisk demand at fully steady rates.

Light hogs were scarce and a specialty in the trade, particularly when they weighed less than 180 pounds. Selected herds sold at the top of $10.80. The average price of all droves at $10.30 indicated a decline of 5 cents from the preceding session, although most hogs are still slightly above last week's final quotations.

Weakness persisted in the cattle market again yesterday. Receipts at Chicago for the first two days of this week at 21,800 were second largest for Monday and Tuesday since the middle of January. Steers sold weak to 25 cents lower, the bulk indicating declines of 25 to 40 cents since last Thursday, with plainer classes off the least.

Best lots topped at $10.65, with four steers averaging 1,560 pounds at $11 and bulk at $7.50 to $9.60. A larger share of poorer classes, selling at $7 and under, arrived. Best weighty calves were steady and others weak to 25 cents lower.

The extreme top for slaughter lambs moved up 5 cents to $10.40, highest since Feb. 13, but the general trade for 80 to 98 pound averages was steady at $10 to $10.35.

Financing
Plan

Why make a good deal on a car, new or used, only to be penalized by high financing charges?

We have broken down the barriers of tradition and have ushered in a new era of sensible rates for cars bought on time payments. These new rates apply on used car sales, new car sales, or a loan on your present car.

No mystery charges, no extra fees. You simply make a reasonable down payment when you buy, and we finance the balance. Here are typical examples of the low cost under our plan:

$100	$12.08	$112.08	$ 9.34
200	19.00	219.00	18.25
300	23.04	323.04	26.92
400	29.00	429.00	35.75
500	35.08	535.08	44.59
